Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, May 16. [To the Editor of The Times:] A Democratic leader of the House, John Garner of Texas, and ordinarily a mighty smart man, wants to divide Texas into five States, giving it ten Senators, so it would get us folks in the South a little more equal representation. Instead of getting eight more for the South, I would trade all I did have for Senator Joe Grundy; Uncle Joe would fix us up a tariff down below that Montgomery Ward line that would soon have us so well off we would all turn Republicans. Numbers don't get you nothing. It's individuals that get you something.

OAKLAND, May 16. (Exclusive)—A resolution lauding President Hoover's efforts toward world peace, supporting his stand on the World Court and commending his work in behalf of law enforcement and child welfare was unanimously adopted today by the California Federation of Women's Clubs. The convention's action was wired to the President as follows:

"We express appreciation for your untiring work in behalf of world peace as evidenced by your promotion of the London conference, the World Court, law observance and for child welfare together with other measures dear to the heart of the women of the land."

NOVEL TEST FOR RADIO

Backwoods to be Enlightened

Hoover Guides Educational Experiment With Folk in Remote Sections

Hundred Sets Will Carry Word of Outside World to us Many Homes

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 16. (Exclusive)—Under the hand of President Hoover, the office of education of the Interior Department decided today on a novel and interesting experiment in its effort to extend education by means of the radio.

One hundred radio sets, it was announced, are to be installed free in isolated mountain homes that at present have little contact with the outside world. From time to time the sets are to be inspected that they may be kept in good working order. And, when they are inspected, careful note also will be made of the manner in which the families with which they are placed are reacting to them. A test thus will be conducted of the possibilities of education and mental development for remote groups of people that lie within reach of this new medium of hearing from the world at large.

CONFIDENT OF BENEFITS

President Hoover, who is giving this work most interested personal attention, and Secretary Wilbur, who is directing it, both feel that the possibilities are enormous through this radio method of carrying enlightenment to many thousands of our citizens who are "shut in" in inaccessible regions but also are worthy of the best efforts of the government toward bringing them into closer contact with modern economic, social and political conditions.

The President's experience with the simple but straightforward mountain folk living near his Rapidan camp in Virginia, for whom he personally financed a school, is credited with having developed the idea now being carried out of trying to educate this same type of people in other isolated sections by getting them interested in the radio.

BATTERY SETS DONATED

Battery radio sets have been donated for the experiment and State universities in various States have relayed them on to families who may know much about the woods, fields and streams, the flowers and wild life, but less about books and schools. The radios are going to men and women and children who depend more on observation of things about them and on the spoken word than on the printed page, and whose knowledge of the world beyond, therefore, is limited.

The office of education wants to learn if radio can take the place of the schoolroom and common reading as a means of contact with a modern world these people have never seen and whether it will stimulate a desire for reading and formal education.

Many of the homes selected for experiment can be reached only by mule trails and footpaths. In some of the homes are persons who have never seen a railroad train, automobile or airplane.

IMPORTANT QUESTION

It will be interesting as well as important to determine whether such folks will enjoy listening to a man who has flown over the North and South poles, whether they will understand the plan of a man who has tried to solve the reparations problem by organizing a world bank and selling securities of the defeated nation to the victors, and what programs they will enjoy most. But most important is the question as to how radio will affect them educationally.

The educators who will supervise the experiment say they have no preconceived theories as to what it will prove or disprove. But, they say, although teachers for centuries have depended on printing to supplement their oral efforts, much education was accomplished before printing was invented—even before writing was invented. Then why, they ask, should not persons who have received the ideas of others mainly through hearing be able to understand and learn over the radio?

At any rate, if education can be achieved that way President Hoover, Dr. Wilbur and the office of education want to know it. If it can be their ultimate aim is to make this form of education available to as many as possible of the people who are unable to obtain normal schooling.

French Envoy Protests Talk by Mussolini

ROME, May 16. (AP)—Maurice De Beaumarchais, French Ambassador, today called on Foreign Minister Grandi at the Ghigi Palace and protested unofficially against the tenor of a speech delivered last Sunday at Leghorn by Premier Mussolini.

The Fascist Premier said in his address to 55,000 subjects that "If our frontiers are threatened, there will be gathered one human mass—nay, a thunderbolt—launched against any and all comers." The Duce declared, recalling that Sunday was the anniversary of Leghorn's battle with the Austrians, "there is something unescapable, inevitable, in this march toward the destiny of Fascist Italy, and nobody can halt it!"

FINAL CENSUS CALL ISSUED

San Bernardino Doubles and Newport Beach Wins Crown as Orange County's Fastest Grower

While a final call was issued here for persons to report who have not been counted in the present census, dispatches coming in from outlying districts indicate that Newport Beach is the fastest growing community in Orange county and that San Bernardino has increased its population 100 per cent from 1920 to 1930.

CENSUS RETURNS

Santa Barbara county, Cal., 65,075; increase 23,978, or 58.34 per cent.

San Jacinto, Cal., (revised) 1239; increase 285, or 30.15 per cent.

Santa Ana, Cal., (revised) 30,332; increase 14,947, or 95.90 per cent.

Fullerton, Cal., (revised) 10,989; increase 6455, or 146.53 per cent.

Anaheim, Cal., (revised) 10,997; increase 5471, or 99 per cent.

Warren, O., 41,954; increase 14,004, or 51.7 per cent.

Laguna Beach, Cal., 1969; no 1920 census.

Newport Beach, Cal., 2200; increase 1366 or 146.06 per cent.

Pittsburg, Kan., (revised) 18,139; increase 87, or .48 per cent.

Newton, Mass., 65,295; increase 19,241, or 46.1 per cent.

Bloomington, Ill., 30,883; increase 2158, or 7.51 per cent.

Warwick, R. I., 23,011; increase 9530, or 70.6 per cent.

Bridgeport, Ct., 147,286; increase 3651, or 2.54 per cent.

Anyone missed in the local census taking is instructed to get in touch with his district census supervisor through his local Chamber of Commerce. Supervisors will send enumerators to the home of anyone calling, it was announced by Guy Marion, head of the statistical department of the Chamber of Commerce.

Santa Monica's census books will be kept open five days more for late registration following protest of the Santa Monica Chamber of Commerce secretary against the official count of 36,993. Supervisor Kincaid, however, declared that a rather thorough recheck already had been made before the total was announced.

Newport Beach jumped in the lead over Fullerton as the fastest-growing town in Orange county with an increase over 1920 of 146.06 per cent. It now embraces 2200 persons, while Fullerton has a population of 10,860, an increase of 145 per cent. Fullerton's sister municipality, Anaheim, has 10,997 persons, according to the rechecked figures released by Census Supervisor Goode.

Santa Ana's new count shows the city to have a population of 30,332. Laguna Beach, not incorporated in 1920, has 1960 persons, and revised figures give San Jacinto 1239 as against 945 in 1920.

A concentrated drive by the San Bernardino Chamber of Commerce resulted in that city's total being raised from the preliminary of 37,240, an increase of 99 per cent, to the final figure of 37,443—a gain of 100 per cent over the 1920 mark of 18,721, according to the new figures released by Census Supervisor Guthrie.

Hanford's gain was reported as 19 per cent for the last ten years when the census office there closed its books with a total of 7005 population, as compared to 5888 in 1920.

TIA JUANA ALSO WINS CENSUS HONORS

SAN DIEGO, May 16. (AP)—The city of Tia Juana, Lower California, has grown from a village to a real town in the last ten years. That became apparent tonight when the results of the census which was taken by Mexican officials there today showed a population of 8321, as against 850 in 1920. The increase is nearly 1000 per cent. Of the total announced today 3986 are men and 4335 women.

JOSEPH HAS RACE LEAD IN OREGON

Senator Candidate for Governor on G.O.P. Ticket Ahead in Early Count

PORTLAND (Or.) May 16. (AP)—Incomplete reports from 433 precincts out of 1911 in the State tonight give Senator George Joseph a commanding lead in the gubernatorial nomination contest over his five Republican competitors in the Oregon congressional, senatorial and gubernatorial primaries.

Joseph's total for the 433 precincts is 11,921. A. W. Norblad, incumbent, is running second best with 9899. Harry Corbett polled 8391; J. E. Bennett, 881; John A. Jeffry, 473.

Edward F. Bailey, one of the four Democrats seeking the nomination, led his competitors with a total of 1756. George R. Wilbur was his closest rival with 1668. A. C. Hough's total is 493 and Ed S. Piper 543. This tabulation was based on 308 incomplete precincts.

Senator McNary, Republican, and Elton Watkins, Democrat, were unopposed for the Senate.

For Republican National Committeeman, Ralph E. Williams had 13,123 and Charles F. Walker, his opponent, had 8418.

For Democratic Committeeman, Oswald West had 1654 and Walter M. Pierce 2775. This was based on 282 precincts.

RICH WIDOW WILL TAKE NUN'S VEIL

Mrs. Post, Society Leader of Newport, to Enter Order That She Has Endowed

NEWPORT (R. I.) May 16. (AP) Mrs. Edward C. Post, wealthy widow and long prominent in Newport society, has determined to forsake the glitter of the outside world for monastic walls furnished by herself it became known today.

Tomorrow Mrs. Post will become a novitiate in the Catholic Order of Carmelites at Soneleigh, the old Post villa which she is turning over to the order. The estate will become one of three monasteries of the order in the United States.

Since the death of her husband, a widely known sportsman, a number of years ago, Mrs. Post has devoted much of her time to religious work. Three years ago she had erected a high stone wall around her estate, giving the grounds all the seclusion of a monastery. The estate is almost in the center of the summer colony.

Before her marriage Mrs. Post was Miss Emilie Thorn King. She is the descendant of two of the earliest families of the summer colony.

The estate will be used as a retreat for Sisters of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel, and transfer of the property comes on the anniversary of the canonization of St. Teresa. Presumably her entrance to the order calls for relinquishment of all worldly goods and wealth by Mrs. Post, who is a convert to the Catholic faith.

RUMANIANS START RIOTS OVER CAROL

Maniu, Accused of Plot to Return Prince, Seizes Journals Repeating Story

BUCHAREST (Rumania) May 16. (AP)—Street rioting occurred here tonight when police and soldiers prevented the distribution of newspapers containing forbidden articles referring to former Prince Carol.

M. Filipescu, editor of one of the Bucharest newspapers, was severely injured by a police commissary.

Considerable excitement over the political situation was manifest in the capital this evening. Its cause was traced to a recent bitter attack by Vintila Bratianu, Liberal leader, against the government and the Regency Council.

Bratianu printed a pamphlet accusing the government of Premier Maniu of conspiring to bring about the return of Carol. The authorities suppressed newspapers reporting the attack and the Liberals have been trying to get it into wide circulation ever since.

NEW "PLANET" DEGRADED INTO ASTEROID OR COMET

Mt. Wilson Expert Says Body in Its Tilted, Parabolical Orbit Fails to Meet Any of Six Tests

BY RANSOME SUTTON

PASADENA, May 16. (Exclusive)—Expressing conclusions reached by astronomers of Lick Observatory, as well as by his associates of Mt. Wilson Observatory, Dr. Seth B. Nicholson today definitely degraded the so-called "ninth planet" into an asteroid, or comet, or something else.

Dr. Nicholson is the astronomer who discovered the ninth satellite of Jupiter. He came to the Pacific Coast in 1916 from the Carnegie Institution at Washington, D. C., and since that time has been head of the solar department of Mt. Wilson Observatory. He had charge of the recent Mt. Wilson solar eclipse expedition and is recognized as an outstanding authority on orbit computations.

"It cannot be a planet in the same sense that the earth and the seven other major members of the solar family are planets," he told the disappointed members of the Astronomical and Physics Club at the California Institute of Technology, "because it doesn't behave like a planet."

There are six criteria by which astronomers judge planets, and this strange object does not qualify under any one of the six. The odd conclusion was anticipated by the astronomers of Lowell Observatory, who at first believed they had discovered the unknown planet predicted by the late Prof. Percival Lowell. It was Prof. A. O. Leuschner and his associates, however, of the University of California, who first placed this supposed planet under astronomical suspicion.

Asked to state informally the reasons for these suspicions, Dr. Nicholson explained that all the major planets revolve around the sun in nearly the same plane as the earth, whereas this object is moving away from the plane in an orbit tilted some 17 deg. The orbits of all the planets are tilted slightly from the plane of the ecliptic, which is the earth's orbit, that of Mercury being greatest, but its tilt, or inclination, is only 7 deg. Venus comes next, with a tilt of 3 deg.; then Saturn with 2½ deg.; Mars with 2 deg.; Neptune with 1¾ deg.; Jupiter and Uranus with only 1 deg. Seventeen degrees, therefore, is a very strange inclination.

MOVING AWAY

Moreover, according to Dr. Nicholson, the eccentricity of this new object's orbit is almost parabolical—nearly three times as long as broad. Traveling on such an eccentric pathway, this object—now forty-one times as far away from the earth as the sun is—will keep receding until it passes beyond the view of the largest telescopes; then if it is revolving around the sun, as the observations indicate, it will return to its present position several centuries from now, for its year is several centuries long.

As to the predictions of this new object, the California astronomers believe it should be shared between W. H. Pickering and the late Dr. Percival Lowell. Pickering's predictions apparently antedated Lowell's by about six years, his first paper on the subject having been published as long ago as 1909, whereas the Lowell prediction was not announced until 1915. Pickering later amplified his calculations in papers published in 1919, 1928 and 1930. Both these planet prophets based their predictions on variations in the orbital movements of Uranus. Using different methods, they arrived at the same conclusion—that a large-sized celestial body made Uranus wobble from its course.

PLATES EXAMINED

After the publication of Pickering's second paper, Dr. Milton Humason of Mt. Wilson made a thorough telescopic search for the predicted planet, but he probably failed to obtain a photograph image of it because at that time, 1919, it was not on the plane of the ecliptic. Due to the 17 deg. tilt of its orbit, it was either below or above the plane. The plates are being examined, however, and it is quite possible an impression of the object may be found on them.

Regardless of the fact that the credit for predicting the new object has been mostly given to Dr. Lowell, Mr. Pickering, who now has a private observatory on the Island of

GRAPE PLAN GOAL NEAR

Raisin Leaders Sign Contract

Success of Farm Board's Program to Aid Industry Now Thought Sure

Small Groups Expected to Follow Three Packers' Co-operative Lead

BY FLOYD J. HEALEY
"Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16. (Exclusive)—Three of the State's largest packers of dried grapes today signed contracts here to co-operate in the California raisin pool, removing that which has been considered the greatest single obstacle to participation in the Federal Farm Board program for rehabilitation of California's $350,000,000 viticultural industry.

With the leaders of the commercial raisin packers in the fold, it is confidently predicted the other smaller organizations will swing into line readily, thus putting into the Farm Board's co-operative industry plan the element which controls nearly half the output and represents millions in invested capital.

COMMITTEE MEETS

Those signing are the California Packing Corporation, Rosenberg Brothers and Company and Guggenheim & Co. Their representatives ratified the contractual agreements after a lengthy session of the group known to the industry as the Committee of Seven, consisting of representatives of the dried-fruit packers, Sun-Maid of California and Sun-Maid of Delaware, the operating corporation. Also present were M. J. Newhouse of the Federal Farm Board and representatives of the Bank of Italy, the Security-First National Bank of Los Angeles, the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Berkeley and the Anglo and London-Paris Bank of San Francisco.

At the conclusion of the meeting it was said some details of the co-operation between the packers and Sun-Maid remain to be adjusted as they pertain to the 1929 crop, but all major points of disagreement were ironed out, participants said. The largest obstacle is thus removed from the path of the 85 per cent tonnage sign-up which is a condition of Federal farm relief.

Shortly after the signing here, word was received from Fresno that four other organizations affixed signatures to similar agreements at Fresno. There are the Bonner Packing Company, Sturtevant Fruit Company, Caddock & Co., and Lyon Packing Company.

Wylie M. Griffen, chairman of the Committee of Fifty, in whose hands lies the sign-up campaign, declared:

SUCCESS PREDICTED

"This action, bringing every factor into the industry program as specified by the Federal Farm Board practically assures the success of the campaign to sign up 85

FILM PATENT WAR LESSENS

Zukor's Visit to Berlin Said to Presage Early Truce Over Sound Recording Devices

(Copyright, 1930, by the New York Times)

BERLIN, May 16. (Exclusive)—The conversations here during the last week between Adolph Zukor, president of the Paramount Famous Lasky Corporation, and representatives of the world patent groups controlling sound recording and projecting apparatus, have developed a situation which presages an early truce between the warring factions. As a result it is predicted that the German market soon will be available for unfettered exploitation of American talking and sound productions.

The final conversations will be held in Switzerland the middle of June between representatives of the various organizations and that of German and American patent groups.

"I am happy, very happy that my mission to Berlin has met with success," Mr. Zukor said tonight before he went to Paris. "I have met the directors of Siemens and Halske who also represented A.E.G. and Glangfilm in this matter as well as an accredited representative of the Tobis concern.

"I explained to these gentlemen that the motion-picture industry is much handicapped through the fact that the electrical instruments are controlled through patents held by ...unification of these respective rights could be brought about it would very materially enhance the prosperity of picture producers and theater owners."

He said he believes that when the conversations are resumed in Switzerland next month a complete understanding will be reached on the question of the interchangeability of pictures and machines throughout the world in a definite international patent truce.

It was learned today that an executive representative of the Western Electric Company will participate in the meetings in Switzerland.

"NINTH PLANET" RECLASSIFIED

nomics, has remained silent as to his own work.

"A fine example of scientific sportsmanship," as Dr. Nicholson says.

MAY BE A COMET

Since its behavior takes it out of the major planet class, what might it be? Astronomers do not like to make guesses, but Dr. Nicholson surmised it may possibly prove to be some kind of a comet. The fact that it has no observable tail, he said, would not remove it from the comet class, for comets develop tails only as they approach the sun.

"Or it might more likely be a huge asteroid," he speculated.

The asteroids occupy a vacant orbit, between Mars and Jupiter, where according to Bode's law, a planet should be. For some reason, however, the planet never evolved. Something happened to it: It might have been disrupted, but Dr. Nicholson suspects that the nearness of the powerful neighbor, Jupiter, prevented the planetary materials from coalescing together. At any rate, instead of a planet revolving in this orbit, its otherwise vacant pathway is strewn with planetesimals, or asteroids, which are presumably the fragments of a planet which never founded itself out. About 1800 have been discovered, and the hunting is still good even for amateurs. Last year Prof. Max Wolf added ninety-four to the known list. Ceres, the largest heretofore listed, is about 480 miles in diameter. Its orbit, due to Jupiter's disturbance, is very eccentric; so a much larger asteroid, such as the new object might be, would be expected to have a still more eccentric orbit.

MOVING RAPIDLY

"Moreover," Dr. Nicholson explained, "this new object might not belong to the known group of asteroids between Mars and Jupiter, but to an unknown group outside of Neptune's orbit. If so, it becomes even more interesting, for it would indicate that the fate which befell the missing planet, between Mars and Jupiter, might likewise have befallen the planet beyond Neptune. Whatever it may be, it is a good-sized body, for from its present remote distance it reflects enough light to streak a photographic plate. And, of course, it is a rapidly moving object, for if it were a 'fixed star,' or were not moving rapidly, the streak on a time-exposed photographic plate would be a dot."

Returning to the subject of comets: "After all," he said, "the principal difference between an asteroid and a comet is the tail. And comets occur in families. Suppose a comet is wandering through the solar system toward the sun—it would have to pass several planets before rounding the sun. If it passed close enough to a big

ANTICS OF ASTRAL "STRAY" DEPICTED

Where Supposed "Planet X" Tears Around Sky

THE photographs reproduced above were taken by Dr. Nicholas Mayall at Mount Wilson with the sixty-inch telescope—the upper on March 22, the lower one about one month later on April 21. During these twenty-nine days, the object apparently moved from the position indicated by the arrow in the upper picture to the point indicated in the second picture. The X in the second picture shows where the object appeared to be on March 22, and the dotted line indicates its apparent path. It was the earth, however, that did most of the moving. Between the dates when the pictures were taken, the earth revolved nearly one-twelfth the distance around its orbit, traveling about eighteen and one-half miles a second, which is 1200 times faster than express train speed. At the same time the object was revolving in its orbit, but the apparent loop in its pathway was caused mostly by the movement of the earth. Shortly after the first picture was taken the earth rounded a point in its own orbit and started to return, thus causing the apparent curve in the pathway of the object.

The large object in the pictures is a sun—Delta Geminorum, a star of 3.4 magnitude. Although vastly further away, its comparatively enormous size is the result of overexposure and the consequent spreading of light. It shines by its own light, whereas the object shines only by reflected light. If glimpsed through a telescope for just a moment, the object would look almost as large as the star. But, if the object were a star, the movement of the earth on its relatively small orbit would have caused no apparent shift in the position of the object. To a man on a Ferris wheel near-by objects seem to shift their positions, whereas far-off objects remain fixed. And we earth-dwellers are really riding on a great Ferris wheel around the sun.

planet, it would be pulled out of its path by the planet's gravitation. In this way Jupiter, which is more than 1400 times as large as the earth, has captured quite a family of comets. Neptune also has captured its family."

BOUNDS WIDENED

There long has been a question as to where comets originate. Some astronomers think that many comets originate outside of the solar system, but Dr. Nicholson prefers to believe they originate within the solar system. He does not say, however, that the solar system stops at the path made by Neptune through the skies. The gravitational pull of the sun and its children may extend beyond Neptune. If in that outer region, therefore, a planet has been pulled to pieces, or has failed to get together, its orbit might be strewn with asteroids similar to those between Mars and Jupiter. Assuming such to be the case, an asteroid coming comet-like out of that region might well be thought to be invading the solar system from the outside, whereas it would be moving sunward from the solar system's frontier.

"Although we have as yet no means of knowing very much about this extraordinary visitor," he continued, "it is of tremendous astronomical interest, particularly because of its great distance from the sun. Not only does it now lie outside of Neptune's orbit, which has heretofore been regarded as close to the edge of the solar system, but it is receding into regions much more remote; so, if it is revolving around the sun as we believe, it widens the bounds of the solar system immeasurably."

per cent of the tonnage of the State."

The contracts, executed with the California Grape Control Board, contain a provision for the purchase by packers of raisins on the basis of a "regular" sweat-box grade, which includes standard and extra-standard grades of Sun-Maid and a substandard grade.

Raisin-producing areas are divided into two sections and two subdivisions. The sections, north and south, are designated as Stockton district, which includes all territory north of Stockton, and San Joaquin district, embracing all territory south of Stockton. The San Joaquin section is divided into two subdivisions, one, the Modesto, covering all north of Merced and south of Stockton, and the Fresno district, including everything south of Merced.

Each packer, for the tenure of the contract, pays $1000 annually to the pool under penalty of forfeiture of rights. Growers now having contracts previously made with packers may be released from them at any time prior to June 15 by giving written notice of desire to participate in the pool and by adjusting loans or advances already made.

The contract is termed one which decentralizes and reorganizes the entire raisin delivery and packing ends of the industry, saves huge sums in overlapping competition and delivery, prevents ruinous price cutting and guarantees 50 per cent of the major production to Sun-Maid so the latter can maintain its proper position, even though classed as a packer. Sun-Maid thus gains the advantages of economic operation and the ownership of its plants, as well as the benefits accruing from its widely advertised trademark.

Each packer agrees it will not buy nor receive, except from the pool, any raisins belonging to the pool or deliverable under the Control Board contract.

GRAPE GROWERS AT ONTARIO SIGN CONTRACT

ONTARIO, May 16.—Representative grape growers of Southern California gathered at Chaffey Union High School today upon call of Donald D. Conn, managing director for the California Vineyardists' Association, voted practically unanimously to support the grape-control contract for purposes of securing to the grape industry the benefits available under the Federal Agricultural Marketing Act.

Conn, in addressing the grape growers, told them in emphatic terms that the future of the industry in California depends upon their action now in taking advantage of the Federal Farm Board provisions.

To do this, he said, at least 85 per cent of the grape growers must sign up by contract to unite with the grape-control board for marketing the crops and surplus products.

The growers were asked to agree to deliver their crops for marketing to the grape-control board, and, to provide a stabilization fee, pay to the control board the sum of $1.50 for each ton of fresh grapes delivered to that board.

Conn also asked the growers to so regulate their shipments that a surplus will not result to disturb the equilibrium of price and supply.

TEXAS MOB BURNS NEGRO

Body Taken from Bullet-Riddled Cabin After Slayer of White Man Barricades Self

HONEY GROVE (Tex.) May 16. (AP)—The body of a Negro who this afternoon killed E. F. Fortenberry, was burned in the Negro section of the city late today after it had been obtained by a crowd from a cabin near here where the man had barricaded himself.

The crowd made a rush on the cabin after the Negro ceased returning the fire of officers who had surrounded the place. The body, which bore many bullet wounds, then was tied to an automobile and dragged here.

After dragging the body about the streets of the business section for a few minutes the crowd headed for the Negro section, where the body was burned.

Fortenberry was shot three times by the Negro, whose name is said to be Johnson. The Negro, about 35 years of age, had been employed on the Fortenberry farm and the landowner was slain as he approached the Negro about a debt.

After shooting Fortenberry the Negro obtained his gun and threatened Tom Hannard, who had accompanied Fortenberry on his mission. The Negro then fled and barricaded himself in the cabin near the scene of the shooting.

Honey Grove is about fifty miles east of Sherman, where a week ago today a mob took the life of George Hughes, Negro, as he went on trial for attacking a white woman.

Chicago-Coast Train Schedule Cut Two Hours

CHICAGO, May 16. (Exclusive)—The speed war among the western roads flared up again today. California was brought two hours closer to Chicago, about an hour and one-half was lopped off the run to Minneapolis and St. Paul and Denver will be half an hour nearer. These new schedules follow rather quickly recent time cuts made by the western roads.

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe announced that, beginning June 1, its crack extra-fare train will make the westward run to Los Angeles in a flat fifty-six hours, compared with the present time of fifty-eight hours. The eastward run will require fifty-seven hours and ten minutes. These schedules are thirty minutes faster than contemplated when plans for reductions in time were made last month.

ADMIRALS WAGE TREATY ATTACK

Eight-Inch Cruiser Clause Held Unsafe

Senate Group Prepares for Reservations

Rumor Heard That Dawes Will Resign

WASHINGTON, May 16. (AP)—Two admirals, speaking bluntly the mind of the Navy General Board, attacked the London Naval Treaty today in a running exchange of opinion with members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The two officers, Rear-Admirals Mark L. Bristol and Hilary P. Jones, aroused to a hammering counter-attack the two Senators who, as members of the American delegation to London, signed their names to the pact. For two hours questions and answers were thundered across the committee table with both sides standing their ground.

Simultaneously it became known that a small group of Senators is verging toward a proposal to attach reservations to the treaty, and that Ambassador Dawes, also one of President Hoover's delegates to London, is coming home. The belief prevails in high official quarters that Gen. Dawes will confer with both friend and foe of the treaty while in Washington, although the President himself announced this is not the purpose of the trip.

Admiral Bristol told the Senate committee on behalf of the General Board, of which he is chairman, that the treaty provides for three fewer eight-inch-gun cruisers than the board considers safe as a minimum, and substitutes six-inches, which the Navy does not want. Admiral Jones agreed, saying the American delegation had made a concession at a "vital" point.

Aroused by this opposition, Senators Robinson of Arkansas and Reed of Pennsylvania, who sat on the delegation, collaborated in a searching cross-examination, disputing many statements made by the admirals and questioning the wisdom of many of the conclusions of the General Board.

The Senator-delegates produced a navy memorandum of last September to contradict testimony that the Navy wants only eight-inch-gun cruisers. Both Senators Reed and Robinson hitherto have been aligned with the big-navy group.

The navy memorandum which was given President Hoover last September during the MacDonald conferences said the General Board would consider twenty-one eight-inch 10,000-ton cruisers and fifteen six-inch-gun ships ample.

VITAL DIFFERENCE

The treaty provides for eighteen cruisers of each class and Reed demanded of Admirals Jones and Bristol if their "sole objection" to the treaty is that "three of the cruisers are to be armed as Admiral Pratt, commander-in-chief of the United States Fleet, wants them to be instead of as you desire."

Admiral Jones insisted that it is a "vital difference" and involves the "violation of a stand consistently maintained by our Navy heretofore."

Meanwhile, with the first week of the hearings over, Senate leaders are beginning to sound out sentiment. Treaty proponents are confident tonight of its ratification by the Senate within a month.

The opposition is admittedly placing its hopes in reservations and there is considerable doubt whether these can be approved. Senator Johnson, Republican, California, said "efforts will be made to protect America's interests."

BRISTOL EMPHATIC

Admiral Bristol, who recently left the command of the Asiatic Fleet to become chairman of the General Board, was an emphatic, outspoken witness, and he roared his "No" when Johnson asked him if the treaty would give America parity with Great Britain.

Johnson inquired if the treaty maintains the 5-3 ratio with Japan established at the 1922 Washington conference, and Bristol returned an equally emphatic "it does not."

Senator Reed challenged that the 5-3 ratio is not maintained by the treaty, and read the tonnage statistics on cruisers, but Bristol contended that the lack of naval bases and the necessity for the American fleet invading Japanese waters in time of war killed the 5-3 ratio.

DAWES RESIGNATION RUMOR PERSISTENT

WASHINGTON, May 16. (AP)—Out of a bewildering deluge of contradictory announcements and rumors, official and political Washington learned with surprise today that President Hoover expects Ambassador Dawes to return shortly from his post in London.

The first statement from an official source was that the general was returning to confer with President Hoover on the London naval treaty.

At his conference with newspaper men at 4 p.m. the President said his Ambassador had no mission in this country other than in connection with the Chicago World's Fair.

Out of the rumors circulated in official, political and diplomatic circles tonight one rumor in particular stood out prominently.

This was that the Ambassador would resign. The rumor was denied by White House officials, however.

from being raised in the convention.

For the last two days the two questions had been discussed in corridors and committee rooms and in hotel lobbies among the delegates almost to the exclusion of all other subjects.

In the conference of the federation's law enforcement division one of the delegates earlier had challenged a statement made in Washington by Mrs. John R. Sippel, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Mary Sherman, junior past president, that they represent 3,000,000 women who are all supporters of the prohibition amendment.

Mrs. John C. Urquhart met the challenge with the assertion that investigation has shown virtually every club in the general federation has indorsed the amendment.

One resolution adopted was a protest against the use of steel traps in taking wild animals. This led Mrs. Urquhart, who is national chairman of law enforcement for the General Federation of Women's Clubs, whose resolution on prohibition had been ruled out. To dub the gathering a "steel trap convention."

"We are pretty much in a steel trap ourselves," she said, "When we cannot discuss the subject openly.

MOTHERHOOD DISCUSSED

The attitude of the women of today toward motherhood was another subject that stirred interest of the delegates today.

"Motherhood, I fear, has gone out of style," said a gray-haired delegate from the floor in an answer to Mrs. Van Order during the open forum of "education for parenthood," conducted by Dr. Mariana Bertola, a past president.

"Oh, no, it hasn't," came in a ringing youthful voice from the rear of the assembly hall, and this youthful matron, Mrs. M. Morton Garbus, a graduate of Mills College, flung a challenge from her generation of college women to the older generation of club women.

"I graduated in the class of '25 and with one or two exceptions every one of my classmates are mothers. Most of us are an only child, and we don't intend to put the tragedy upon our children of being the only child. We intend to have a family, every one of us. We have talked it over."

"That sounds like Mills College," said Dr. Bertola.

"I have three groups of children, one American, two Chinese and two Korean," said Dr. Chang Lei Kim of Hangchow, China, who came to extend an invitation to the women to convene in Honolulu with the Pan-Pacific League. "So you see I have a league of nations right in my own family. After hearing this wonderful discussion on motherhood and by mothers, I learn for the first time as an oriental that we must indeed take off our hats to the American women."

ELECTION CONDUCTED

Mrs. W. P. Jackson of the northern district of the federation, was elected to serve as a member of the reorganization council. Mrs. Otto J. Mouron, chairman, and the representatives from the Los Angeles district, Mrs. Leo G. McLaughlin of Pasadena, and Mrs. Charles Van De Water of Long Beach. This was the only election contest of the convention, the present board being held over until a year from now.

Action was taken to conduct the next convention in the San Joaquin Valley district, the board to decide later whether it shall be in the Yosemite Valley, in Fresno or in Bakersfield.

Miss Lois Elliot of Los Angeles won the $500 scholarship prize awarded by Mrs. T. E. Scott of Los Angeles in the junior competition of the federation. Miss Emma Meyer of Alameda won second prize, also a $500 scholarship. Mrs. Scott is past chairman of the juniors of the federation.

vious signs of great worry and nervousness because of the graft trials.

The judge, according to Mrs. Engs, passed an exceedingly restless night. Mrs. Engs sat at his bedside comforting him. About 4:30 a.m., she said, he dosed. Worn out herself with her vigil, she tossed herself on the bed alongside her husband and almost immediately was asleep. At 7 a.m. she awakened and the judge was gone.

She was not alarmed, she said, because the judge frequently takes an early morning walk in the Berkeley Hills and she discovered he had taken no jewelry or funds with him, except for what loose change he carried in his pockets. He had taken, or some one had taken, the Norfolk jacket he usually wears for his morning walks.

It was not until 10 a.m., the time for the opening of court, and he had failed to return for breakfast, that she became worried. A telephone call to the Courthouse revealed his absence. Then police were notified.

Judge Engs is 55 years of age and was appointed to the Alameda county bench by Gov. Young from the Superior Court bench at Susanville March 31, last, to fill the vacancy created by the advancement of Superior Judge Spence to the Appellate bench.

Group Dentistry Reduces Costs of Serving Public

By DR. PAINLESS PARKER
Founder of the E. R. PARKER SYSTEM

High prices often keep people away from the dentist. They may know that their teeth are decayed, and that diseased teeth are a danger, but they cannot pay the high prices generally asked.

The only way to reduce prices is to use system and advertising to increase the volume of business. Here "group dentistry" as practiced in the offices of dentists using the E. R. Parker System has many advantages. Group dentistry means business methods and increases professional efficiency. Several dentists work together and the cost of rent, heating, lighting and instruments is divided among them.

Combined buying power greatly reduces the cost of materials used. Time is saved by the use of modern appliances, and still further savings are made possible by the fact that every dentist of office where the E. R. Parker System is used is completely equipped with X-ray machines and laboratories for the making of crowns, bridges and special dentures of all kinds right on the premises. The various savings made are shared with the patient.

There are 31 offices in the United States and Canada where dentists are using the E. R. Parker System. Collectively these dentists have the world's largest practice.

"The Autobiography of God"

HAS the belief in God been more of a curse than a blessing in human history? This question forces itself on the reader of Rabbi Ernest R. Trattner's latest book in which employing a daring literary device, he has God tell what men have thought of Him and what they have done in His name. Fanaticism, immorality, intolerance, perversion, error, sin through the whole story almost to the exclusion of virtue. It is hard to believe that atheists could have done worse. Dr. Burdette Backus will speak in review of this book Sunday at 10:50 A.M. at the First Unitarian Church, West Eighth street, just east of Vermont.

RED ACTIVITIES HARASS CHINA

Raids Made at Amoy Reveal Hands of Moscow

Bandit Armies Continue in Orgy of Slaughter

Tons of Propaganda Taken from Communists

HONGKONG, May 16. (AP)—Raids by South wireless in central provinces and Red propaganda in southern provinces continued today to reveal Russian participation in Communistic activities apparently fostered by raids in Amoy.

Tons were expressed by Chinese official circles that brigands have been savagely raiding towns within twenty miles of Hanchow and that city and the surrounding cities of Wuchang and Hanyang, most important cities of Central China.

Bandit hordes which have been ravaging Hunan and Hupeh provinces, it is feared, are about to combine for an attack upon the tri-cities, whose population numbers more than 1,000,000.

Reports of today's banditry came one week after dispatches announcing that 500 villages of Honan Province, north of Hupeh, had been laid waste by outlaws who had "murdered, kidnaped and outraged to unknown numbers." Other reports stated that on April 23 bandits had massacred 15,000 inhabitants of the town of Yungyang in Honan.

Tons of Russian Communistic propaganda were seized in Amoy today in raids by foreign police in the foreign settlement. The Chinese Fukien Province authorities believed that three houses raided were the headquarters for Red activities in the province and possibly all of South China. They hope that disclosure of the Communistic plans will enable the Nationalist government to take measures to suppress the depredations and wholesale slaughter which Red armies have inflicted for several months upon the populace of Fukien, Kiangsi and Kwangtung provinces.

PILGRIMS PACE SOIL OF FRANCE

First of Gold Star Mothers Arrive in Paris

Party Follows Course Their Sons Once Trod

Women, Tired by Emotions, Seek Only Rest

PARIS, May 16. (AP)—The first contingent of 6000 American gold-star mothers who this summer will make a pilgrimage to the French cemeteries where their soldier sons of the great war are buried reached the French capital at 10 o'clock this evening.

The party, numbering 231, made in comfort the ride from Cherbourg, debarkation port in war days for the A.E.F., where they landed from the liner America in the afternoon. They were dead tired and choked with emotions of their mission, but radiant with pride.

STATION THRONGED

For their arrival the little Invalides station, on the left bank of the Seine, once again assumed its war-time appearance. It was crowded with men in American and French uniforms and hung with intertwined French and American flags.

The mothers, headed by their elected president, Mrs. Sarah G. Thompson of New York, and by Mrs. Eva Lindsey, Bethel, O., dean in point of age, were greeted by twenty-five American army officers in full uniform, led by Col. G. G. Bartlett.

FRANCE'S WELCOME

The French government officially welcomed them, being represented by Gaston Bacquet, chief of Cabinet for the Undersecretary of Tourism. M. Bacquet brought them the salute of France but out of deference for their fatigue and emotion, refrained from making a speech.

All the mothers, though weary, gracefully submitted to being photographed before entering the automobiles placed at their disposal by the reception committee.

Only Mrs. Felipa H. Crespin of Omaha, the youngest of the group, was ill. Suffering from a stomach disorder, she had to be helped up the stairs to the street level by two officers.

BED THEIR MECCA

They were distributed tonight among various Paris hotels. They appeared to take little interest in the bright lights of the Place de la Concorde and the Champs Elysees, but were chiefly eager to get to bed and rest for the heavy program of receptions awaiting them tomorrow.

Functions are scheduled for both morning and afetrnoon. In the afternoon, accompanied by Ambassador Edge, the gold star mothers will visit the tomb of the Unknown Soldier under the Arc de Triomphe. In the name of the group Mrs. Thompson will lay a wreath on the tomb.

President Asks $40,000 to Continue Litigation on Elk Hills Leases

WASHINGTON, May 16. (AP)—President Hoover today submitted to the House a supplemental estimate for the appropriation of $40,000 to continue litigation in connection with the Elk Hills naval oil reserve in California.

The proceedings were first authorized in 1924, and then only on two sections of the reserve for which leases are held by the Standard Oil Company of California and the Pan-American Petroleum Company.

The $40,000 requested would provide compensation and expenses for W. C. Morrow and J. C. Scallon, special counsel appointed by the President to investigate the leases.

BRITISH THWART INDIA SALT RAID

Mrs. Naidu Arrested and Then Released

Leader's Followers Given Like Treatment

Ninety Reported Injured in Bengal Riots

BOMBAY (India) May 16. (AP)—Their patience exhausted after hours of vigil in the blistering Indian sun, police today arrested and then released Mrs. Sarojini Naidu, new leader of the civil disobedience campaign in succession to Mahatma Gandhi and Abbas Tyabji.

The police action thwarted the first attempt of the Indian Nationalists to raid the government-operated salt deposits at Dharsaana. Mrs. Naidu was withdrawn by the police from the cordon they had drawn around the salt raiders, and sent back to the Nationalist camp, about half a mile away. Those of her followers who had remained within the cordon throughout the night with her, then were treated similarly.

There was no such happy ending to the exploit of Mrs. Kamaladevi Chattopadnaya, sister-in-law of Mrs. Naidu, who has been active at Bombay in furthering the civil disobedience campaign. She was arrested this morning and sentenced to nine months and two weeks imprisonment for her salt raid in another quarter.

GRAVE NEWS HEARD

Grave news came from various sections of India. Indicating strict censorship, a dispatch was made public for the first time telling of a riot at Mymensingh, Bengal, Wednesday, in which ninety persons were injured, including a considerable number of police.

There is every indication today that the civil resistance campaign has been reframed on stringent lines at the convention of the working committee of the all-India Congress at Allahabad, where a number of important resolutions were adopted.

The "war council" of the Bombay Workers' Congress declared the proposed raid on the Wadala salt works Sunday will be carried out.

HOME BOMBED

Early today the home of an officer in charge of the Howrah police was bombed while he and his family slept. The house was damaged but the occupants escaped injury.

Civil resistance volunteers raided the Dharasaana salt pans, in spite of Mme. Naidu's arrest. Taking the officers off guard this evening, 100 Hindus rushed the pans while most of the police were absent. Nine persons were injured. Some of them were treated by the government officers.

Mme. Naidu tonight declared the authorities had been courteous to her during her arrest.

"The authorities tried to dissuade me from staying in the road under such unfavorable conditions," she said, "but I said I would not go back and so I and my followers were marched out of the cordon and asked to go away."

PLACE POINTED OUT

Commissioner Garrett of the northern division is said to have told Mme. Naidu "your place is at the round-table conference, in London, not on the Dharasaana road or at the salt pans."

A probable further complication today arose when the chief commissioner of Peshawar wired Pandit Malaviya, congress leader, that he and his followers must not enter Peshawar. They had been ordered into Peshawar with relief supplies for members of the congress who were victims of the prolonged conflict in the district recently.

SCORES INJURED IN RIOT OVER LIQUOR

MYMENSINGH (Bengal) May 16. (AP)—Ninety persons were injured in rioting here Wednesday afternoon growing out the government's placing a police escort about a cross-town shipment of liquor and liquor supplies. Of eighty-seven persons treated at a hospital thirty-four are in a precarious condition.

Armed guards were placed about the shipment, which consisted of liquor and gangas ganjas—herbs used in making liquor and for smoking—which was transported from the government depot to the retailers' shops in carts.

Civil disobedience volunteers obstructed the carts and came into conflict with the armed guards, who made charges with staves into the crowd. The mob retaliated and the police fired several volleys into it.

Playwright's Divorce Year Ago Disclosed

NEW YORK, May 16. (AP)—Cosmo Hamilton, writer and playwright, was divorced from his wife, the former Mrs. Guy Bolton, in Paris more than a year ago, he confided recently in a letter to his publisher, George Palmer Putnam.

Mr. Putnam, confirming today rumors of the Hamilton divorce, said he does not know why it was kept secret so long. Mrs. Hamilton, who is in California, is said to have confided to friends recently that she had been divorced. That information finally reached Mr. Putnam and he wrote to Mr. Hamilton, who confirmed it.

Salmon Packers Will Advertise

SEATTLE, May 16. (Exclusive)—Arthur W. Wittig, chairman of the advertising committee of the Associated Salmon Packers, announced today that the association, which represents a majority of the salmon industries of the Pacific Northwest and Alaska, will spend $1,000,000 in an advertising campaign to start immediately.

Newspapers will receive the bulk of the campaign, which is planned to continue three years.

The Town House

...what you to know:—

...that O. O. McIntyre in his famous column yesterday gave us an idea and we take the liberty of quoting him:

"On Saturday in New York it is a custom for important men of affairs to take their sons to lunch at some popular restaurant. It is about the only time they are able to bestow the paternal touch."

We are much in love with this Saturday lunch, father and son, get-together.

We can think of no more pleasant a manner for both father and son to spend an hour or two than in our Restaurant on Saturday at noon.

Your boy would profit from the refinement and charm of the surroundings and develop a pride in knowing that his home City had so beautiful a rendezvous.

COAST AIR BASE QUIZ WARMS UP

Britten Tries to Bulldoze Southland Witness

Leanings Toward Bay City Site Disclosed

Admiral Chase Questioned at Capital Hearing

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 16. (Exclusive)—The question of adequate air protection for San Francisco was injected into the hearings of the House Naval Affairs Committee today by Chairman Britten, Republican, of Illinois, as Rear-Admiral R. V. Chase completed his testimony in the California naval dirigible base controversy.

Britten's tactics ranged from citing an example in the Russo-Japanese war to bulldozing the witness, in spite of repeated statements that the committee wished to give fair attention to all testimony. The chairman's effort was to bring out the asserted fact that San Francisco has no adequate heavier-than-air protection to the Sunnyvale site, provided the Army is given the northern airplane base that San Francisco demands.

Representative Miller of Washington opened fire on Admiral Chase early in today's session in a "bulldoze" to a request that the Puget Sound country be given the dirigible base. He was strongly backed by Britten, San Franciscan by birth and bearing, who referred to the San Francisco-Puget Sound harbors as localities where "God made harbors" and who stated that in time of war we would "his ourselves to such localities" as far as the Navy was concerned.

REPORTS TO BULLDOZING

Britten demanded of Admiral Chase, whether or not the general board of the Navy has considered the type protection which might be given the San Francisco site by the Army Air Corps. When the witness hesitated the chairman resorted to bulldozing, signaling to Admiral Moffett, advocate of the Sunnyvale site, not to answer for the witness and demanding that Admiral Chase answer. When the witness made an ambiguous reply Britten let loose a series of remarks in his customary "surprised and slightly indignant" vein which brought the committee nowhere.

Britten also attempted to lead the admiral into an admission that the fleet is not a necessary support to the dirigible base by asking Chase whether, if the United States owned land south of the Mexican border which provided an ideal site for the base the Navy Department would favor it. Chase replied that probably they would, as the farther south they went the nearer the base would be to the Canal Zone, but he avoided the trap prepared for him by stating that he thought the fleet should also be based in such territory under those conditions.

The idea apparently in the mind of the chairman regarding the Army protection of a northern naval aircraft base was a scheme for a unified air corps where army planes would fight the Navy's air battles in case of necessity. He continually reverted to the proposed heavier-than-air base for the Army near San Francisco.

NOT TAKEN SERIOUSLY

Rumors and opinions have been rampant the last two days that unless California representatives get together and settle the controversy among themselves the State will lose the base entirely.

This particular idea was apparently planted by Northern Californians in the hope that Southern California will agree to an exchange of a lighter-than-air base at Camp Kearny for a heavier-than-air base at San Francisco. The establishment of the latter would tend to pull the army bases at North Island, San Diego and at Sand Point, Wash., to the Bay City. The idea is not taken seriously by adherents of Camp Kearny, other than showing San Francisco's desire to center everything possible around the bay region.

Admiral H. H. Hough, member of the Navy General Board, which recommended Camp Kearny as the site for the new dirigible base, read a history of the procedure of the Navy on this matter to the committee when Admiral Chase had completed his testimony.

Hough will return tomorrow for questioning.

One amusing incident happened in today's proceedings. The air photo of the Camp Kearny site on the window side of the committee room was blown to the floor by the wind. Representative Welch of Oakland helped to tack it up again while the Sunnyvale proponents grinned at the "omen" of Camp Kearny "falling flat."

SHIPSTEAD DESIRES POWER PERMIT DELAYS

WASHINGTON, May 16. (AP)—A resolution to put the Senate on record in opposition to granting any permits or licenses by the Federal Power Commission for the development of water-power sites until an independent commission is established was introduced today by Senator Shipstead, Farmer Labor, Minnesota.

CANDY STICKS LAD ON SHORE

Youthful Voyager Rushes To Pier for Final Bar; Ship Sails Minus One

NEW YORK, May 16. (AP)—Because of an overwhelming desire for a piece of candy, 10-year-old John Stanton of Chicago was stranded in New York today while his mother was en route to France on the Ile de France.

John was already aboard the liner when he decided he just had to have another piece of American candy. Leaving his mother in their stateroom he made his way down the gangplank to a candy stand on the pier. He obtained his candy, but then in the exit of visitors from the ship he found himself unable to force his way aboard again. Despite his cries the ship pulled out without him.

SENATE TO FIX FATE OF TARIFF

Smoot's Resolution Monday to Decide Deadlock

Release from Pledges Will be Sought in Move

Democrats Assail G.O.P. as Wishing Failure

WASHINGTON, May 16. (AP)—An answer to the question whether the tariff bill will be put to a final vote at this session or remain deadlocked in conference will be given by the Senate on Monday.

The decision will come on a resolution by Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, chairman of the Senate Conference Committee, seeking a release from informal pledges binding that committee to the Senate's debenture and flexible clauses.

Smoot offered the resolution today as the only means of getting the bill back to the Senate without the conferees having to sign another partial agreement.

LEADERS ASSAILED

Prior to its introduction, Democratic leaders assailed the House Republican managers, asserting on the floor that they want to see the bill fail. Smoot replied all the House conferees want is "free and full conference" but he agreed with Senator Simmons, Democrat, North Carolina, that the managers of the other branch refused to co-operate in bringing that about.

"To have signed another partial report to get the bill back in the Senate would have forced separate votes on the disputed provisions in the House which already is on record against them. So is President Hoover.

"The House managers renewed their ultimatum at a conference with the Senate group today that negotiations are off until the Senate conferees are given a free hand to work out a compromise.

"The resolution was the only way out of the tangle. Realizing that its defeat will mean death for the tariff bill at this session, Republican leaders immediately began a spirited drive to muster the necessary majority to put it over. The resolution was agreed upon at a conference of Republican leaders called by Senator Watson, Indiana, the floor leader.

FIGHT PLAN PREPARED

Democrats and Republican independents, who wrote the debenture and legislative flexible clauses into the bill over President Hoover's protest, are making no claims of victory, but are laying plans to carry on a spirited fight.

They were prepared for the contest today, as Republican leaders had announced the issue would be placed squarely up to the Senate late in the day. These plans were abandoned, however, when the conferees failed to decide upon the procedure in time for action.

Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, one of the conferees, attacked the Republicans on the floor for failure to bring the matter up as planned.

"I know there are certain Republicans who were enthusiastic about this bill have heard from the country and now are trying to kill it," he asserted.

HOME OFFICE SILENT ON THAW ATTITUDE

LONDON, May 16. (AP)—The Home Office declined today to comment on the attitude it will take toward Harry K. Thaw, who has left New York bound for England.

YOUTH SENT TO JAIL IN FILIPINO TROUBLE

BLACKFOOT (Idaho) May 16. (AP) Cecil Killon, found guilty yesterday of disturbing the peace in connection with race trouble here last Saturday night, today was sentenced to sixty days in jail and fined $100. Killon and five other youths were arrested following an attack on Philipino laborers who had been brought here by farmers to work in the sugar-beet fields.

MRS. HOOVER KEEPS BUSY

Subordinates Injuries to Entertaining White House Guests Despite Use of Wheel Chair

WASHINGTON, May 16. (AP)—Despite the injuries which have confined Mrs. Herbert Hoover to couch and wheel chair for more than a month, she has continued to act the cheerful hostess and dispense hospitality at the White House.

Arrayed in dinner gown, she has trundled her way in a wheel chair to lead her guests from the blue room into the dining-room. Reclining on a couch in her private sitting room, she has received various delegations. She has knitted, read, written letters, and conferred with her secretaries and others regarding future activities.

Even during the first weeks of her enforced confinement after a fall on the floor at the White House, Mrs. Hoover was not idle. A few days ago she was lifted from the wheel chair into an automobile for her first ride since the injury.

She has had the oval room adjoining her bedroom on the second floor converted into a private sitting room with furniture brought from her former Washington home on S street. Close by is the Palm Room, also created by Mrs. Hoover, which supplants the Rose Room Mrs. Coolidge had there.

In this cozy upstairs retreat, Mrs. Hoover received delegations of adult and night school pupils from North Carolina, a party of visiting Japanese girls and a group of Girl Scouts, who were thrilled at being received in Mrs. Hoover's private quarters.

When not receiving visitors, Mrs. Hoover has passed the time knitting, reading, conferring with her secretaries and working out plans for rock gardens. She is much interested in these and one is being constructed at the President's camp on the Rapidan under her instructions. Another, which she planned, has just been completed at the Girl Scouts' little house.

Knitting has always been a favorite pastime with Mrs. Hoover. Those invited to her private sitting room usually have found her with a ball of yarn in her lap. There has been much such work to do for her new grandchild, Joan Hoover. Writing letters to California has helped to pass the time. Word of the name selected for the little girl was received at the White House a few days ago from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hoover, Jr.

THAW AGAIN TO KNOCK ON BRITISHGATE

Doors Closed Two Years Ago, But Visitor Puts His Hopes in New Ministry

NEW YORK, May 16. (AP)—Harry K. Thaw who, on his last visit abroad, was refused admittance to England, is aboard the Ile de France today in another attempt to crash that country's gate.

He referred questioners to William Glynnon, a playwright, who said: "Mr. Thaw doesn't have to fear anything on the part of British officialdom under the new Ministry."

At the time of his exclusion two years ago it was contended Thaw was a foreigner who committed an act for which he might be extradited.

PRISON BILL APPROVED BY SENATE

Administration Measure Provides for Two New Penal Institutions

WASHINGTON, May 16. (AP)—The last of the administration's prison reform measures was put through the Senate today with the adoption of the House bill authorizing two additional Federal institutions.

The bill provides for a reformatory to be constructed west of the Mississippi River and for a penitentiary in the northeast section of the country, which is now without any Federal prison.

The Senate made some perfecting amendments in the bill and it goes back to the house for concurrence in these. Previously the Senate had approved other House bills setting up a new parole board and providing for reorganization of the prison administration under the Justice Department.

The legislation was recommended by Atty.-Gen. Mitchell with the indorsement of President Hoover. It is designed to meet overcrowded conditions in the Federal penitentiaries.

Accused Man Kills Himself

DENVER, May 16. (AP)—Rather than face an extradition hearing for his return to Richmond, Ind., where he is wanted for stealing twelve hogs, Preston Bradshaw, 72 years of age, shot and killed himself, police said today.

His body was found in the foothills near here last night after he had been missing several days.

BISHOP CANNON REFUSES GAVEL

Accused Churchman Declines Turn to Preside

Tells Conference it Knows Reason for Action

Quartet Cleared of Politics Deny Rumored "Trade"

DALLAS, May 16. (AP)—The object of an investigation of the Senate lobby committee and also a church committee as the result of asserted stock market speculations Bishop Cannon of Washington today stepped aside as presiding officer of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

It was not, however, until after the rank and file of the conference delegates had applauded him vociferously that Bishop Cannon, whose turn it was to act as president for the day, turned the gavel over to Bishop Beauchamp of Atlanta.

DISQUALIFIES SELF

Bishop Cannon explained he did not wish to preside because of matters known to the conference, referring to charges of stock market gambling preferred against him by twenty-two prominent lay delegates, including Josephus Daniels, former Secretary of the Navy.

The episcopacy committee of the church, which is considering the charges, met late today. There have been unverified reports that the committee decided at a previous meeting to order the bishop brought to trial before a church court.

It was announced at the conclusion of its meeting tonight that the committee had given no consideration to the Cannon charges, its action being confined to voting a recommendation that three new bishops be elected at the present conference.

Bishop Cannon declined to discuss the action today of Charles W. Tuttle, Federal District Attorney at New York, in granting permission to the Senate lobby committee to examine all records of his transactions with two New York brokerage firms.

COMMENT UNSEEMLY

"I feel it would not be seemly for me to comment on any of these personal matters," the Bishop told newspaper men.

Action of the episcopacy committees in exonerating Bishop Cannon and three other bishops of a charge of undue political activities in the 1928 Presidential campaign cropped up during the conference session in connection with the market-speculation accusation.

Bishop Dubose of Nashville read from the Dallas Morning News an article which, he said, intimated that he and other bishops who were cleared of the political charge had "traded" with anti-Cannon members of the episcopacy committee whereby the political count was to be dropped and the stock-market accusation against Cannon would be pushed.

BISHOP DENIES

"I resent this statement," Bishop Dubose said. "I have never tried to hide anything and this is untrue. I do not believe there has been any such compromise."

Bishops Mouzon of Charlotte, N. C., and Moore of Dallas and finally Cannon, all of whom had been named by Rev. Rembert Smith of Georgia as taking undue part in politics, followed with denials of any compromise.

Among actions taken by the conference today was adoption of a plan for retirement of bishops at the age of 72 years. The new law will become effective in 1934.

RECORDS PLACED AT SENATE'S DISPOSAL

WASHINGTON, May 16. (AP)—The way was open today for the Senate lobby committee to examine all records concerning transactions of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., with two New York brokerage companies.

Permission was requested by Chairman Caraway of the committee. Federal District-Attorney Tuttle of New York, who has possession of the records, replied that after conferring with the Department of Justice he would assent to the examination.

Caraway said he expected to send John Holland, committee investigator, to New York tomorrow to make an investigation. He will examine the records of the brokerage houses of Charles Goldhurst and Kable & Co.

Senate to Scan Plane Crashes

WASHINGTON, May 16. (AP)—The Senate today adopted the Bratton resolution to request the Secretary of Commerce for information on the causes of airplane accidents since May 30, 1928.

TRUCK DRIVER MAY DIE

MODESTO, May 16. (AP)—William Kruko, 32 years of age, of Merced, received internal injuries which may result in his death when his truck was struck by a Southern Pacific freight train today at a highway side-road crossing near here. Witnesses said Kruko's truck appeared to have been stalled on the tracks.

ROBBERS MAKE OFFICER SAD

Pair of Chicago Amateurs Steal Cartload Of Burglar Alarms

CHICAGO, May 16. (Exclusive)—Of all the things they might have chosen when they started a career of crime by stealing, William Stacey and Albert Brusilio admit they made a most novel choice. Accosting them as they were trundling a cartload of merchandise from the plant of the Universal Printing Company today, Policeman Napoleon Sutton peered at their load, then shook his head sadly, intimating that all the nuts are not in the squirrel's nest.

"Do you know what these things are?" he inquired.

"No, we don't," the pair replied. "What are they?"

"Burglar alarms," replied the policeman.

FORT IN SENATE CONTEST AS HE

New Jersey Representative Announces Candidacy

Insists Voters Should Have Choice on Liquor Issue

Assails Wet Platform of Two Chief Opponents

NEWARK (N. J.) May 16. Breaking into the Senatorial contest for nomination by the Republicans of New Jersey, Franklin W. Fort today came out for the defense of the Eighteenth Amendment, which Dwight Morrow and his other opponents have attacked.

"The true motive in my candidacy is obvious," said Fort, who represents the Ninth New Jersey district. "I am opposed to any move to the sale of intoxicating liquor under any known or suggested form of law or regulation.

"I believe in the Eighteenth Amendment, and I am opposed to any move that may result directly or indirectly in its modification or repeal."

MORROW'S VIEWS

Scarcely twelve hours after Ambassador Morrow opened his campaign by advocating repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment as a matter of control of liquor traffic in the United States, the other candidate, Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, former United States Senator, and Judge Kelly. The announcement was made with the aid of Frelinghuysen's Senatorial vote, but he announced he is in favor of some governmental control of liquor traffic, without specific, Kelly proposed repeal with no restrictions.

"Mr. Frelinghuysen," Fort "stands for repeal of the Eighteenth amendment with a substitute which can mean only the government's entire lack of control of business. I am opposed to the government's entering any business, particularly the liquor business.

"Mr. Morrow is more definite, proposes simply a return to the status which prevailed prior to prohibition.

"His proposed law would confers no power or duty on the Federal government which it does not always possess, despite denunciation of the saloon.

ODDS AGAINST HIM

"He would restore to the states every power they ever enjoyed to permit the manufacture, sale, distribution and sale of intoxicating liquor including the power to restore the saloon.

"I recognize that apparently the odds are against my victory, but the people of New Jersey may possibly move strongly against prohibition than are those of my own State, but I cannot believe that after full and free discussion of the reasoned determination of the people their present apparent mood.

"At any rate, as a New Jersey man proud of my State, I owe it to myself and to the people of New Jersey to fight the issue to an open finish.

A few minutes ago, in a speech before the House of Representatives, pending prohibition, Fort declared that citizens have the right under the Eighteenth Amendment to make wine and beer in their own homes.

The primary will be held on June 17.

GIRL DECLARED CHICAGO WINNER

Oratorical Contest Honors Go to Lourene Mokstad

Her Talk Takes Rank With Sextet in Washington Finals

Seymour Peyser Selected in New York Contest

Three more of the seven high school orators who will compete for the national championship in the Seventh National Oratorical Contest at Washington on the 24th inst. were selected last night in zone finals of Chicago, New York and Pittsburgh. The others were chosen last night at Kansas City.

BY JOHN P. GALLAGHER

"Times" Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, May 16. (Exclusive)—Miss Lourene Mokstad, 18-year-old student of Morgan Park High school, tonight carried off first honors in the finals of the seventh annual Oratorical Contest, Illinois zone finals. The purpose of the contest is to increase interest and support for the Constitution of the United States. Miss Mokstad spoke on "The Constitution, the Servant of the People."

Second place was won by Edwald Steel, Proviso Township High School, of Haywood, Ill., and third place went to Robert H. Parker of Thornton Township High School, Harvey, Ill. The former spoke on "The Constitution, a Living Organism," and the latter on "Our Constitution."

WINNER'S PRIZE

In all, five Illinois high school orators and two girls competed here tonight for first place, which means a trip to Europe and $500. The contest, which is a gala event of the school year, was held at Orchestra Hall before a packed house.

Miss Mokstad, winner of tonight's classic, will represent Illinois high schools at the National Oratorical Contest to be held in Washington on the 24th inst. Edward Radeck, the second-place winner, will receive a $250 scholarship, and Robert Farber, third, will receive a $100 cash scholarship.

ALL YOUTHFUL

All the speakers tonight were under 19 years of age. They had already won their places on tonight's program, defeating nearly 2000 high school students who have been competing since February.

The other speakers were Eugenia Kemble, Urbana High School; Edward W. Wilson, Granite City, Ill.; Alfred Romig, New Trier High School, Winnetka, and Richard Finnegan, Loyola Academy.

SEYMOUR PEYSER NEW YORK WINNER

NEW YORK, May 16. (Exclusive) Seymour M. Peyser of Horace Mann High School for Boys, Manhattan, won the championship in the New York regional finals of the seventh annual Oratorical Contest on the Constitution of the United States, sponsored by the New York Times in Town Hall here tonight. The subject of his prepared oration was "The Man, Like State."

Impromptuously he was requested to "discuss concretely some of the benefits enjoyed by the Americans of 1787 and Americans of 1930 under the same Constitution." He was the fourth speaker.

The regional champion will take part in the National Oratorical Contest to be held in Washington on the 24th inst. In addition to that honor he won a cash prize of $1000, equivalent to four years' college tuition, a summer trip to Europe with all expenses paid and a gold medal.

Miss Martha Odell, Passaic (N. J.) High School, won second prize, $500 and a gold medal. Her subject was "Freedom of Speech and of the Press; Its Scope and Limitations." Speaking extemporaneously, she was asked to discuss "What specific conditions in the world made freedom and speech of the press seem necessary—and what do they seem necessary now?"

Robert Van Tuyl of Evander Childs High School, the Bronx, won third prize, $250 and a gold medal. He spoke fifth and his subject was "The Constitution Supreme." Extemporaneously, he discussed "Any principles of the Constitution which have commended themselves to adaptation by the government you mention."

KENTUCKY LAD FIRST IN EASTERN CONTEST

PITTSBURGH, May 16. (Exclusive)—From a field of seven contestants, William C. Turner, 15 years old, junior in the Louisville (Ky.) Male High School, tonight won the right to represent the Central-Southeastern zone in the National Oratorical championship finals at Washington next Saturday.

Turner, whose topic was "The Citizen, His Duties and Privileges under the Constitution," spoke after representatives from Alabama, Georgia, Florida, Pennsylvania and Northern New York.

GIRL IN SECOND

Second place went to Miss Carolyn Russell of Winder, (Ga.) High School, and third to Robert C. King of Woodlawn High School, Birmingham, Ala. The other entrants were John Clement Fitzpatrick of Hudson Falls, N. Y.; Miss Margaret Louise Royall of Deland, Fla.; R. Stanley Goldman of Pittsburgh; Miss Pauline Love of Harrisburg, Pa., substituting for Elmer Snyder of Pottsville, Pa., ineligible because of age.

The extemporaneous feature of the program Turner, the winner, spoke on "How and For What Are the President, Members of Congress and Members of the Supreme Court Designated for Their Respective Offices?"

ALTERNATE OF WINNER

Miss Russell, second-place winner, who is alternate to Turner in the national finals, took the topic: "Amendments in the Constitutional Convention," while her extemporaneous address named and explained the three great compromises of the Constitutional Convention.

More than 1200 persons attended the contest, which was held in Carnegie Music Hall.

Miss Louise Prosser Engle, assistant national director of the contest, was in charge of distribution of the subjects.

SAN RAFAEL, May 16. (AP)—Eleanor Garatti, star swimmer of San Rafael, has announced that she will marry Laurence Savaille, San Francisco mechanical engineer, on June 2. Miss Garatti won the world's fifty-yard dash championship while a member of the 1928 Olympic Games swimming team.

STRAW POLL ON DRY LAW DENOUNCED

Southern Baptist Group Would Defeat Candidates Not Avowedly Arid

NEW ORLEANS, May 16. (AP)—Frowning upon the straw ballot and calling for mobilization of all patriotic citizens to oppose the "armed rebellion" against the national prohibition law, the commission on social service of the Southern Baptist convention today urged the denomination to seek defeat of any candidate for office, from President down, who does not openly and frankly support the present prohibition law.

"Our people will not be fooled or trapped by 'the national prohibition survey,' or ow any other of the so-called neutral or impartial movements devised by our friends in New York and Chicago 'to find a satisfactory solution of the liquor problem,'" said the report, submitted by Dr. A. J. Barton of Atlanta, its chairman, who is likewise chairman of the executive committee of the Anti-Saloon League of America.

DIGEST'S POLL TO CLOSE NEXT WEEK

NEW YORK, May 16. (Exclusive) With a total of 4,562,761 ballots cast, the Literary Digest presents in tomorrow's issue semifinal tabulations in its prohibition poll.

The figures show 1,386,216 for enforcement, 1,340,441 for modification, and 1,836,104 for repeal. Twenty million ballots were distributed. The poll will close next week.

Early Action on Dam Issue Urged in New Mexico

SANTA FE (N. M.) May 16. (AP)—If New Mexico is to preserve its right to share in the electric energy to be generated by the Boulder Dam project, a special session of the State Legislature apparently is inescapable within the next few months, Gov. Dillon said today.

New Mexico and other basin States have a preference to apply for the use of water and appurtenant works and privileges necessary for the generation and distribution of hydroelectric energy; but to exercise the right the State must enter into a contract with the Secretary of the Interior within six months after he gives notice that he is ready to negotiate such an agreement.

Court Probation Without Inquiry Declared Illegal

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16. (Exclusive)—Trial judges granting suspended sentences to those found guilty of a criminal offense without first referring the case to a probation officer are acting in violation of the law as amended in 1929, according to an opinion today by Atty.-Gen. Webb.

As Webb interprets the amendment, which was recommended by the California Crime Commission, there are no conditions under which a judge may suspend a prisoner's sentence until a probation officer has investigated the matter and made a written recommendation to the court.

Only Old Boys Now in Danger

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16. (Exclusive)—Automobile drivers calling at gasoline filling stations hereby are authorized to sigh with relief. Safety measures at such points have been developed to such a point that fire occurs in a gasoline tank once in 5860 years.

The computation is that of H. J. Wilson, fire-prevention engineer for the Associated Oil Company, and he presented it today at the closing business session of the eighth annual Pacific Safety Conference and California Industrial First Aid Contest.

CRIME MARTYR GIVEN HONORS

Funeral of Slain Officer Conducted in Chicago

Citizens Vow to Speed War Against Racketeers

Altmeier Killed in Raid to Catch Extortionists

CHICAGO, May 16. (NANA) This city took a vow today to accelerate its war against racketeers and hoodlums, while it still felt the effect of the solemn impression created this afternoon by the public funeral it gave to one of its fallen police heroes.

They are saying here that Chicago finally has awakened to its duty to its guardians; that the city has for once put to shame the lavish funerals of slain gunmen by providing the proper sort of services for an officer who fell in the line of duty.

Then thousand Chicagoans, a large number of them prominent citizens, attended the rites for Joseph Altmeier, one time butcher who became a law-enforcement officer to retaliate against extortionists who wiped out his personal fortune by bombing his prospering butcher shop because he wouldn't accede to their demands.

RITES WITHIN LOOP

And while most of the hoodlum funerals have taken place on the outskirts of the city, the services for Altmeier were conducted in the heart of the loop, in Chicago Temple, the lone downtown church—across the street from the City Hall.

The civic funeral was arranged by the Chicago Association of Commerce and the Employers' Association. Officials of those organizations say that a new spirit is abroad in the city and it was evident, as hurrying thousands paused to pass by the slain man's bier, that the city is determined to stamp out the element that has been preying upon honest business men, seeking to obtain money merely by threats.

Altmeier became a detective, it was declared at the funeral services, because he was incensed over the high-handed methods of the extortionists.

MILITANT OFFICER

"I'm an American," he used to say repeatedly, "and I don't intend to see my country overrun by a lot of foreigners who think they can scare us into providing them with luxuries."

When the racketeers' bomb wrecked his butcher shop Altmeier volunteered his services to State's Attorney Swanson. Not a detective by vocation, he was quick to win the confidence of a Chicago bombing ring and was highly instrumental in obtaining convictions against its members. Each success whetted the appetite of the ex-butcher and former soldier for more law breakers to "send up."

KILLED IN RAID

Early Sunday morning Altmeier went to a beer flat on the North Side with a squad of detectives to ambush a gang of stick-up men who, according to a tip, were going to make a raid on the place. When they arrived bullets flew thick and fast. Two of the bandits were killed, the owner of the beer flat was mortally wounded and Altmeier was shot, too. Two days later he died in a hospital.

His spirit was close to the heart of the "secret six," crime combating agency headed by Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Association of Commerce. The "six" are determined that Altmeier's death shall be avenged.

BRITISH GIRL FLYER GETS TO BANGKOK

Miss Johnson Lands in Siam After Struggling Through Blinding Rain

BANGKOK (Siam) May 16. (AP)—Miss Amy Johnson, intrepid young British aviatrix, arrived here at 5:40 o'clock this afternoon from Rangoon, Burma, resuming her England-to-Australia flight after an accident that had delayed her in the Burmese city.

Leaving Rangoon at 10:30 a.m. under heavy rain, the girl flyer had an adventurous flight to Siam. In the blinding rain she was unable to find the city of Moulmein and then tried to find a pass through the eastern mountains, which were hidden by clouds.

Rising to an altitude of 9000 feet she flew right and then left, trying to get through the rain into clearer weather, but always found herself on the Burmese side of the mountains. Eventually, however, she got through a pass, and came out on the Siamese side, setting her course for Bangkok.

House Passes Appropriations Bill for Navy

WASHINGTON, May 16. (AP)—Carrying $57,365,000 for warship construction and modernization, the annual naval supply bill appropriating $382,413,000 for the fiscal year 1931 was passed today by the House without a record vote.

It now goes to the Senate.

The measure was amended to provide $3,194,000 for the initial outlay on a $10,000,000 public works program as requested only yesterday by President Hoover. The House also provided an increase from $400,000 to $732,000 to furnish talking pictures to the bluejackets aboard ship and at shore stations.

APPROPRIATION BILL SIGNED BY HOOVER

WASHINGTON, May 16. (AP)—Appropriations of $1,149,088,008 for the Treasury and Postoffice departments for the fiscal year of 1931 were approved today in a bill signed by President Hoover.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Achmet Zek had circled with two of his followers far to the south, to intercept the flight of his deserting lieutenant, Werper. Others had spread in various directions, so that a vast circle was formed and now they were beating in toward the center. Achmet halted for a short rest just before noon upon the edge of a clearing. The raiders' chief was in ill humor. To have been outwitted by an unbeliever was bad enough, but at the same time to have lost the jewels was too much.

Allah must indeed be angry with his servant. Well, he still had the woman. She would bring a fair price in the north, and there was, too, the buried treasure beside the ruins of the Englishman's home. Suddenly a slight noise in the jungle on the opposite side of the clearing brought Achmet Zek to alert attention. Gathering his rifle in readiness for immediate use he crouched and waited. Presently the foliage parted and a woman's face appeared, glancing fearfully about her.

A moment later she stepped out in full view of the Arab. Achmet Zek caught his breath with a muttered exclamation of incredulity. The woman was the prisoner he had thought safely guarded at his camp! Apparently she was alone, but the Arab waited that he might be sure of it before seizing her. Slowly Jane Clayton started across the clearing. She had escaped many dangers and though she despaired of ever reaching safety she was determined to fight on until death or success ended her flight.

As Achmet Zek noted with satisfaction that she was walking directly into his clutches, another pair of eyes looked down upon the entire scene from the foliage of an adjacent tree. Puzzled, troubled eyes they were, for their owner was struggling with the idea that the face and figure of the woman below him were familiar. A sudden crashing brought the woman and the Arabs to frozen attention. The woman turned to see what new danger threatened just as a great, anthropoid ape waddled into view.

Dear Friend Ella -
You are the only one I can turn to in my trouble - the only one I dare trust. You and I were on the stage [illegible] long ago and you were one of my bridesmaids when I married a millionaire's son, Daniel Cole, whose father is a big broker. His father didn't want his son to marry a chorus girl, and when my baby was born he tried to split Daniel and myself apart and assume the baby's guardianship. I ran away, dodged through the night with the baby in my arms and had known when I was found. She had returned. I never saw her asleep in the hallway, and I knew little Diana would be safe with you. Please watch over her tenderly until I can make other arrangements and don't let anyone take her away from you. I'll get in touch with you again as soon as possible.

Clout Out 26 Hits to Beat Seattle, 20 to 10

Catina and Rumler Each Get Four Bingles

Quartet of Indian Hurlers Take Bad Beating

BY BRAVEN DYER

Such famous bombardments as the battle of the Marne and the assault on Bunker Hill paled into insignificance at Wrigley Field yesterday when the rejuvenated Hollywood Stars committed mayhem, manslaughter and murder on the persons of four Seattle pitchers to hang up a 20-to-10 victory.

GEORGE HOLLERSON

Messrs. Rudy Kallio, Pinches Kunz, Ed Lamanski and Wilbur Hubbell were the alleged hurlers called upon to face Hollywood's heavy artillery and they all looked alike to the bludgeon wielders who draw their pay from William Lane. All in all the Stars shellacked the Seattle slabsters for twenty-six hits, the bingles ricocheting off the surrounding walls in such fashion as to endanger the lives of the visiting firemen.

NEW RECORD

The score set a new season record for Wrigley Field and the victory served to boost Hollywood to within one and one-half games of fifth place. Needless to say the official tally keeper had a tough afternoon, Seattle getting thirteen hits and the teams contributing a total of seven errors. At that the gentleman with the pencil was kind to some of the erring souls. Hollywood got one or more hits in every inning and scored in all but the so-called lucky seventh.

Vance Page started for Hollywood and lasted longer than Kallio

ANGELS IN WIN OVER OAK BAND

Seraphs Pick on Dumovich to Cop Their First Game This Week, 6 to 2

OAKLAND, May 16. (Exclusive) After winning the first three games of the series from the Angels by pitching three right-handed hurlers against them, Manager Zamloch of the Oaks found himself short of reliable chuckers today and decided to try Martin Dumovich, a southpaw with the result the Angels won their first game of the series by a 6-to-2 score.

CLYDE BARFOOT

Clyde Barfoot twirled for the Angels and kept seven Oakland hits well scattered, only one run being earned.

Although touched for eleven hits, Dumovich was responsible for only two of the six runs scored off him. An error by Ray Brubaker, who fumbled Haney's roller, gave the Angels a start in the fifth inning and they did not quit until they had four runs over the plate.

The Oaks got their first run in the opening inning on singles by Uhalt and Brubaker and Dittmar's wild throw to first in trying to complete a double play. The other run was earned in the eighth when Martin walked and Brubaker scored him with a double, his third hit of the game.

In the fourth the Angels earned one run when Schulmerich doubled and scored on Jacobs's single. Some fine fielding by Johnny Verges in this frame kept the southern team from making more runs. Then came the fifth with Brubaker fumbling Haney's grounder. Haney took third when Statz doubled down the first-base line. The entire Oakland team surrounded Umpire Price was chased the hit fair and Ariett was chased from the game. It was a tough one for Price to call as the ball cut the line almost from the time it left the plate.

Dumovich got rid of Sigafoos and then walked Schulmerich to try for a double play but Ray Jacobs got his second double scoring Haney and Statz, and a single by Harper scored Schulmerich and Jacobs. When Statz and Sigafoos doubled for another run, after one was away, Pearson stepped in and

GALLANT FOX PICKED TO WIN

Racing Fortune Smiles on Big Brown Colt

Seventh Position Drawn by Favorite

Tannery Not So Lucky, Gets Thirteenth Place

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) May 16. (AP) Racing fortune, so far as the luck of the draw is concerned, smiled today upon the chances of the Gallant Fox, outstanding favorite for the Kentucky Derby tomorrow, with the famous Earl Sande up, and the East's chief hope for another triumph over the West in this $50,000 classic of the turf.

In the field of sixteen crack 3-year-olds named to start, Gallant Fox drew the seventh position from the pole and horsemen, eager to seize any and all portents, immediately regarded this as a favorable break for the big brown colt, already heavily supported to win and backed down to the usually short odds of around 7 to 5. In capturing the two big eastern races, the Wood Memorial and Preakness, earlier this spring, Gallant Fox drew the pole position, was caught in bad early jams and forced to come from behind or go around to win. The result of the derby draw was considered to have minimized the chance of a bad getaway for the horse which will carry the colors of William Woodward of New York.

Tannery, Edward F. Prichard's chestnut colt and most heavily backed of all the Kentucky entries, was not so lucky in the draw. This strapping son of Ballot placed well on the outside, at No. 12, an ill-omened number among the superstitious of the turf. Even less fortunate were the Kentucky pair of Edward R. Bradley, whose Breezing Thru drew position No. 14 and Buckeye Feet the extreme outside place, No. 16. It was recalled that last year, Bradley's favorite, Blue Larkspur, failed to overcome the handicap of being on the outside fringe of the field.

Tannery, acknowledged one of the best mud horses in the field, may find more favor from the weather gods, for the prospect of showers tonight and possibly tomorrow morning carried the threat of heavy going. If such conditions prevail, Tannery, already a good second choice at about 3 to 1 in the wagering, may be given a last-minute even chance to beat Gallant Fox, which is not believed to favor anything but a good firm track.

The Churchill Downs oval was in excellent condition today, a trifle cuppy, and it was not expected that a shower or two would seriously affect racing conditions, especially if the prediction of clear and cool weather for tomorrow afternoon is fulfilled.

The Downs mecca for the Canadian Davis Cup Tennis Team Loses Three Matches to United States Squad

BY TED VOSBURGH
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA, May 16. (AP)—In the brief space of two hours today, the United States Davis Cup tennis team chalked up three straight victories over Canada's best players and won its way into the second round of American zone competition.

Johnny Van Ryn took less than half a minute to complete the job he began yesterday and beat Dr. Jack Wright of Montreal, the Canadian captain, by total scores of 6-2, 6-2, 3-6, 6-2.

JOHN VAN RYN

George Lott of Chicago next came through with a 6-2, 6-2, 8-6 decision over Marcel Rainville, agile little French-Canadian from Montreal, in a match marked by guile, change of pace, "English" on the ball, and clever placing.

It remained for America's dashing young doubles team—blond Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., and the dark-haired East Orange (N. J.) boy, Van Ryn—to score the crowning triumph and clinch the series.

Smashing and volleying in a spectacular style that roused the gallery of 3000 to a high pitch of enthusiasm, Van Ryn and Allison, conquerors of the French in the challenge round last year, battered out a clear-cut victory over Dr.

Hadley and Liska Twirl Washington Into First Place With Victories Over Champions

PHILADELPHIA, May 16. (AP)—Bump Hadley and Ad Liska pitched a pair of good games for Washington's Senators today to send them into first place in the American League with victories over the Athletics in both games of a double-header. The scores were 5 to 3 and 4 to 0.

Liska, the young submarine ball pitcher, turned in the best performance, holding the world's champions to three hits in as many innings in the second game. A home run by Joe Judge in the eighth inning accounted for three Senator runs in this contest.

By hitting safely in both games, Sam Rice, Washington outfielder, ran his string of consecutive games to twenty-seven.

FAVORITES ADVANCE IN COAST TENNIS TOURNEY

EUGENE (Or.) May 16. (AP)—At the close of the first two rounds of the singles in the Pacific Coast Conference tennis championship tournament being played here, Oregon, Stanford, U.C.L.A., and Southern California each had two men still in the running.

Of the eight players seeded in the tournament, only one, Lloyd Nordstrom of Washington, was eliminated. After defeating his team-mate, Hynes, 6-2, 8-1, he lost to Bob Gates, Southern California, 6-2, 6-4.

The seven players who won their opening matches were Sherman Lockwood and Stanley Almquist, Oregon; Jack De Lara, U.S.C.; E. Lewis and Clifford Robbins, U.C.L.A., and Harry Piymire and Ted Eaton, Stanford.

The most furious match of the day was that in which Cliff Robbins, U.C.L.A., eliminated Don Ragen, Oregon. The match went three sets, 6-0, 1-6, 12-10.

First round—Robbins (U.C.L.A.) defeated Chun (W.S.C.) 6-3, 6-2; Ragen (Oregon) defeated Broom (W.S.C.) 6-1, 6-2; Almquist (Oregon) defeated Schultz (U.C.L.A.) 6-1, 6-1; Wessner (Stanford) defeated Kilroy (Montana.) 6-2, 6-0; Piymire (Stanford) defeated Gstrom (W.S.C.) 6-4, 6-2; Hall (Stanford) defeated Kalisky (Oregon.) 6-0, 7-5; Easton (Stanford) defeated Struble (U.C.L.A.) 6-3, 6-3; Newkirk (Washington) defeated King (O.S.C.) 6-4, 6-1; Nordstrom (Washington) defeated Hynes (Washington.) 6-2, 8-1; Gates (U.S.C.) defeated Loomis (O.S.C.) 6-1, 6-2; Lockwood (Oregon) defeated Lewis (Montana.) 6-4, 6-4; Yarr Peck (W.S.C.) defeated Hoyt (Washington.) 6-2, 6-1.

SECOND ROUND

De Lara (U.S.C.) defeated Dederich (O.S.C.) 6-3, 11-9; Robbins (U.C.L.A.) defeated Ragen (Oregon) 6-0, 1-6, 12-10; Almquist (Oregon) defeated Wessner (Stanford.) 6-2, 6-3; Piymire (Stanford) defeated Hall (Stanford.) 6-4, 2-6, 6-3; Gates (U.S.C.) defeated Nordstrom (Wash.) 6-2, 6-4; Lockwood (Oregon) defeated Hoyt 6-3, 6-3; E. Lewis (U.C.L.A.) defeated Grafton (O.S.C.) 6-2, 6-1.

Doubles: First round—Hynes and Hoyt, Washington, defeated Goss and Dedricks, Oregon State, 6-2, 6-4; Nordstrom and Newkirk, Washington, defeated Struble and Scholtz, U.C.L.A., 6-2, 1-6, 6-7; Ragen and Kalisky, Oregon, defeated Peck and Chun, Washington State, 6-2, 6-3; Lockwood and Almquist, Oregon, defeated Ostrom and Broom, Washington State, 6-3, 6-1; Wessner and Piymire, Stanford, defeated E. Lewis and Robbins, U.C.L.A., 10-8, 6-4; Easton and Hall, Stanford, defeated King and Grafton, Oregon State, 6-2, 6-3.

BOBBY JONES OVERWHELMS ROGER WETHERED, 9 AND 8

English Girl Sensation in Brilliant Win

BY VICTOR UBANK
Associated Press Staff Writer

FORMBY (Eng.) May 16. (AP)—Miss Diana Fishwick, a mere slip of a girl in her teens, today defeated Miss Glenna Collett, American champion, 4 up and 3 to play, to win the British women's golf championship the very first time she tried.

GLENNA COLLETT

Miss Collett lost to Miss Fishwick at the thirty-third hole after the clever American girl had fought her way through six rounds and defeated three of the greatest players on this side of the Atlantic. As a matter of fact, in all but the actual count of holes, Miss Fishwick was the victor after the morning round, when the players went to luncheon with the British girl, 5 up.

Putting lost the day for the visiting title-holder, although many of her other shots were not all that they should have been. Miss Collett played as though she was very tired, which she should have been after opposing the English champion, Miss Molly Gourlay, for twenty-one holes, and barely nosing out Misses Enid Wilson

Donald Moe's Great Victory Makes History

BY FRANK H. KING
Associated Press Staff Writer

SANDWICH (Eng.) May 16. (AP)—With ten matches won and only two lost Walker Cup honors today went to the United States for the sixth time, with a ceremonial dinner in old Guild Hall at Sandwich tonight. Bobby Jones, captain of the American team, was given again the international golfing trophy which Britain never have won.

DON MOE

Jones's men today gave Roger Wethered's team the most decisive defeat a British team ever received in this country. The largest crowds ever to see Walker Cup matches in England watched the contests.

The Prince of Wales followed the matches both days, the foursomes yesterday and singles today, with a set of big binoculars added to his equipment today. He really needed a ladder to see over the crowd, numbering more than 5000. There were 3700 paid admissions.

OUIMET DEFEATED

In singles matches today, the British were able to win only one, T. A. Torrance drubbing Francis Ouimet, 7 up and 6 to play. As the Americans won three of the

Match Play Starts Today in Annual Scotch Foursome Event at Midwick Country C

TEN TEAMS PLAY OFF FOR ONE PLACE THIS MORNING

Par Shooters Rebuffed by Tricky Links

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

Down fairways that wind like tortuous rivers between treacherous banks of uncut rough, Southern California's low handicap amateurs match strokes today in the first two rounds of the annual Scotch foursome championship at the Midwick Country Club.

DANNY SANGSTER

The battle for places in the championship flight of sixteen was remarkably close and hard fought with ten teams to play off this morning for one place. The following players, who tied with net scores of 79, are requested to be on the first tee promptly at 8:30 for the play-off: Gerald Troutman and L. M. Blackburn, Danny Sangster and Dave Fellows, M. L. Houseman and C. E. Smoot, Paul R. Jonas and Phil Carter, Phil Forve and Harlow Hurley, W. W. Bacon and R. Wescott, F. W. Converse and Gene Brown, Walter Finch and Robert Finch, George Lewis and H. M. Eichelberger, Jr., and Billy Jack and Vic Girard.

Pairings for the championship flight, with the exception of one place, are as follows:

E. B. Chambers and George Moss vs. L. Perry Ferguson and Bill Jelliffe.

M. T. Marshall and C. W. Fairbanks vs. Harry Westbrook and George Rich.

Rod Houser and Tom Webster vs. C. G. Lathrop and A. B. Young.

C. Arthurs and Hugh Bell vs. Ed Thornwall and M. F. Smith.

J. G. Hunter and H. S. Robbins vs. Homer Burnaby and George Bent.

Harold Thompson and Percy Eckles vs. J. L. Mothershed and J. F. Rhodes.

I. W. Lincoln and J. L. O'Neal vs. team to be selected.

Dr. W. W. Savage and Gales Thompson vs. J. C. Bequette and E. B. Yoakum.

It was not possible to make pairings for the second flight last night until after the play-off. Teams already in the second flight, however, include J. B. Speer and C. P. Black, Sam Dalzell and C. M. Kellog, J. C. Bowden and C. C. Dennis, R. J. L. Culver and E. B. Babcock, Jack Douglas and C. Marshall, B. Crosby and Ed Tierney, and R. D. Schmertz and W. Noble.

The third flight will be made up of eight teams as follows: W. D. Derwin and Tom Endicott vs. Dick Keene and A. K. Pattinson; E. S. Armstrong and Alex Macdonald vs. H. M. Snider and S. W. Foreman; Jim Serfers and F. Parr vs. George Rogers and Wagner; Ray Hiniker and Fred Larsen vs. H. S. Webb and Gill Eckles.

J. L. Mothershed, chairman of the greens, Emerson Spear and other members who have the best interests of Midwick at heart, and know their course for the fine test of golf that it is, must be enjoying a quiet chuckle today as par repulsed the best efforts of some very fine golfers in the qualifying round on Thursday and again yesterday.

It seems that the impression got about when the Monterey Park club accepted the 1936 Southern California amateur championship, which will be played in June, that Midwick was something of a set-up, and that it would be "burned up" in that championship event.

Ordinarily, Midwick is a most pleasant course to play day in and day out. It is kept open to suit the average golfer's game, and that may be the reason for the idea that the course is easy.

With the fairways narrowed, as they were yesterday and will be for the amateur next month, and played from the back tees, Midwick has become a real test of championship golf.

Rather than the golfers "burning up" Midwick, it looks as if Midwick was going to "burn up" the golfers.

The player who hits them long and straight off the tee has nothing to worry about, but that is true of the toughest golf course ever built. On the other hand, those who deviate from the fairways will find matted rough that is all Sherman claimed for war.

Several holes have been stiffened, particularly the sixth, which is one of the finest holes on the course. The addition of a trap at the back of the green calls for an exacting second shot.

Two rounds of match play are scheduled for today with the semi-final and finals rounds tomorrow. The John S. Cravens cup, won by Fay Coleman and Lester Coleman of the California Country Club for the past two years, will go to the club of the winning team. The Coleman brothers were unfortunately not able to compete this year.

SENIOR GOLF ASSOCIATION ADOPTS CONSTITUTION

The first meeting of the board of governors of the Senior Golf Association was held at the Brentwood Country Club on Wednesday. Governors at this time were the guests of the Brentwood club and after the regular meeting had lunch and then played golf. A constitution and by-laws for the association were adopted. This was submitted to a committee which included Judge Lewis R. Works, S. W. Foresman and Dr. F. S. Hardin. Among the governors present were the constitution committee, H. B. Boyer of San Gabriel, E. E. Sanborn of Mountain Meadows, and Blair Boyd of Redlands.

MONROVIA NINE COPS

The Monrovia baseball team nosed out the South Pasadena nine by the score of 5 to 4 yesterday in a game played on the winners' home lot. Four hits in the fourth inning netted the Monrovia team three runs and a commanding lead. Jenson of South Pasadena starred at the plate and in the field.

Webb Hanson Tops College Golf Tourney

Webster Hanson, University of California at Los Angeles golfer, with a score of 73-72—145 for thirty-six holes of play, yesterday led at the end of the first two rounds in the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate golf championship. The concluding eighteen holes of the fifty-four-hole medal-play competition will be staged over the Bel-Air Country Club course this morning for individual and team honors.

GIBSON DUNLAP

Hanson finished brilliantly to lead Vincent Dolp of Portland, University of Oregon star, by a stroke. Dolp scored 72-74—146. Gibson Dunlap was third with 74-74—148; Winston Fuller of Southern California fourth, 76-76—152, and Werner Edmonds of Stanford fifth, 77-77—154.

As the result of Hanson's unexpectedly fine golf, the University of California at Los Angeles is in first place in the team competition and reigns a favorite to win. Stanford is second, Southern California third, and California fourth.

Russel (Bud) Thompson of Southern California ran into trouble on the first nine, scoring an 83, but was ten strokes better in the afternoon with a 73.

Wolgast Wins as Foe Swoons

NEW YORK, May 16. (AP)—Midget Wolgast, 112 pounds of fighting machinery from Philadelphia, retained his world's flyweight title in New York and Pennsylvania tonight when Willie La Morte collapsed at the end of five torrid rounds of fighting in Madison Square Garden.

The end of the battle, which was all Wolgast's up to the sudden climax, stunned the handful of faithful that found its way to the battle pit for the championship fight between the small boys. The bell had ended the round and La Morte was walking to his corner, when he suddenly collapsed in a heap on the mat. A hurried examination showed that he had suffered a heart attack.

He was carried from the ring in an unconscious condition. After being carried to the dressing-room, La Morte soon recovered. The commission physician diagnosed the case as a spasm of the heart, probably caused by a punch under the heart near the end of the fifth and last round.

ONE-HIT GAME FOR FRAZIER OF BELL

Red Frazier pitched a one-hit no-run game and as a result Bell High School scored its fourth straight victory and its third consecutive shut-out yesterday, defeating the Narbonne nine, 7 to 0. Frazier pitched a good game and just missed no-hit honors when Aspital of the Narbonne team sent a grounder through shortstop.

MAPLE MAULERS CLOSE TOURNEY

Fifteenth Annual Bowling Congress Ends

With the rolling of the grand sweepstakes tonight the fifteenth annual Pacific Coast Bowling Congress tourney will be brought to a close after twenty-four days of continuous maple mauling at the Davenport Recreation Building.

The big auditorium was dark last night with all members attending the annual meeting. On the matinee shift, Milen Zlokovich of the Fahy Fords smashed his way to the top in the all-events with a nine-game total of 1857. He had 630 in the team, 597 in the doubles and duplicated his team total of 630 to place third in the solo event.

Paul De Camp and Joe De Paoli rolled into third place in the open doubles with 1219. They kept up a consistent bombardment through the three games, the former getting 201, 210 and 205 for a 616 set, and the latter smacking 'em for 202, 201 and 200 even to total 603. Johnnie Milner slipped in a 621 series for eighth place in the solo event.

At the annual open meeting held at the Alexandria Hotel last night, J. C. (Daddy) Squires of San Diego was re-elected president of the congress for the fifth consecutive year. Other officers re-elected were S. A. Setaer, Santa Monica, first vice-president; Mel Basso, Oakland, second vice-president; O. M. Gregg, secretary-treasurer. San Jose was awarded the 1931 convention. New directors added to the present corum were G. Brown and J. C. Hitzenbaugh, Phoenix; E. Gwann, Salinas; C. Dyer, Riverside; H. Cozens, Santa Monica; H. Summerville, Stockton; J. F. Zweiner, San Diego; F. Arnerich, San Jose; V. Flinker, Oakland, and G. C. Kratter, San Francisco.

STANFORD MEET ON TAP TODAY

morrow in the 100 but Dyer has a big following in the 220.

The Stanford strongboys, Eric Krens and Harlow Rothert, dominate the discus and shot put events respectively. Krens holds the world discus record of 163ft. 8½-in., while Rothert recently bettered the accepted world shot-put mark with a heave of 52ft. 1 5-8in. Marks exceeding Rothert's are now up for consideration, however.

The hurdle races are expected to be closely contested between Alf Pogolotti, California; Roger Smith, Stanford, and Jeddy Welsh, Caris and Payne of Southern California.

Injuries today eliminated Everett "Spud" Mossman, California long-distance star, who rated either first or second place in the mile. He hurt the Achilles tendon in his right heel last week and it failed to respond sufficiently to warrant his running tomorrow. John Morrison, Stanford quarter-miler and key man of the mile relay team, is another doubtful starter. He pulled up lame some time ago and whether he runs tomorrow will not be decided until he has warmed up just before the 440.

DARO AFTER SONNENBERG

Portly Wrestling Promoter Wants to Know What Gus Thinks About New "Butt" Ruling

"Carnation" Lou Daro, local wrestling promoter, took steps yesterday to find out whether or not Champion Gus Sonnenberg would consider any offer to wrestle here in defense of his world's heavyweight mat title since the State Athletic Commission ruled his "billy-goat butt" illegal.

Daro wired the champion in Boston, asking him if he would meet a topnotcher here in a finish title match in the near future. An offer as big as the one guaranteed him for his recent mat battle with Everette Marshall, was made to the title-holder if he is agreeable to another bout here with an opponent selected by Daro.

The promoter stated yesterday he had but one wrestler in mind to send against Sonnenberg at this time, but he refused to name him until after the mat king either accepted or rejects the offer.

Before he left for the East following his title match with Marshall, Sonnenberg told several newspaper men that he has yet to use what is commonly called a "billy goat butt" in subduing an opponent. According to the former Dartmouth football star, it is impossible to hit an opponent with any force by diving head first into his stomach. The danger of sustaining a broken neck was too great a risk, the title-holder stated.

While awaiting Sonnenberg's answer, the promoter began working on his next all-star wrestling show, planned for the Olympic, the 28th inst. The winners of the two feature events of the last card, Nick Lutze and Don George, made impressive showings and are being considered for positions on the next card. Several other telegrams were sent out by the promoter yesterday to top-notch mat stars in the Northwest. He expects to line up a very attractive card within the next few days.

YANK GOLFERS TRIM BRITISH

four foursomes, the final score was 10 to 2. Two years ago at the Chicago Golf Club the Americans won, 11 to 1. Torrance, then as now, winning the only singles match for the British.

The position of the American team this morning was that the players from the United States needed to win three matches and halve one. Jones's men consolidated their position before luncheon. Jones, Roland MacKenzie and George Voigt had big leads, Harrison R. Johnston had a comfortable advantage over Cyril J. H. Tolley and George Von Elm and Rex Hartley were all square.

Dr. O. F. Willing and Don Moe were behind, but in position to make a threat in the afternoon and the defeat of Oulmet, who could not make his putter behave, was indicated.

It was the afternoon play that furnished the thrills and excitement, sending the Prince of Wales and the other golf fans scurrying over the big sand dunes to witness golfing drama.

Wethered almost struck the Prince in the head with one of his wild shots which contributed to his defeat by Jones, 9 up and 8 to play, the most severe of all their long and friendly rivalry in international golf.

George Voigt's victory over Sir Ernest Holderness, 10 up and 8 to play, was the most crushing blow to Britain, but young Don Moe is the hero of the Walker Cup team.

Fighting against a four-hole handicap after the morning eighteen, the young Oregonian shot a sensational 67 on the course conceded to be one of the hardest to score on anywhere. In a great finish which will write Moe's name in golfing history, he defeated J. A. Stout, 1 up, when he was 7 down with fifteen holes left to play.

The climax came at the home hole. The youngster fired a great shot from 200 yards straight to the green, the ball stopping three feet from the cup. Stout missed a putt for a 4 and concede defeat. This putt and one on the fifteenth were the only two Moe failed to hole, so his "approximate 67" was not very approximate.

Dr. O. F. Willing made a great recovery and after being 1 down after eighteen holes came back to win at the thirty-fifth hole where he sent an iron to within eight feet of the cup from a distance of more than 200 yards.

George Von Elm decided the competition when he became dormie-3 at the fifteenth hole in the afternoon. Jones, Voigt and Johnston had won, so the Americans needed only a half to win. However, the Detroiter went on to halve the next hole and win his match, 3 up and 2 to play.

MacKenzie had a big lead all day and seemed certain to win at all times, but William Campbell showed great ability to halve holes, and the match dragged to the thirty-first hole, the Scot halving eleven holes in the afternoon.

Tolley took off all his sweaters and played in his shirt sleeves, an unusual procedure in England, but he could not make a dent in Johnston's airtight game, even though Sandwich is a course where the gigantic Tolley's power is best exhibited.

Jones brought in the first American victory at the expense of the rival captain, Wethered, and then like a general in the field he stationed himself at strategic points in the network of fairways, focusing at the ninth, twelfth and sixteenth greens, to watch his men fight.

Results of the day's plays:

Harrison R. Johnston, St. Paul, defeated Cyril J. H. Tolley, 5 up and 4 to play.
Robert Jones, Jr., Atlanta, defeated Roger Wethered, 9 and 8.
George Von Elm, Detroit, defeated Rex Hartley, 3 and 2.
George Voigt, New York, defeated Sir Ernest Holderness, 10 and 8.
O. F. Willing, Portland, Or., defeated John Nelson Smith, 2 and 1.
J. A. Torrance, London, defeated Francis Ouimet, Boston, 4 and 3.
Donald R. Moe, Portland, Or., defeated J. A. Stout, 1 up.

and Hilda Cameron on the eighteenth green.

GOOD START

It was a day of summer weather and bright sunshine as though made for the American. A gallery of 2000 in the morning and 5000 in the afternoon showed the interest in the match although the British really had little hope for the youthful Diana's success.

Glenna was off to a good start, winning the first hole, but she missed a five-foot putt at the second to see the match squared. Miss Collett took three putts at the fourth and from then on she had trouble with her erratic putter.

The match see-sawed with the American drawing level at the sixth with a brilliant shot from a trap. Glenna became afflicted with a slice and Diana was 1 up at the turn. The British hope began to get the feel of her putter about this time while the ball refused to go in for the American and Miss Fashwick won four holes of the second nine to become 5 up after the first eighteen holes.

Immediately after luncheon Glenna took her putter and went out to practice. Her preparation seemed about to show results for she won the twentieth hole, where she made a clever second shot to the green, but she hooked her tee shot to a trap at the twenty-third and lost this hole and the next.

PUTTER FALTERS

The British girl was hitting the ball straight and sending her approach putts dead. For a time Miss Collett recovered her falterig game, winning the twenty-seventh and running down a putt of eighteen feet on the twenty-eighth. She was only 4 down then but suffered another lapse and could not break through on the next three holes which were halved.

Glenna chipped from a bad lie close to the pin to win the thirty-second and become 3 down with four left to play. There was a faint hope in the heart of the Americans that their champion might start a golfing miracle here, but it was not to be.

At the thirty-third, where she was in trouble yesterday, Miss Collett sliced to rough and was short of the green in 3. Miss Fishwick, too, was in the rough from the tee, but she was able to use a spoon and sent a great shot to the green ending the match.

MATCHES SCHEDULED

There was a rousing British cheer from the gallery as Miss Collett shook hands and congratulated the winner. The two girls then led the crowd to a green opposite the clubhouse, where the cups were presented, the championship emblem to Miss Fishwick and the runner-up trophy to Miss Collett for the second time in two years. The semi-finalists were also presented cups.

Miss Fishwick told the crowd that she was glad to win and Miss Collett said she hoped Miss Fishwick would come to the United States so they could have another match.

The American girls left tonight for Gleneagles to play two courses there tomorrow and Sunday. They will go to St. Andrews for Monday and Tuesday after which they will move on to France for a team match with the French. They will sail for home on the Mauretania the 31st inst.

ROMANS SHUT OUT PANTHER NINE, 4-0

Featured by the airtight pitching of Elmer Emerson, who allowed but two hits, the L. A. High baseball team won a 4-to-0 decision from the Franklin squad in a game held yesterday on the winner's diamond. Emerson pitched a good game for the Romans, fanning thirteen batters and keeping the situation well in hand at all times.

Dutch Greer led the Roman batting attack, getting a single and a double in three trips to the plate. Bates, also of L.A., came through with a timely double. The Romans scored two runs in the first inning on two hits and had the game cinched from there on. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
Los Angeles	4	9	1

Batteries—Redondo and McCue; Emerson and Greer.

POLY NINE UPSETS HOLLYWOOD OUTFIT

The supposedly strong Hollywood Redshirt nine met defeat yesterday at the hands of Cop Mahoney's Poly Mechanics in a rather easy 6-1 victory for Mohoney's crew. The game was played on the Mechanics' lot and was featured by the heavy hitting of Goodman, who slammed out a triple in the eighth inning with two men on the sacks.

Ybarra of Poly and Collins of Hollywood hurled good ball, allowing six hits apiece.

Ybarra and Mahoney; Collins and Campbell.

ROOSEVELT WRECKS UNIVERSITY TEAM

In a game featured by the heavy hitting of Herman Watts, Coach "Coney" Galindo's Roosevelt Colonels easily defeated the University Warriors, 9 to 3, in a contest held yesterday on the winners' diamond. Watts, Roosevelt third-sacker, accounted for five of the Rough Riders' runs by getting a double, a triple and a homer in four trips to the plate. The game was loosely played. University making six errors and Roosevelt five.

Auto Drivers Are Reinstated

A. C. Pillsbury, local representative of the American Automobile Association, removed the last obstacle as far as the success of tomorrow's 100-lap auto race at the Legion Speedway is concerned, when he reinstated several drivers and car owners who were barred earlier in the week. The trottle knights who were previously set down but who may now drive at the Legion oval and at Indianapolis and other plants, were Francis Quinn, Jimmy Sharp, Mel Kenealy, "Stubby" Stubblefield, Walt May, Ernie Triplett and Melvin McKee.

Car owners who were affected by the suspension lifting were Russell Garnant, Guy Beulin, Charles Begg and Francis Quinn, the latter being owner as well as pilot of his Marine Miller.

Corbett Stops Andy Di Vodi

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16. (AP)—Young Corbett, III, of Fresno, generally rated as the outstanding challenger for the welterweight title, moved up another notch tonight when he knocked out Andy Di Vodi, tough New York boy in the sixth round of their ten-round bout at Dreamland Auditorium tonight.

A terrific left to the body floored Di Vodi for the full count and he was out for several minutes, while his handlers worked over him.

BAKER WINS MAIN EVENT AT COMPTON

Bud Baker won the main event at the Compton ring in short order last night, knocking out Dean Millen in the first round. Tommy Hudson was given a decision over Jack Camel in the six-round semi-windup, while Pete Starmeinto kayoed Red Williams in the second round of the special event. Another knockout was registered by Frank Cordova, who put away Henry Bello in the second round.

Elliot Bebillo and Pete Sedera were awarded unpopular decisions over Frank Abendino and Jerry Denny, respectively, in the other fights scheduled.

WHITTIER IN VICTORY

Whittier's fast-stepping night hawks last night defeated the Fullerton baseball nine, 7 to 2, in a game held on the winners' diamond. The game was the ninth the Whittier team has taken part in in the Southern California Night Baseball League. McDonald, Whittier hurler, did the best work of the evening, striking out twelve men and collecting three safe bingles out of four trips to the platter.

KAPPA PSI WINS GAME

Kappa Psi won the final game in the interfraternity baseball league at U.C.L.A. yesterday defeating the Alpha Sigma Phi nine by a 12-to-2 score. Ike Brown hit a homer with the bases full in the fourth inning and those runs were enough to win. Larry Houston fanned seven batters and kept the hits well scattered to save the game for the winners.

VAN NUYS VICTORIOUS

The Van Nuys High School nine won a San Fernando Valley League ball game from the Owensmouth squad yesterday, winning by a 11-to-7 score.

GENARO WHIPS GRANDE

CAMDEN (N. J.) May 16. (AP)—Frankie Genaro, recognized by the N.B.A. as flyweight champion of the world, won on a technical knockout tonight over Frisco Grande, Filipino, in the fourth round of a ten-rounder nontitle bout.

DANO PREPARES FOR BROWN GO

Filipino Boxer Starts Work at Local Gymnasium

Pablo Dano, star Filipino flyweight from San Francisco, opened training yesterday at the Main Street Gymnasium. He is as fine a specimen of fighting machinery as was Clever Sencio and Pancho Villa in appearance.

The newcomer, who claims the Pacific Coast 112-pound championship, figures to be favored over Newsboy Brown for their ten-round bout at the Olympic next Tuesday night. He already holds one decision over Brown, and has beaten Chato Laredo, Mexican flyweight champion.

Dano is making his first appearance at the big club here. He has been a headliner in the north for the last year. He holds the flyweight title of the Orient.

Matchmaker Wad Wadhams will try to bring Bobby Wolgast, recently acclaimed by the New York commission as the successor to Izzy Schwartz, here to fight the Dano-Brown winner. Dano has beaten Schwartz.

Benny Miller, although he is boxing only the semi-wind-up to Brown and Dano, figures to share in the spotlight. Mat Codan is Miller's opponent. Young Benny, who will be 21 Tuesday, has scored seven knockouts in recent bouts. Sid Terres and Sammy Seaman meet in the special.

The Olympic has a big demand for the Ace Hudkins-Dave Shade tickets which have been on sale for a couple of days. This bout will attract national interest since Mickey Walker has already agreed to defend his middleweight title against the winner.

Hudkins is reported to be in splendid shape at Murrieta Hot Springs where he has trained nearly six weeks. The Wildcat is down to 163 pounds and declares he will come on the scales for Shade below the middleweight limit.

GALLANT FOX PICKED TO WIN

thousands in the vanguard of the derby day jam, bloomed brightly today, bedecked in gala dress not only for the fifty-sixth running of the three-year-old classic but also as a gesture of welcome to the distinguished visitor from England, the Earl of Derby. Illness has upset the busy social schedule of the Earl but from Lexington came word that he was expected to be sufficiently recovered to watch the big race tomorrow and present the gold trophy to the winner's owner in a ceremony to be broadcast to England as well as throughout the United States.

Upward of 50,000 spectators will witness the derby at the picturesque Downs, scheduled to be run at about 5:15 (central standard time,) perhaps a trifle earlier. Millions will hear its brief but thrilling details broadcast over two national radio hook-ups, elaborate preparations having been completed to put the description on the air from the trackside, in a program starting at about 4:30 p.m.

Depending upon weather conditions, not more than fifteen and possibly no more than twelve of the sixteen horses named will parade to the post for th. mile and a quarter race to gold and glory. Busy, the colt owned by J. B. Respess, was announced as a definite withdrawal. In the doubtful list were Hal Price Headley's Afelhades, the only filly in the field, and Dick O'Hara, the entry of Patrick H. Joyce of Chicago, although both owners declared them ready to start, regardless.

Although nearly all the prerace debate and wagering centers about a dual between Gallant Fox and Tannery, rival hopes of the East and West, the chances of Thomas M. Cassidy's Crack Brigade and the Audley Farm's Gallant Knight drew attention from those figuring the prospects of an upset. In the draw, the latter two flanked the favored Gallant Fox, with Crack Brigade No. 6 and Gallant Knight No. 8. Thus strategically placed, it was figured these two colts might develop as the real threats.

OLYMPIC MEETS TODAY

Hundreds of Youngsters Battle Throughout Southland for Right to Enter Junior Games Finals

BY BRAVEN DYER

With the Southern California finals only three weeks away athletes entered in the Junior Olympic Games perform today on many fronts. Competition should be keen on all sectors and those who finish among the first five in each division will go on into other meets with the big event on June 7 their ultimate goal.

From the standpoint of high scores and keen competition, the Los Angeles Playground finals billed for 1:30 o'clock at Arroyo Seco, should lead today's schedule.

BOYD COMSTOCK

Incidentally, D. W. Lott of the department of playgrounds and recreation, advises that all athletes competing in today's meet must be on the field at 1 o'clock. This also goes for the youngsters taking part in the city schools finals slated to be held on the same field at the same hour. Boys who are late will not be allowed to compete.

Last year playground winners made an enviable showing in the Southern California finals, and it is expected that the champions who emerge today will cut a wide swath in the big meet on June 7, next.

In the senior division Sam Waxman, Frank Takeuchi and Ord Shoults have been outstanding, while Paul Lee is capable of giving them a real run for their money.

At El Monte this morning Coach Bergstrom will be in charge of the district finals there. Jimmy Montgomery, El Monte youth who has bettered 700 points, is looked upon as the likely winner in the junior division, while competition in the senior class should also produce some high scoring. El Monte youngsters have turned in some staggering totals this spring and it will be interesting to see what they can do today.

Boyd Comstock, director of the Junior Olympic Games for Southern California, will attend the El Monte meet, while John F. Ness of the executive committee, is to be present at the playground finals.

The Santa Barbara county finals are billed for 9:30 a.m. at Santa Barbara, with W. H. Orton and Robert Glover directing the program.

District meets are also scheduled for South Pasadena and Inglewood at 9:30 a.m.

VENTURA DISTRICT FINALS TODAY

VENTURA, May 16. — The sectional meet of the Junior Olympic Games will be held at the Junior College-Senior High School, tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock. All the elementary schools in the Ventura high school district will participate. Each school has already held an elimination meet and only the winners from the schools will be eligible to participate. Meets have already been held at Santa Paula, Oxnard, Moorpark, Fillmore and Ojai. Winners from these sectional meets will gather at Fillmore at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, the 24th inst., and winners at the county meet will go to the Southern California finals to be held in Los Angeles on June 7, next.

Arrangements for the local meet are in the hands of the committee, consisting of Miss Elizabeth Clarey, Eugene Kennedy and Leslie Helhens.

CUBS LOSE

ST. LOUIS, May 16. (AP)—The Cardinals scored four runs in the ninth inning today to defeat the Chicago Cubs, 9 to 6, in the first game of the series. Although the Cardinals made twenty-one hits, they trailed until Douthit singled in the ninth bringing in the tieing and winning runs. Score:

SHEIKS GO ON BATTING SPREE

only because Manager Oscar Vitt couldn't make up his mind to get the youngster out of there.

At the end of the third inning the score was 4 to 7 in Seattle's favor and Kallio, Kuns and Page had come and gone, leaving Lamanski and George Hollerson toiling on the mound. Hollerson got by in fair fashion, particularly in view of the fact that his mates were blasting Lamanski's offerings to all parts of the lot, and eventually received credit for the victory. It was George's third trip to the mound this week and naturally he relished ultimately attaining a triumph.

Youthful Lou Catina and aged William Rumler led the Hollywood attack, each getting four blows in six trips to the plate. The young shortstop made a big hit with Hollywood followers by his timely work at the plate, the fans cheering him lustily each time he stepped to the front.

Hollywood ran the bases with reckless abandon and poor throwing by both outfields helped to boost the score into double figures.

Percy Duke Marlowe, who hails from the wilds of Oregon where men are men and the women glad of it, made his debut as a Hollywood outfielder and delivered in an auspicious manner. Mr. Marlowe, who is a beeg, strong, fellah, has the reputation of being a terrific hitter among the Oregon bush leagues so when he came to bat in the eighth inning yesterday the boys in the know were interested in his antics.

Percy Duke proceeded to dig his spikes into the dirt and then blast a powerful single over short, the blow being a contributory factor of some importance to Hollywood's four-run splurge of the inning. It isn't often that a rookie is privileged to deliver in such fashion.

Some indication of what Hollywood had in store for the Siwashes came in the opening frame when Mike Gazella hit the first ball pitched over the fence for a home run. In the Seattle half of the stanza Holland had homed with Ellsworth and Knothe on the paths. Ellsworth contributed the third and final circuit clout in the third inning, Hollerson being the victim.

The Stars have been hitting the ball very much on the nose this week and may be headed some place after all. Come out today and see. Score:

MISSIONS TRIM PORTLAND CLUB, 8-5

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16. (AP)—San Francisco's Missions defeated the Portland Ducks, 8-5, today after leading the visitors all the way. McQuaid held the Ducks scoreless for seven innings, his team-mates meanwhile piling up an eight-run lead, but in the next frame the lid blew off and the local hurler barely weathered the storm. Portland counted five times on six hits. The Missions started their scoring festivities in the third with three runs.

AMERICANS IN NET VICTORY

Wright and Willard Crocker of Montreal at 6-0, 6-4, 6-2.

Only Mexico now remains between the United States team and the right to go to Europe in quest of the famous trophy now held by the French. If the heavily favored American team comes through according to schedule against Mexico at Washington next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, it will be supreme in the American zone and entitled to meet the winner of the European zone contest for the right to challenge France.

The showing of Van Ryn, Allison and Lott today against a strong and courageous Canadian outfit more than fulfilled the high hopes of those who believe the Americans have a chance to regain the cup.

To give them experience in international play, Allison and Johnny Doeg of Santa Monica, Cal., will be used in tomorrow's remaining singles. Doeg will oppose Dr. Wright in Lott's place, while Allison will substitute for Van Ryn against Rainville.

Anthony Gets Compton Job

Frank Anthony, tackle of the U.S.C. football team for three years, has accepted the position of assistant coach at Compton Junior College. The husky Trojan was one of the most consistent players on the squad last year and was picked by many as an all-Coast tackle. Anthony will take up his duties next September with the opening of the new semester. Earle "Deacon" Pine, who is the head coach at the school, made the announcement of Anthony's appointment recently. Anthony will coach the line, while Pine will direct the backfield.

WARD'S HOMER DEFEATS SEALS

Veteran Hits Circuit Clout in Ninth Frame

SACRAMENTO, May 16. (AP)—Aaron Ward settled the pitching duel between young Tom Flynn and Curt Davis here today by poling a home run in the ninth inning with two down and two on to give Sacramento a 6-to-1 victory over the Seals. The victory knotted the series at two games each. Flynn gave the Seals but five hits while Davis was touched for twice as many but kept them well scattered. The score:

TIFFANY FILMS PROGRAM TOLD

Production Budget for 1931 Set at $17,500,000

Plans Call for Twenty-six Feature Pictures

Twelve Specials Included in Total Scheduled

With its 1931 production schedule calling for twenty-six feature pictures, twelve of which will be specials, Tiffany Productions, Inc., Hollywood independent company has planned a budget of $17,500,000 for its new production program which will be started about June 15, next, officials of the company stated yesterday. The company is now completing its 1930 productions for which the outlay was between $11,500,000 and $12,000,000 for thirty pictures and seventy-five shorts.

As the company has been very successful with technicolor and musical specialty shorts, provision will likely be made for a continuance of this type of pictures along with the regular schedule but the management has not reached a decision yet as to the scope of its activities in the short field.

SPECIALS PLANNED

Convinced from an analysis of the returns from the various types of pictures that the production of specials offers the most profitable yield, executives of the company decided to produce twelve special feature pictures in the coming year as against three in the production term now closing. Two of these specials will be "Glory," a feature with a patriotic theme, and "The Barbarian," a technicolor special, with an oriental background.

"Journey's End" is proving to be the biggest box-office special the company has produced while three other 1930 productions of the company have also been outstanding from the box-office returns, officials stated. Two pictures are now in production, "So This Is Mexico" and "Just Like Heaven," with a third, "His Last Race," a racetrack story, to be filmed in completing the current production year.

STATUS IMPROVES

Through the acquisition of the Gayety Theater in New York and the leasing of a number of first-run theaters in other leading cities, Tiffany Productions, Inc., is now in a much improved position to increase its revenues, according to the officials.

Operating economies effected by Phil Goldstone, chief studio executive, have been reflected in the upward trend of earnings in the last six months and the company is anticipating a favorable earnings report for the coming year. By having only three actors under long-term contracts and employing others as needed for its production, the company is enabled to operate at a minimum overhead.

L. A. Young, president of the L. A. Young Spring and Wire Corporation, is president of Tiffany Productions, Inc., and Grant L. Cook is executive vice-president.

AUBURN COAST SALES AHEAD OF LAST YEAR

AUBURN (Ind.) May 16. (Exclusive)—New York and California, with gains of 43.7 per cent, and 12.7 per cent, respectively, over the first four months of 1929, led in Auburn sales during the first four months of this year, R. H. Faulkner, vice-president of the Auburn Automobile Company, reported today. The increasing sales on the Pacific Coast were indicated by a gain of 13.6 per cent in April over April last year, while New York sales for that month increased only 2 per cent, he said.

RATE ON ENGINEERS UTILITY STOCK SET

NEW YORK, May 16. (Exclusive) Engineers Public Service Company declared a quarterly dividend of 60 cents a share on its common stock, payable July 1, next, to stock of record June 17. This places the stock on a $2.40 annual cash basis as against $1 cash previously paid annually. The directors voted to discontinue the 4 per cent annual stock dividend on the common. M. C. Brush was elected a director to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. A. T. Hadley.

Bank Institute Chapter Elects Year's Officers

Harrol R. Smith, manager of the Beverly Hills office of the Bank of Italy National Trust and Savings Association, last night was elected president of the Los Angeles chapter, American Institute of Banking, a division of the American Bankers' Association. He succeeds C. E. Lones.

Other officers elected include Russel C. Lemmon, assistant cashier of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank, vice-president, and Roger W. Haglund of the Citizens' National Trust and Savings Bank, second vice-president. Six members were also elected to the board of governors.

The membership of the Los Angeles chapter of the American Institute of Banking is second only to the New York City chapter.

PENICK & FORD TO RETIRE PREFERRED

NEW YORK, May 16. (Exclusive) Directors of Penick & Ford, Ltd., have voted to redeem on July 1, next, 6000 shares of preferred stock or 30 per cent of the present outstanding issue. Holders of record the 28th inst. will be entitled to have half of their stock redeemed. The company announced a correction of record dates of quarterly dividends declared a few weeks ago. The preferred dividend will be paid to holders of record the 28th inst., instead of June 13 and common to holders of record June 3 instead of June 5.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, May 16. (AP)—Cotton was generally higher today on reiterated complaints of excessive rain in western belt sections and unfavorable crop advices from Texas and some central belt sections.

New crop months led the advance, but some additional May business were probably stopped on a moderate early decline and trading in the near months was comparatively quiet later, with prices showing rallies in sympathy with the new crop advance. The midafternoon market was quiet but steady at net advances of about 10 to 23 points.

NEW OIL FINANCING SLATED

Signal Oil and Gas Takes Preliminary Step; Meeting of Stockholders Called to Waive Preferential Rights

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Signal Oil and Gas will probably be the next California oil company to enter into long-term financing. This company has called a special meeting of stockholders for the 26th inst. to amend the articles of incorporation to permit the issuance of new stock without first offering stockholders the right to subscribe.

Like other oil companies recently undertaking long-term financing, it is likely that the projected Signal Oil and Gas issue will take the form of convertible debentures. This is inferred in the announcement, which points out that other oil companies, in issuing convertible bonds, have similarly asked stockholders to waive preferential rights to new stock.

TERMS NOT FIXED

The amount of the Signal Oil issue is not stated in the letter to stockholders, and officers of the company said yesterday that nothing definite has been decided. The management, it was explained, believes this is a suitable time in the bond market to sell a convertible bond issue but is only taking preliminary steps.

Union Oil of California and the Royal Dutch Company sold debenture issues in March, both with stock purchase warrants, the former issue totaling $15,000,000 of 4s and the latter $40,000,000 of 4s. In the same month, however, Pure Oil Company issued $20,000,000 of 5½ per cent gold notes and in April the Sinclair Oil Company sold $12,000,000 of 6 per cent cumulative preferred. Neither carried common stock privileges.

Negotiations apparently are still on between the Rio Grande Oil Company and a banking group for the underwriting of long-term financing. Preliminary discussions indicates a convertible debenture issue of about $7,500,000, but more recent reports have suggested the possibility of a revision in the terms of the proposed issue.

EXPANSION PLANNED

In considering long-term financing, Signal Oil and Gas is concerned primarily, according to the management, with providing itself with new capital on advantageous terms to finance possible expansion. The expansion is expected to take place in the Elwood field and in the Big Lake district in Texas, where the company already has holdings. Some of the proceeds probably would go for reimbursement of expenditures already made in the two fields.

Preliminary to new financing, the Union Oil and the Rio Grande companies recently obtained permission from stockholders to eliminate the preferential right of stockholders to new stock. Experience has shown that stockholders seldom exercise rights to subscribe to bond issues and banking houses are not especially anxious to negotiate for issues to which stockholders have the first right. The size of the commitment is not definitely known until the rights expire and the uncertainties of the market may materially change the status of the financing in the interval.

Waiving the preferential rights to new stock does not prevent companies from offering stockholders rights to future issues of common stock.

Industrial Unit Calls Meeting

To consider the organization of a Pacific Coast chapter of the National Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel, Inc., a conference of the Pacific Coast scrap-iron industry will be held at the Biltmore on the 20th and 21st inst. Benjamin Schwartz, director-general of the national institute, with headquarters in New York, will be the principal speaker at the banquet which will close the conference Wednesday evening, next.

The Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel represents, according to the announcement of the conference, approximately 90 per cent of the tonnage handled by the scrap-iron industry through the United States. Twelve chapters are active.

HUGHES LIVE STOCK COMPANY FORMED

Formation of the Hughes Live Stock Company, Ltd., was announced yesterday by W. S. Witten, superintendent of the Los Angeles Union Stock Yards. In addition to Mr. Witten, other well-known Los Angeles men on the directorate are R. T. Hughes, who will be president; Harry Fabian, P. W. Hall, R. J. Clark and E. L. Abrahamson. The company has contracted for the purchase of 30,000 acres in the San Joaquin Valley, where it is planned to raise sheep and baby beef for the Los Angeles market. Mr. Hughes has specialized in raising live stock in Texas and California.

LATHAM ON BOARD OF INVESTMENT BANK

Directors of the Pacific Company yesterday elected Dana Latham a director and a member of the company's executive committee. Mr. Latham is assistant to Lee A. Phillips, chairman and president of the Pacific Finance Corporation, and president of Pacific Indemnity Company and Pacific American Fire Insurance Company.

ANALYSIS ISSUED

Graves, Banning & Co., members of the New York and Los Angeles Stock exchanges, has just prepared for distribution an analysis of Columbia Pictures Corporation in which 1930 estimated net profits are given at $1,250,000, equal to $7.83 a share on the outstanding common stock after preferred dividends.

WHAT'S BEHIND YOUR STOCK

TIDE WATER ASSOCIATED OIL

Associated Oil's properties and reserves of crude are extensive on the West Coast while Tide Water Oil's interests are in the mid-continent and eastern fields. Refineries are on the California coast and in New Jersey. Both subsidiaries have extensive transportation and distribution facilities.

"Tydol" gasoline, produced by Tide Water Oil, enjoys extensive sales on the Atlantic seaboard as well as abroad. "Veedol" lubricating oils are known and distributed internationally as well as within the confines of the United States.

Associated Oil's operations include numerous service station and distribution depots on the West Coast and extend into the island possession of Hawaii and the Philippines.

While gross sales were reported as larger for each quarter of 1929 than for comparable periods in 1928, net income was reduced by relatively unfavorable results in producing division and gasoline price war on the Pacific Coast. However, an improvement in net over corresponding period of previous year was shown in each of last two quarters of 1929. Net income for 1929 amounted to $14,000,000, or $1.73 a common share against $14,132,000, or $2.01 a common shares for 1928, after preferred requirements.

Court Acts in Celotex Suit

WILMINGTON, May 16. (Exclusive)—Application for a receiver for the Celotex Company was dismissed by Chancery Court this morning. The motion for dismissal of the application was made by counsel for David Adler, who recently filed a receivership bill against the company. Counsel for Adler and the company are to agree on an early date for a hearing on the application for a permanent receiver, which still remains to be disposed of.

Wilmington counsel for Celotex wanted an immediate hearing on the merits of the entire case but the court said that under rules it would have to grant the motion for dismissal of the application for receiver "pendente lite."

Hilty Long With Security-First

James C. Hilty, assistant cashier, Security-First National Bank, today celebrates the passing of a quarter century in the service of that institution. In 1905 he entered the bank as a bookkeeper, his first position in the banking profession. Previously he had been employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Westmoreland Coal Company in Irwin, Pa., where he was born and raised.

Through consistent advancement in the various departments of the bank, Mr. Hilty became assistant treasurer and finally was elected assistant cashier. He is a Thirty-second Degree Mason, an Elk, and member of the Al Malaikah Shrine.

WOOL MART SENTIMENT IMPROVING

Tone of Domestic Trade Aided by Strong Opening of Foreign Auctions

BOSTON, May 16. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin of Boston will say tomorrow:

With the strong opening of the London colonial wool auctions and firmer prices in Australia, the domestic wool trade is inclined to view the future with more optimism, especially in view of the action of the American Woolen Company in advancing prices on certain important numbers.

Prices in the local market, however, have shown little change for the week. Efforts to advance prices have met with the stiffest resistance from manufacturers generally, some of whom are considering the advisability of closing their plants for the time being. On the other hand, efforts of mills to buy wools for less money have failed. Altogether, the domestic situation is still considerably mixed, with the tariff deadlock adding another feature of uncertainty.

In the West, there is a steady buying movement for the most part. Prices have been somewhat irregular, being higher in certain localities and lower in others. Dealers have secured, it is estimated, close to 80,000,000 pounds, while the cooperatives claim 70,000,000. The Ohio co-operative finally has decided to withdraw from the National Wool Market Corporation. It handled about 4,000,000 pounds last year.

Mohair is still slow with prices hardly changed for the week.

The rail and water shipments of wool from Boston from January 1, 1930, to May 15, 1930, inclusive, were 50,708,000 pounds, against 60,851,000 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts from January 1, 1930, to May 15, 1930, inclusive, were 79,803,900 pounds, against 78,735,886 pounds for the same period last year.

The Bulletin will publish the following quotations:

PETROLEUM RECTIFIER NET STEADY

Crude Oil Process Unit First Quarter Earnings Equal Last Year's

Consolidated net profits of the Petroleum Rectifying Corporation and subsidiaries for the quarter closed March 31, last, amounted to $88,613 after all charges including reserves for depreciation and Federal income taxes, equal to approximately 74 cents a share on the outstanding capital stock, D. C. Norcross, president, announced yesterday.

These earnings compare with $88,102 earned for the same period last year. Current dividends on the capital stock of the company are at the quarterly rate of 35 cents a share. Last December an extra dividend of 35 cents a share was paid.

Petroleum Rectifying Corporation was established in 1913 and is the owner and producer of special patented electrode process equipment for removing water from crude oil. This equipment is now in use by many leading petroleum companies. Byron Jackson Company holds a controlling interest in the company.

The net earnings for the quarter of $88,613 are at the annual rate of $354,452 or about $2.96 a share on the capital stock. Earnings for the full year of 1929 were reported at $387,968.62 equal to $3.23 a share, or two and one-third times the annual dividend requirements of $1.40 a share. The 1929 earnings were 26 per cent higher than those for 1928.

Rude on Security National Roster

Chester A. Rude, formerly vice-president and director of the Citizens' National Trust and Savings Bank, has been elected vice-president of the Security-First National Bank of Los Angeles, it was announced yesterday following a meeting of directors.

Mr. Rude is chairman of the credit practices committee of the California Bankers' Association and second vice-president of the Robert Morris Associates, the national organization of bank loaning officers. He has been associated with the Citizens' National for the past eight years having come to Los Angeles from the Federal Reserve Bank of Portland, Or.

SANE STOCK BUYING NEEDED

Earnings Power of Common Held Prime Factor in Gauging Values by Speculator

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

NEW YORK, May 16.—Stocks may rise or fall in the future as they have in the past, without any warrant, but sooner or later investors must awaken to the fact that the earning power of the common stocks cannot be disregarded.

This is the statement of Arnold W. Wetsel, president of the Wetsel Market Bureau, who asked this question: "Will the investing public ever return to the fact and consider the ratio of price to earnings as a prime factor in the purchase of common stock?"

"Bound to come again as it has before," says Mr. Wetsel. "What basic law of economics will justify a price for any stock of fifty, forty or even thirty times its earnings? Didn't we all fall for it in 1928 and 1929 without realizing it? It helped to build a structure with a sandy foundation, which had the greatest collapse in history."

Of course, one should understand clearly the difference between earnings and yields. Yield is the dividend rate, while earnings are net profits, only a portion of which go to stockholders' pockets in dividend checks.

The writer is familiar with one very shrewd investor who never buys a common stock which is selling at more than thirteen times its earnings on the market. And then he considers only stocks with long earning records behind them.

"Thirteen is my lucky number and I stay with it," was his crisp but wise comment, when I asked him the secret of his stock-market success.

Not all financial papers center their interest and activity in Wall street. The Financial Post of Toronto, which has the largest circulation of any financial paper in the Dominion, does not report the New York stock quotations at all.

Its owner, John Bayne MacLean, is to Canada what J. C. McGraw of McGraw-Hill & Co. is to the United States. He is the owner of more than a dozen trade magazines, as well as MacLean's Magazine—a popular weekly.

"We do not include the New York Stock Exchange quotations, not because we are not interested, but because we are specializing in the Canadian field. We are home specialists, and the business news of Canada gives us plenty to cover," said Mr. MacLean to me in discussing the subject.

Editor MacLean does not believe in trimming his sales to meet American business life. Canada keeps him busy.

"Canada—a world of limitless opportunity" is the way he expressed it.

Brokers' loans are down almost to the $4,000,000,000 mark—or exactly $2,797,000,000 under the peak reached six months ago.

Where does this reduction come from? Very largely the shrinkage is in "bootleg" loan account.

On October 9, last, loans for the account for others," (often called "bootleg" loans) totaled $3,941,000,000. The last report showed them down to $1,320,000,000—a drop of $2,621,000,000—almost the total shrinkage reported.

This money has been withdrawn from the market for two reasons. The call rate has gone down to 3 per cent or less, as against 6 to 10 per cent six months ago, and the money has been put into bonds, stocks and other securities.

So, while "bootleg" loans have been dropping rapidly, the slack has been taken up largely by the New York banks themselves. This was to be expected.

So the credit situation in Wall street is adjusting itself very rapidly.

Dun Reports Trade Trend as Irregular

NEW YORK, May 16. (AP)—Dun's review tomorrow will say:

With the month of May more than half over, the course of business remains highly uneven and without really decisive trend, as a whole. Gains and recessions in activity are interspersed in more than usual measure, the fall of commodity prices has not been definitely arrested, adjustments in production continue, and there are also evidences of the operation of other forces which are natural to a period of economic change. The present experience has demonstrated anew the importance of the time element in a process of commercial transition, and there is a more general recognition now of the fact that a rapid recovery was scarcely to be expected, following a severe and far-reaching setback.

Disappointment over the results in various quarters this spring is tempered by the knowledge that the marked tension caused by last autumn's speculative collapse has been relieved, and that the movement toward rehabilitation is under way. After an era of great expansion, with maximum records attained in many fields of enterprise, the subsequent reversal was the more pronounced, and it would not be logical to anticipate a quick rebound from widespread unsettlement. Allowance for these points is essential in appraising the existing situation, with its irregularities and sharply contrasting tendencies and the absence of a broad advance.

Weekly bank clearings, $10,134,700,000, a decrease of 17 per cent from a year ago.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Stock Market Moves Within Narrow Limits as Local Traders Await Developments

Small irregular fluctuations marked trading yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange as traders manifested a disposition to stay out of the market for the time being. The volume of transactions was the smallest in many weeks and reflected the apprehensive undertone arising, in part, from a cut in Pennsylvania crude oil prices and the possibility that a 100 per cent agreement to curtail production at Santa Fe Springs and Signal Hill would not be reached.

Douglas Aircraft attracted considerable speculative interest as the activity in this issue was suddenly revived. The stock sharply advanced 1 3-4 points to 21 3-4 and ended at 21, up a point net on sales of 1600 shares. Transamerica, while trading in a relatively light manner, still headed the volume of the market with a turnover of 2300 shares. The stock firmed up 1-2 to 44 1-2.

Standard Oil of California held with a narrow range and on the final transaction dropped off 1-4 to 70 1-4, down 1-4 net. Rio Grande sold actively to yield 1-4 to 21 3-8 and Pacific Western fell off 3-4 to 17 1-4. Richfield dipped fractionally, while both Union Oil and Union Associates held to steady levels on very light sales.

Southern California Edison showed a fractional improvement toward the close adding 3-8 net to end at 67 1-8. Pacific Public Service, recently inactive, dipped 1-4 to 32 1-4. Pacific Finance was a soft spot falling off 7-8 to 36 1-8.

Western Air Express, among the inactives, stood out with an advance of 1 point to 39 and Taylor Milling shot up 1 1-4 to mark a new top for the year at 30. Commercial Discount sunk 5 points to 20.

Sales totaled 13,404 shares valued at $500,361; previous day, 15,247 shares valued at $703,807.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, May 16. (AP)—The curb market was again purely a professional trading affair today. There was some bidding up of the utilities, and United Light A developing marked buoyancy, but oils ran into moderate selling, and industrials and specialties were dull and irregular. Total sales only moderately exceeded 500,000 shares.

United Light A took the market by surprise with a sudden spurt of more than 6 points to 84¾, within a point of its peak. The stock has been drifting along rather quietly, since its run-up some weeks ago on announcement of a natural gas distributing project. The stock has been under fairly steady accumulation, however, and the floating supply is believed to have been substantially curtailed.

Natural Fuel Gas also was a strong spot, surging up 3 points to a new high at 40¾, then losing most of its gain. Columbia Oil dropped 1¾ points to a new low at 11¼, then rallied to 12. This evidently reflected disappointment that the United Corporation exchange offer for Columbia Gas was announced as after deduction of the dividend of Columbia Oil shares of Columbia Gas stockholders. Gulf lost 3 points, and Humble a point, but Cities Service rose ¼ in heavy trading. A further cut in Pennsylvania crude prices, and continued disagreement among Santa Fe Springs producers in California were evidently adverse psychological factors.

The aviation issues turned quiet and irregular. Curtiss Air Chute was a firm and active spot, and Detroit Aircraft rose fractionally.

The opening price is omitted when same as the last. Both low and close when same as the high.

"TIMES" THEATER GUIDE

MOTION PICTURES

Boulevard, Washington at Vermont—"Kiss of Jazz." Paul Whiteman and his music are only some of the attractions of this super-revue.

Carthay Circle, Carthay Center—"All Quiet on the Western Front." A mighty drama of war and its effect. This is one which should be missed.

Chinese, 6925 Hollywood—"Song of My Heart." John McCormack and his Irish tenor cast their spell around this Irish sentimental tale.

Criterion, 642 South Grand—"The Divorcee." A daring and well-defined exposition of the modern problem in which Norma Shearer gives one of the finest performances.

Fiesta, Fla. at Santa Barbara—"Rio Rita."

Filmarte, 1228 Vine—"Tartuffe, the Hypocrite." Reviewed in today's Times.

Forum, Pico at Norton—"Her Couldn't Say No." Winnie Lightner introduces a bit of acrobatics into a robust comedy.

Grauman's Egyptian, 6708 Hollywood Boulevard—"Young Eagles." Another romance of the air with Charles Rogers and Jean Arthur.

Loew's, State, Broadway at Seventh—"Lady of Scandal." Nice talk among the high society upper set, with Lady Ruth Chatterton.

Million Dollar, Broadway at Third—"Young Eagles."

Palace, Broadway bet. 9th and 10th—"Hello, Sister." Colorful musical comedy from the popular musical comedy co-starring Pete Daniels and John Boles.

Paramount, Hill at Sixth—"Young Man of Manhattan." Love versus business. The business is the theme of, this film, with comedy a feature.

Rita, Wilshire at La Brea—"Young Eagles." Aerially reminiscent of "Wings," and again featuring Charles Rogers.

U.S.C., Hill at Eighth—"Lovin' the Ladies." Richard Dix plays an electrician who, by the gust of a novel wager about love.

R.K.O. Orpheum, Broadway at Ninth—"Cocktail." Opens today.

Tower, 7th at Eighth—"Hold Everything." A rough and tumble comedy of the ring, battled by Winnie Lightner and Joe Brown.

United Artists, Bdwy. nr. 9th—"The Bad One." Dolores Del Rio in her first talkie is reminiscent of Charmaine. Edmund Lowe is her smarting partner.

Uptown, Western at Tenth—"Montana Moon."

Warners' Downtown, Hill at Seventh—"The Second Floor Mystery." Reviewed in today's Times.

Warners' Hollywood, Hollywood Blvd. at Wilcox—"Courage." An unusually sympathetic tale of mother love is feelingly interpreted by Belle Bennett and Lewis Jahnel.

Westlake, 632 Alvarado—"Montana Moon." The west is brought up to date with syncopating Highlights with Joan Crawford.

STAGE

Belasco, Hill at Eleventh—"The Criminal Code," a remarkable bit of dramatic artistry, beautifully portrayed by a cast headed by Arthur Byron.

Biltmore, Fifth and Grand—"Strictly Dishonorable." A New York success about Bohemian romance, which may or may not prove disappointing. Starring Margaret Perry.

El Capitan, Hollyw'd Blvd. nr. Highland—"Brothers." Reviewed in today's Times.

Hollywood Playhouse, 1735 Vine—"The Gorilla." This perennial thriller is back again, with a new cast headed by familiar Clifford Dempsey and Frank McCormack.

Majestic, Bdwy. nr. 9th—"The Student Prince." This favorite combination of a mythical kingdom set to music is given an elaborate revival. With Allan Prior.

Mason, Bdwy. nr. 1st—"Rah Rah Daze." Waring's Pennsylvanians entertain with their well-known music and the show is quite fair. Dorothy Lee, Evelyn Hair and others are capable.

Maxie Box, 6126 Hollywood Blvd.—"Goin' Home." A fine stirring drama of a negro in a white man's world and featuring Robert Ordfin.

Philharmonic, 5th and Olive—Mei Lan Fang, China's greatest actor in delicate depiction of famed women.

President, Bdwy. at 9th—"The Ring Ghost." Ghosts and spooks at midnight call for strenuous acrobatics by a cast headed by Bernie Elliott.

Vine-street, 1615 Vine—"The Questionable Blame." Moments of comedy are interminized with a young girl's quest for a soul. May Hammond is the lady.

VARIETIES

Follies, 4th and Main—Burlesque.

WIDOW OF DRY AGENT GIVEN JOB

Civil Service Rules Set Aside by President for Murdered Officer's Family

WASHINGTON, May 18. (AP)—Civil service regulations have been waived to permit the appointment as a government clerk of Mrs. Helen Hall York, whose husband, a prohibition agent, was killed on duty a little more than a month ago.

President Hoover last night issued an executive order to permit Mrs. York to become a "clerk in the classified service of the Treasury Department without compliance with the requirements of the civil service rules."

The order related that she is the widow of "Prohibition Agent Lamar W. York, who met his death in the performance of his official duties at Washington, D. C., on April 12, 1930, leaving Mrs. York with three small children and without adequate means of support."

Novelist's Body to be Cremated in Paris Today

PARIS, May 18. (AP)—The body of William J. Locke, British novelist, who died at his flat here last night, will be cremated tomorow at Pere La Falaise Cemetery in conformity with his last wish.

The ashes will be taken to England, where funeral services will be conducted Tuesday at Saint Martin's in the Field Church, London.

New York Not Satisfied With Miller Identity

ALBANY (N. Y.) May 16. (AP)—Acting Governor Lehmann denied the request for extradition to California of Morrie Miller, or Moll, for trial on a robbery charge on the ground that sufficient identification of the man was not made by California and also because New York is not satisfied with evidence tending to place him at the scene at the time of the crime was committed seven years ago.

Miller was given a hearing before the acting Governor yesterday. Samuel I. Rosenman, counsel to the Governor, said the executive was dissatisfied because of the nonappearance of witnesses from Los Angeles, where the robbery occurred.

Ex-Attorney in Plea for Return to Competency

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16. (AP)—Charles L. McEnerney, former San Francisco attorney declared incompetent at the request of his wife in 1926, today appeared before Superior Judge Graham here and asked to be restored to competency. A hearing was set for the 29th inst.

At the time he was declared incompetent it was asserted that his estate, had allowed the estate of John Quinn, Reno hotelman and sportsman, comprising the Palace Hotel in Reno and Nevada farm lands, to drop in value from $100,000 to $437.

McEnerney was committed to the Agnew State Hospital for the Insane and released from there in March, 1928.

Raided "Beer" Store Fills Up on Same Stock

CHICAGO, May 16. (AP)—Stocks of the Grein and Pahls malt and hops store, from which the government seized all materials that could be used for making home brew, are being replenished with brew, are paraphernalia and materials today.

The raid on the store, followed the recent United States Supreme Court decision, which held sale of such material to be in violation of the prohibition laws.

Joe Grein, who with his partner, J. Pahls, and two employees, was arrested, said the store is being restocked on advice of attorneys.

CITY NEWS—EDITORIAL

WATER BOND BENEFITS

Benefits to be derived from approval of the $38,800,000 water bond issue in next Tuesday's special municipal election will not be confined to the expansion, greater security and improvement of the city's water supply, nor will all such community profits await completion of any portion of the main project.

The advantages to the city as a whole will be extensive and immediate; for virtually all of the nearly $20,000,000 to be expended for construction of tunnels, dams, distributing systems, reservoirs and incidental works will be paid to Los Angeles workers, Los Angeles industries and Los Angeles merchants.

If any grave question existed as to the actual need for the bond issue itself, the incidental benefits to be derived from its adoption could not, of course, be properly considered as a valid argument for the proposition. Such a question, in the opinion of The Times, does not exist.

The immediate and nation-wide response of great public and private agencies to President Hoover's appeal for undiminished, even accelerated, business, manufacturing and industrial activity at this time undoubtedly prevented an artificial depression as a consequence of the stock market crash. Continued adherence to the policies advocated by the President will further add to stability of wage scales, to production and to supply and demand.

It is estimated that the work contemplated in the $38,800,000 bond issue program will be completed approximately within three years, thus requiring an average expenditure of nearly $7,000,000 annually for wages and materials in this area.

Prosperity is not a condition that is exclusive to any class or group. It may apply with more immediate force to those directly in contact with its origin, but eventually it reaches to all. Unquestionably, the business and industrial well-being of Los Angeles does not have to depend upon any single factor, such as the proposed water bond issue, for security and development, but the large expenditures made possible by victory for the bonds will materially add to the substantial character of the community's business conditions.

It is estimated that $16,000,000 will be expended for labor in the water expansion program. Of this sum, $12,000,000 will be paid to those engaged directly on construction work and approximately $4,000,000 will go to workers engaged in fabricating and producing local materials needed on the various engineering jobs.

For a period of three years, at least, more than 3000 persons will find employment in a great construction program if the bonds are voted. Local mills and manufactories will find a larger market for their products and every aspect of mercantile and industrial endeavor here will participate in this addition to our prosperity.

SUCH ADVANTAGES, AND MANY MORE NOT LISTED HERE, ARE APART FROM AND IN ADDITION TO THE LARGER AND MORE PERMANENT BENEFITS WHICH APPROVAL OF THE BOND ISSUE WILL BRING TO THE GREAT MASS OF LOS ANGELES CITIZENS AND TAXPAYERS.

Those who pay taxes, those whose combined and collective action determines the scope and destiny of the community, have a fundamental interest which transcends all other considerations. It is in furtherance of this basic civic interest that The Times is presenting, point by point, the facts connected with the city's water situation.

Tomorrow's article will deal with the water bonds' specific benefits to the individual citizen of Los Angeles.

LEWIS DENIES FAVORITISM

Bribery Defendant Studies Case at Law Office and Takes Meals Outside of Jail

S. C. Lewis, former president of the Julian Petroleum Corporation, now here from McNeil Island prison, where he is serving a term for mail fraud, to be tried on a charge of jury bribery, yesterday denied published accounts if irregularities in his comings and goings from the County Jail, where he is confined at nights.

Joining with Lewis in his denials that his conduct and habits since arriving here have been in any way out of order or against regulations, both Prison Guard Herman Le Proham and Deputy United States Marshal Miller yesterday afternoon declared that the former oil company head has been treated just as any other Federal prisoner would be under like conditions.

LEWIS EXPLAINS

"I have been charged with about everything under the sun already," declared Lewis last night, "and this new charge made by a newspaper, that I have been allowed to do things by my guards that have been irregular, comes only as another indication that the same old gang is still after me.

"At present I am a Federal prisoner and am attempting to serve my sentence for mail fraud. I was brought here for trial in the jury bribery case against my will, and only after I had fought against it in court and lost.

"It would seem now that for some reason unknown to me it is the wish of various persons that I be denied the right to prepare a defense to the charge. In attempting to have the authorities take away this right my guards have been attacked and lied about with the apparent hope that the government will order me confined in the County Jail at all times and not taken to various law offices where I can get ready to fight the charges against me.

HIS OWN LAWYER

"I am now a poor man and unable to hire attorneys. I must act as my own counsel and therefore must get to law books and have a place to work if I am to have any defense to the charges against me."

Lewis also explained that he called at the home of Mrs. Hamma Robinson, at 458 South Columbia street, only three times. He declared that on the first occasion he went there for some of his personal papers;

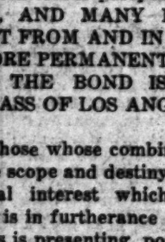
EXPORTERS ADVISED TO TRY FRANCE

Foreign Trade Delegate Says Conditions in That Country Invite Business

France at this time offers exceptionally attractive opportunities to American exporters, according to F. W. Allport, commercial attache of Paris who, with several other experts of the Department of Commerce, has been assigned to attend the national foreign trade convention opening here Wednesday.



F.W. ALLPORT

"Labor shortage in France has given rise to a demand for labor-saving devices not only in the offices, factories and in the fields, but also in the home," said Mr. Allport. "The country is entering an era of great prosperity."

Because of the excellent domestic economic situation during 1929, French foreign trade changed greatly from the preceding years, Mr. Allport pointed out. Local demands during 1929 attained such volume that in spite of capacity operation in nearly all industries imports of commodities increased 25 per cent by weight and more than 9 per cent by value over 1928. The average productive output now is nearly 40 per cent greater than the prewar level, he said.

HONORS EQUAL IN USURY TRIAL

Prosecution and Defense in Minor Victories

Stewart Admits Signatures on Pool Agreement

Flint Not Forced to Answer Queries on Deal

Prosecution and defense both claimed victories yesterday in Superior Judge Aggeler's court at the trial of seventeen men charged with conspiracy to commit usury in the Julian stock pools.

Special Prosecutor Stafford and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Crail, in charge of the prosecution, held their advantage was gained in testimony elicited from Lee L. Stewart, once a clerk for A. C. Wagy & Co., former stock concern controlled by S. C. Lewis, president of the Julian Petroleum Corporation.

SIGNATURES ACKNOWLEDGED

Stewart declared that signatures appearing on various photographic copies of documents were facsimiles of his own and those of R. M. Reese, president of the Wagy company. The prosecution, unable to produce the original stock pool agreements in court, is trying to have the copies identified as true copies of the originals.

Defense lawyers gained at least a temporary advantage when objections were sustained for the time being to further questioning of Attorney William R. Flint. Flint is a relative and one of three executors of the estate of the late Senator Frank P. Flint, who had possession of the original pool agreements at the time of his death.

CLAIMS PRIVILEGE

When the witness took the stand he declined to answer questions of the prosecutors on the ground that he would be violating a confidence between attorney and client. There was considerable argument over the question of whether he could claim this privilege. He testified that another of the executors of the Flint estate is Henry S. MacKay, Jr., a defendant in the present case, and that he (Flint) had been MacKay's attorney for ten years.

Despite this, however, Judge Aggeler decided that Flint should answer a question as to whether Edythe E. Stocker was employed in the office of the legal firm of Flint & MacKay. The witness answered affirmatively. Miss Stocker is under subpoena by the prosecution. She was cited for contempt of court some days ago when she refused to answer before the grand jury when asked if her initials appeared on purported copies of the pool agreements.

QUESTIONS HELD UP

When the prosecution produced photographic copies of the purported pool agreements, though, the court ruled that Flint should not be forced to answer questions about them at that time and suggested that the prosecutors get further evidence as to how the originals were placed in the custody of the late Senator Flint, when he would decide whether the status of client and attorney existed at the time.

The first witness in the case yesterday morning was Clark Webster, United States postal inspector. Webster told of giving the original pool agreements to Senator Flint and identified a receipt for the documents that was given by Flint. U. S. Dist.-Atty. McNabb also took the stand to testify in relation to government activities on the pool agreements, but objections were sustained to most of the questions asked him. Both McNabb and Webster probably will be recalled to the stand Monday morning in a prosecution attempt to lay a foundation on which further testimony can be elicited from Attorney Flint.

Judges Attend Funeral Rites for Cumming

Brief funeral services were conducted yesterday for LaVerne Cummings, 29-year-old newspaper man, who died unexpectedly Monday of pneumonia. The last rites were said by Dr. Hugh K. Walker, Presbyterian minister, at the George Remington mortuary, 1707 South Flower street, and were attended by coworkers of the deceased, court judges and attorneys.

The body will be sent to the family home at Windsor, Ont., for interment.

CHANTERS TO SING

A special musical program will be given at the Elks Temple, West Sixth and Park View streets, tomorrow, at 4:30 p.m., when the No. 99 chanters and the women's chorus of the women's glee club of the University of Southern California will take part in the organ recital by Sibley G. Pease. The public is invited, without charge.

Aviatrix Taking Auto Ride Injured

Marjorie Crawford Attended by Jessie Kidder, Nurse

ONE of California's flying beauties, Miss Marjorie Crawford, has the opinion that automobiles are more dangerous than airplanes because she is "grounded" in bed for the next three weeks with a fractured right ankle incurred in a traffic accident last Saturday.

Attended by Miss Jessie Kidder, a special nurse, the girl flyer is recuperating at the Plaza Hotel in Hollywood while making plans for further aerial activities this summer.

LOS ANGELES AREA GIVEN LIGHT RAIN

Hollywood, Pasadena and Other Sections Visited; Clouds Promised Today

A low-pressure area, developing yesterday over Northern Arizona, resulted in a light rain that left .01 of an inch in the local United States Weather Bureau gauge shortly before dawn yesterday, bringing the season's total to 11.52 inches, as compared with 12.51 inches on the same date last year, and the normal on the same date of 14.90 inches.

No rain was forecast for today, but the weather men say it will be mostly cloudy, with moderate temperatures today and tomorrow.

The low-pressure spot, indicative of a storm, was not reported moving this way.

Hollywood, Pasadena and a few other near-by points reported light showers yesterday. Pasadena reports stated that the precipitation was .09 of an inch, making the season's total there 16.27 inches. Pasadena's normal on the same date is 15.88 inches. Last year on the same date the total was 15.70 inches.

KIN SHARE ESTATE OF McCLELLAN

Most of $500,000 Left to Widow and Baby Son by Late Supervisor

Reuben Frederick McClellan, for many years chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, left an estate of $500,000, most of which eventually will go to his widow, Mrs. Elma H. McClellan, 514 Walden Drive, Beverly Hills, and his infant son, according to his will, filed for probate yesterday.

Other beneficiaries include two brothers, Frank and Harry McClellan of Bellingham, Wash., each of whom will get $10,000; Mrs. Sarah Wheaton of Elk River, Minn., who will get $1000; Myrtle Wheaton, a niece, $2000, and Mrs. Minnie Smalley, private secretary, $1000. Nine nieces will get $1000 each. They are: Margaret and May Wheaton, Stella May Loring, Maude Spaulding, Pearl J. Olson, Blanche McClellan, Lila Switzler, Mrs. J. P. Cornett and Mrs. John Bullen.

Three minor trust funds of $25,000 each were left to Pauline B. McClellan, daughter-in-law; Grace Gertrude and Constance Jean McClellan, grand-daughters.

Mrs. McClellan, the widow, and her son, Reuben Frederick, Jr., 13 months of age, are residuary legatees. Attorneys Edwin T. Sherer and Welborn Mayock are attorneys of record, representing the estate.

MISSOURI PICNICS TODAY

Veterans of the Spanish-American War who served in the Second Missouri Regiment are called to attend the picnic today at Bixby Park, Long Beach, by the Missouri State Society.

STANDARD CUTS OIL QUOTATIONS

Holdout Producers Nullify Conservation Plans

Leader Slashes Crude Price More Than 50 Per Cent

Reduction Pertains Only to Santa Fe Springs

As a direct result of the failure of some of the operators of oil wells in the Santa Fe Springs field to agree yesterday to the conservation program which has been accepted by the operators in all the other fields in California, the Standard Oil Company announced last night that, beginning today, the price at which it offers to purchase oil will be reduced by more than 50 per cent. The price reductions range from 75 to 95 cents per barrel.

While no announcement was forthcoming last night from any of the other large oil companies, in the past it has been customary for them to follow any price movements begun by the Standard.

In explaining its action, the Standard based it directly upon the abortive result yesterday of a conference held here for the purpose of bringing the Santa Fe Springs and Signal Hill fields into line with the State conservation program.

STANDARD'S LOGIC

"Conditions in Santa Fe Springs," it was asserted in the statement issued by the company, "do not justify the offering of a price which will encourage overproduction. In taking its action Standard is maintaining its established policy of currently offering producers such prices for crude oil as conditions warrant.

"The operators of Santa Fe Springs failed to agree today on the conservation program which has been accepted by the operators in all the fields in California. This failure to agree places in jeopardy the entire conservation movement in California.

"No change has been made in the prices offered by Standard in other fields in California."

DELAYS AT END

The meeting of the State-wide general committee, which has been in progress here adjourned permanently yesterday after it had refused to grant further extensions of time to operators charged with producing more than their allowable share under the conservation program.

Yesterday's final session held in the offices of the California Oil and Gas Association was to receive "deadline" reports from Hooper C. Dunbar, chairman of the Santa Fe Springs operators' committee, and A. T. Jergins, representing the Signal Hill field. They had been given until 10 a.m. yesterday to report the situation of their respective fields.

POSITIONS EXPLAINED

Mr. Dunbar reported to the general committee that Santa Fe Springs as a whole favors continued oil curtailment, but because of the refusal of two independent operators, he can see no possibility of favorable action from the few remaining companies still holding out. Mr. Jergins reported that with the exception of three operators, Signal Hill producers are in line to continue curtailing.

At Santa Fe Springs there are asserted to be four or five operators holding out, among them Wilshire, Oscar Howard, Getty, Mohawk and McKeon. Paul Getty explained last night that if he curtailed as much as he has been asked to do he would cut something like 30,000 barrels a day down to about 10,000 daily. Howard assertedly is opposed to curtailment.

It was emphatically announced by Paul Boggs that no other meetings are planned for the general committee and that yesterday's session was final in so far as further attempts to get the operators to agree to continue curtailing.

Creditor Brings Bankruptcy Suit

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed yesterday in the United States District Court against Asiatic Exploration, Inc., by Mildred Whitcomb, who listed a claim of $23,000, said to have been advanced during the last four years.

United States District Judge James appointed M. L. Rabbitt receiver for the company pending determination of the suit.

THREE KILLED IN TRAFFIC

Five Others Injured in Day's Auto Accidents and Two Arrested as Drunk Drivers

Deaths of five persons as the result of a collision between an automobile and a truck trailer early yesterday morning loomed as a possibility late yesterday as three of the surviving victims of the crash were given medical aid at General Hospital.

Two of the five occupants of the automobile, Mrs. Dorinie Turner, 58 years of age, of 5225 Harmony street, and Mrs. Agnes Ervin, 28, of 5237 Harmony street, died shortly after the accident. The other three who were given emergency treatment at Van Nuys Receiving Hospital and later transferred to the General Hospital in critical condition, are Mrs. Ervin's 2½-year-old daughter, Barbara, her husband, Marshall Ervin, 25, and Mrs. Annie Berry, mother-in-law.

The child was suffering from a fractured left leg, numerous severe lacerations and shock. The husband received a fractured thigh and had all his teeth knocked out. Mrs. Berry suffered possible internal injuries and a fractured pelvis.

Marshall Ervin was the driver of the automobile, according to police. The accident occurred at Riverside Drive and Vineland avenue. It is believed that Ervin cut diagonally behind the truck and crashed his car into the trailer before he saw the latter vehicle in the rear.

The truck was driven by Glen Francom of North Hollywood. He was not hurt, police stated. Inquests will be conducted at 9:30 a.m. today.

Crushed under the wheels of an automobile as it was being backed out of driveway, William Thomas Foss, 19 months of age, was injured fatally yesterday morning. The automobile, according to police, was driven by E. E. Burk of 7957 West Fourth street, in whose driveway the accident occurred. The child died at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital within a short time after the accident.

After his automobile had crashed into a Pacific Electric freight car at Santa Monica Boulevard and Highland avenue early yesterday morning, resulting in painful injuries to two women occupants, Walter D. Biggs, 29, film editor, of 8439 Sunset Boulevard, was ar-

COAST GUARD BOATS FIGHT HEAVY SEAS TO SAVE TRIO

The Coast Guard patrol boats last night were beating their way through heavy seas to the rescue of three men marooned on the lonely wind-swept Anacapa Island, ten miles southwest of Point Hueneme, Ventura county, where they were stranded when their power launch drifted away.

Officers at the Coast Guard base in San Pedro last night received a radio appeal from the radio compass station on Point Hueneme for the rescue of the stranded trio after two other men who were in the launch when it drifted away from the island were able to make a landing at the point. The guardians of the compass station reported the men are employees of the Roth Construction Company and were engaged in erecting a lighthouse on Anacapa Island. Two of the men, whose names are Johnson and Peterson, respectively, are carpenters and live in Los Angeles. The third man, whose name is unknown, lives in San Francisco, according to I. C. Roth, of the construction company.

Members of the coast guard say there is a lobster camp within a fe wmiles of the spot where the men are marooned and that there is bedding, food and water obtainable there.

The two patrol boats, the 253 under command of Boatswain Thomas Nolan, and the 260 under Chief Boa'n Mate Woodward, left San Pedro yesterday noon and shortly afterward re-

THEY warned me that I would be bored, but it didn't turn out that way. One of the most interesting days I have had for many years was commencement day at Berkeley.

I don't believe there is any university in the world with such an interesting and beautiful setting.

The commencement exercises were in the stadium, which looks in one direction out upon the Piedmont Hills; in the other direction out to the Golden Gate.

The president of the university, in the scarlet robes of his degree; the two cadet bands; purple, gold and green capes of the students with doctor's degrees . . . 2500 graduates in an endless serpentine marching up to get their diplomas . . . dark Hindu faces here and there in the line . . . Smiling little Japanese . . . blond Nordic young giants, who seemed to dominate the science section.

UNHONORED

It struck me as a pity we do not have caps and gowns with purple and gold capes to distinguish men honored for their learning in everyday life.

We recognize at sight the buttons and badges that are given to soldiers for killing people; why would not this be a better world if we had some way to recognize the scholars who by their self-denial and patience and effort have won high honors in the silent, uncheered battles of peace?

WAR SCIENTISTS

On this commencement day the first class of naval cadets was graduated into the Navy Reserve Officers' Corps—a line of snappy-looking navy ensigns. And with them a large company of students in army uniforms, graduated in the Army Reserve Corps.

The colonel of Gen. Hines's staff made a few remarks about army officers loving peace, but he did not point out the obvious fact: that war has become a science for university-trained minds. The day of the come-on-boys leader of soldiers has passed. It is the day of the war engineer.

The officer without a university education will be just as useful in the next war as a seamstress would be in an appendicitis operation.

A WARM-HEARTED WORLD

The comic papers tell us about the cocky young graduate who steps out from college to tell the world how to do. These young graduates struck me as going out to face the world—enhumbled and a little scared.

On the other hand, President Campbell—making his last address before his retirement—told them with some truth that they are not going into the cold, merciless world of twenty years ago. It is a warm and sympathetic world now.

WANTED—COLLEGE MEN

It is a world that believes in college men. It is hard to get a job even in a gasoline filling station without a university degree. This because the great corporations no longer hire gasoline sellers and tire pumpers; they hire future executives and start them in at gasoline stations. No one who wants to sell gasoline can get a job selling gasoline, as it were.

AN AWFUL RISK

The vast impersonal quality of this graduation impressed me. Two professors passed diplomas to the president, who passed them to the graduates without the

Robert Ridell Arrested by Police in Spokane

Jailed Woman Still Being Questioned Here

Two Men Hunted as Aides in $75,000 Deal

The arrest of Robert Ridell, sought as an accomplice in the theft of $75,000 worth of negotiable securities in Chicago during March, 1929, was announced last night by police who said the man has been apprehended at Spokane, Wash. The capture of Ridell followed the arrest here Thursday of Miss Hilda White, 26 years of age, after she had disposed of a part of the bonds with the subsequent recovery of all of them by the police.

Two additional men, Max Berman and Louis Arnold, named in a Chicago police bulletin as additional accomplices in the bond theft, are being sought by the police and their arrest is believed imminent. Police here think that Ridell is the man who manipulated the sale of the bonds through Miss White. He is said to have a long police record and has been known in Chicago as Arthur Hill. He also was arrested here in 1925 for forgery and bunko under the name of Edward Murray Lyons.

WOMAN HELD IN JAIL

Miss White, whose real name is said by police to be Marcia A. Rothchild, is held in the County Jail on suspicion of receiving stolen property. Though questioned repeatedly by detectives yesterday she insisted, they said, that she was merely acting as an agent for the man known as Ridell and did not know the bonds were stolen property.

First information which led to Miss White's arrest and recovery of the bonds was given to Chief of Detectives Stege of Chicago by officials of a local bank who cashed a coupon on one of the bonds and sent it to Chicago for clearance.

Chief Stege, checking on the transaction, learned that a woman named Marcia A. Rothchild was acting as an agent in the disposal of the bonds and wired this information to Capt. of Detectives Lynn of the local burglary squad.

Detectives Vannice and Lennen then found the man who had cashed the coupon. He stated he had purchased the bond from a local broker. The latter, said to be a reputable business man of many years good standing here, turned over $40,000 more of the bonds to the detectives. He declared he had traded $50,000 worth of industrial bonds for them as the result of answering a blind newspaper advertisement. The bonds, he said, according to the detectives, had been delivered to him by Miss White. He declared he had no idea the bonds had been stolen.

ARREST MADE

Thursday afternoon he was to meet Miss White by appointment on the mezzanine floor of a local hotel and there take over $25,000 more of the bonds. The appointment was kept with the detectives in hiding. Miss White appeared, they said, and when she was about to place the bonds in the hands of the broker, the detectives stepped up and took her into custody.

Neither the man who cashed the coupon nor the broker is being held.

Capt. Lynn declared that he believes further questioning of Miss White will lead to the recovery of the industrial bonds which the broker says he traded for the real estate bonds and the apprehension of Berman and Arnold.

The theft of the bonds from the office of the Chicago broker occurred March 28, last.

SPOKANE POLICE ARREST R. RIDDELL

SPOKANE, May 16. (AP)—Police today said they arrested R. Riddell, 29 years of age, alias Louis W. White, alias E. M. Lyon, in the belief that he is wanted by Chicago police for a $75,000 bond robbery. They think he is a member of the Bugs Moran gang.

VINEYARD SECTION GETS LIGHT RAIN

FRESNO, May 16.—Rain last night and early today brought a small amount of precipitation to the valley and Sierra regions.

Resulphuring of vineyards will forestall mildew in the vineyards, but will mean much additional work and considerable expense to the vineyardists. While the late rainfall was unexpected, it is not unusual in this locality, Weather Bureau records showing that the annual May precipitation averages .44 of an inch and that in some instances it has exceeded one inch.

TIDDEN BACK AT WORK

Fritz Tidden, publicity man for Clarence Brown, motion-picture director, was back at his desk at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studio yesterday following a long illness. Dr. William H. Branch performed two serious operations on Tidden at the Hollywood Hospital seven weeks ago, and yesterday permitted him to return to his work.

BANDIT HOLDS UP CASHIER IN POSTOFFICE BUILDING

A bandit lurking in the shadows of the hallways of the Federal Building at Temple and Main streets late yesterday afternoon held up F. L. Sherman, an assistant cashier for the Cudahy Packing Company, according to his report to the police. Sherman said that the bandit took $200 from him.

In his report Sherman said the bandit stepped behind him as he was walking up a stairway in the New High street entrance and pushing what he thought was a gun to his back, ordered him to proceed down a hallway until he came to dark corner. The thief then took the envelopes containing the money and ordered Sherman to face the wall for five minutes before giving the alarm.

Sherman reported the hold-up to a patrolman but a search of the building failed to reveal any trace of the bandit.

The packing company cashier told police that he had gone to the bank before entering the Federal Building and had with him $200 belonging to four employees of the company in addition to $300 of the company's money. He was unable to give any description of the bandit, saying the man forced him to walk in front and threatened to shoot if he looked back.

rested on suspicion of driving while intoxicated.

The two women, who were treated at the Dickey & Cass Emergency Hospital in Hollywood for numerous cuts and bruises, are Misses Maxine and Lucille Coonan of 1313 North Vista Way. Biggs also suffered head injuries, it was stated.

Officers Towne and Martin, who placed Biggs under arrest, reported that the film editor displayed signs of intoxication. Though his injuries prevented a complete test for sobriety the officers reported they booked Biggs on the felony charge because of the evidence at the scene of the accident, which indicated he was under the influence of liquor at the time.

DRIVER CAPTURED

Walter Pidgeon, motion-picture actor, narrowly escaped serious injury when an automobile driven by Fred R. Purstenberg, a hardware man of 2036 North Beechwood Drive, collided with his machine. The accident occurred at Sunset Boulevard and North Normandie avenue.

Pidgeon was thrown from the seat of his car to the sidewalk, escaping with lacerations and abrasions. Purstenberg also escaped with minor hurts. Both were treated at the Dickey & Cass Emergency Hospital. Their cars are said by police to be badly damaged. Pidgeon was driving a specially built car formerly owned by Paul Whiteman, orchestra leader.

Margaret Brown, 16, 14136 Kitteridge street, Van Nuys, with her sister and two friends was driving near Van Nuys and Valley Vista boulevards yesterday when a careening car struck their machine. They pursued and finally crowded the car to the roadside.

Officers Prichett and Bohanan of the Van Nuys station responded to her call and Albert W. Cecil, 40, and Edward M. Johnson, 32, were held for asserted drunken driving and Wright Act possession.

The show will be preceded by organ music and community singing at 7 o'clock. All Shriners and all members of their families may attend free, according to Potentate Fred J. Wadley, Jr.

PARACHUTE JUMPING TO BE DEMONSTRATED

Inaugurating a series of summer aerial programs at Grand Central Air Terminal, Glendale, Sunday will witness a demonstration of parachutes given by the Irvin Parachute Company in conjunction with the Curtiss-Wright Flying Service. Six times during the afternoon Eddie Schwerin will "bail out" at hourly intervals. A feature will be the parachute repacking, which is to take place in the terminal main lobby, so that the general public can see the extraordinary care taken in guaranteeing the safety of the jumper.

P.E. MUST PAY CRASH VERDICT

Appeals Tribunal Rules For Injured Expressman

Judgment For $12,500 Given in Superior Court

Accident Asserted to Have Injured His Spine

Judgment of the Superior Court against the Pacific Electric Railway in an action brought by Lester A. Wallace, an express messenger, for damages for injuries received in a collision between an express car and the rear end of a train on January 14, 1925, was affirmed yesterday by Division One, District Court of Appeal. Wallace was awarded $12,500 damages in the trial court.

The appeal was taken by the Pacific Electric and the American Railway Express Company.

COMPANY PLEA DENIED

It was contended that the two concerns jointly employed the messenger. The ultimate point in the contention as to joint employment, the opinion recites, "is that if the relationship of the defendants be either that of a partnership or joint adventure, then it must follow that the plaintiff is the joint employee of both defendants and limited to an award under the Workmen's Compensation Act."

It was decided that the two firms are neither partners nor joint adventurers, having no community of interest. The Appellate Court found that the express company is not a party aggrieved by the judgment and has no right of appeal from the judgment and its appeal was dismissed.

SPINE INJURED

In consideration of the amount of damages awarded, the court said that evidence was conflicting but that the court considered that the evidence as a whole was sufficient to support the amount of the verdict. The appellants held the award was excessive.

Wallace was 48 years of age at the time of the accident. He received injuries to his spinal column.

INSURANCE MAN TALKS ON BONDS

in Los Angeles has gone on record approving the water bonds and that not a single established organization is opposing them was disclosed yesterday by the records of the Citizens' Water Committee, in charge of the campaign in behalf of the bond issue.

Literally hundreds of district improvement and commercial groups from every section of Los Angeles have indorsed the bonds, by letters officially announcing formal action by the organizations.

TAXPAYERS INDORSE

Among groups yesterday to go on record for the water bonds was the Los Angeles unit of the California Taxpayers' Association. This organization, it was pointed out, has consistently opposed practically every bond issue brought up for consideration within the past three years. Its indorsement of the water bonds by a practically unanimous vote yesterday indicates the vital importance attached to the water measure, members stated.

Among the indorsements for the bonds on file with the Citizens' Committee was one classification of particular interest. This was a huge pile of letters from small-home owners and tradesmen of every part of the city. The fact that the bonds are repaid with interest from water sales is cited by these citizens as another good reason for being in favor of them.

COMMERCIAL BOARD INDORSES BONDS

Voting unanimously in favor of the water bonds, the board of trustees of the Commercial Board of Los Angeles yesterday requested every employing member of that organization to urge their employees to go to the polls on the 20th inst. and support the bonds.

ENGINEERS ADD VOICE TO WATER CHORUS

Passage of the water-bond issue is urged in a resolution adopted by the Los Angeles section of the American Association of Engineers. The resolution reads: "Los Angeles needs water and the plan for acquiring and conveying Mono Basin water to Los Angeles is entirely feasible and economical. It is the civic duty of every engineer in Los Angeles to actively support the water bonds at the election of May 20, 1930."

SPORTSMEN'S LEAGUE FAVORABLE TO ISSUE

A call to sportsmen of Southern California to support the water bonds was issued yesterday by Dr. M. E. Hoag, president of Los Angeles chapter, Izaak Walton League of America. At the same time he declared efforts are being made to modify the city ordinance that prohibits fishing and hunting at city lakes, so that it will not include those in the Mono Basin country.

Dr. Hoag said a report from Frank Barnes, chairman of the chapter's fresh-water fishing committee, indicated the Council will vote on an amendment next Tuesday that is intended to prohibit fishing in city lakes only south of San Fernando reservoir.

Members of the sportsmen's organization are behind the water bonds, Hoag declared. He stated the chapter has an enrollment of 500 members here. There are fifty chapters in Southern California, he pointed out.

ACTOR'S SON PAYS FINE ON TRAFFIC CHARGES

Carter De Haven, Jr., 18-year-old son of the actor, pleaded guilty yesterday in Traffic Court to charges of double parking, faulty headlights, ignoring a boulevard stop and failing to appear in court on the three charges, all of which have been filed since March 7, last. He paid the $10 fine imposed by Municipal Judge Bush.

Mexican to Seek New Fame in Sky

AERIAL ADVENTURERS MEET

Col. Fierro, Col. Goebel and Lieut. Bromley See Their New Planes for Hazardous Trips

Three of the men who intend to go adventuring in the air soon in separate attempts to link four of the world's major continents met yesterday at the Lockheed Aircraft plant where one of the ships is ready to fly and the other two are being rushed to completion.

Col. Roberto Fierro, 32-year-old director of Mexican civil aviation, one of the smallest men flyers in the world, arrived here yesterday to join the other two who plan long nonstop hops—Col. Arthur Goebel and Lieut. Harold Bromley.

The Mexican pilot expects to start his 10,538-mile program with a nonstop flight from Mexico City to Washington, retracing Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's good-will flight, then swing southward through Florida, Central and South America to Bahia, Brazil, and cut across 2000 miles of the South Atlantic to Dakar, Africa. He then will visit the major European capitals and end his flight in London.

Fierro's ship, a duplicate of the Lindbergh low-winged Sirius monoplane, will be ready to take to the air next Tuesday for Mexico City, it was announced by Carl Squier, general manager of the Burbank plane factory. Fierro is accompanied by Mechanic Cortez.

Goebel, a foot taller than Fierro, will start his hop from one of the cities on Fierro's itinerary—Paris, in an attempt to connect Paris with New York over the westward passage for the first time. He is having built a single-seat Sirius that will carry 700 gallons of gasoline. Fierro's ship will carry 440 gallons.

Bromley's plans will be the first of three to take to the air. The Tacoma (Wash.) pilot plans to take the Sirius on its maiden flight tomorrow and run it through two weeks of speed and load tests before leaving for Tacoma, the starting point for his planned 4777-mile nonstop flight to Tokio. His ship will have aboard 900 gallons of fuel. He will fly alone.

The three locally made craft will figure, if schedules of their pilots are carried out, in three of the most spectacular and dangerous long-distance flights on record.

All three ships are powered with 425-horsepower Wasp motors and are capable of cruising at speeds around 150 miles an hour.

LEWIS SPENDS NIGHTS IN JAIL

the next to complete plans for the care of his three children and the third to talk over certain testimony with Miss Lillian Robinson.

According to both Miller and Le Proham the prisoner has never been without one or both of them always present and both of the officers yesterday entered denials that any liquor ever featured any of the visits to the Robinson home or anywhere else.

"We brought Lewis here from McNeil Island under orders from the Attorney-General of the United States and Warden Archer," said Le Proham. "We have instructions to allow Lewis to leave the County Jail under guard to work on his defense," he continued. "This we have done and will continue to do unless orders come from the persons we are responsible to.

"The county of Los Angeles allows us $5 a day for Lewis's meals and they are not eaten in the County Jail. We can remain with Lewis in the law office where he is working on his case as long as it appears necessary and intend to give him every chance to complete his defense."

From Dist.-Atty. Fitts when notified of the charges which had been made against Lewis and his guards came only a brief statement to the effect that his office has absolutely no control over the custody of the prisoner.

In the meantime U.S. Atty. McNabb declared that he had taken the matter up with the Attorney-General's office in Washington, but at a late hour yesterday afternoon had not received any instructions from that office.

Publicity Agent Sues Lupe Velez

Lupe Velez, Mexican screen actress, was made defendant in a $13,000 damage suit filed yesterday by Harry D. Wilson, publicity agent, through his attorney, S. S. Hahn.

Wilson asserts that Miss Velez agreed (orally) to give him 5 per cent of her earnings, if he would get her a contract. He did so, he says, and she is to be paid $280,000 by Universal Pictures Corporation in three years, of which, he says, he should have $14,000. But Miss Velez already has paid him $1000, so this is deducted from his demand.

GANGSTERS FROM EAST UNITE HERE

Notorious New York and Chicago Crooks Believed to Have Joined Forces

Belief that members of two of the most notorious gangs in eastern crime annals have recently joined forces and are working in Los Angeles and vicinity was expressed yesterday by Capt. Stensland of the Sheriff's robbery and burglary detail.

Stensland stated that he has definite information that Tommy Phillips, former member of the Whitmore gang of New York, and two or three others are in hiding in or near Los Angeles. Information coming from various secret sources has led him to believe, Stensland said, that these men have joined activities here with Frederick Burke and August Winkler, sought by Chicago authorities for the St. Valentine's Day massacre there in 1929.

Burke, for whom a reward of $100,000 is offered by eastern authorities, and Winkler, are credited by officers with several recent diamond robberies in this section. Following publication of their pictures some time ago, several identifications of one or both were made by victims, according to Stensland.

Four Indicted by Federal Jury

Four persons were indicted in as many Federal grand-jury true bills returned yesterday. Carey S. Smith was twice indicted for impersonating a Federal officer, a charge on which he previously had been convicted. His bond was fixed at $3000 on each charge. Arthur Bryant was accused of receiving stolen government property.

James Chandler and Helen Anderson were accused of violation of the tariff act and of the national prohibition act.

DIRECTOR HELD FOR TRIAL

Emmet J. Flynn, film director, was held for Superior Court trial on drunk-driving charges by Municipal Judge Ballard yesterday. His bail was fixed at $500. Police Officer H. B. Workman was called as a witness. Police surgeons reported Flynn was intoxicated when examined.

IMPROVEMENTS REFORM URGED

City Council Offered Plan By Williams

Committee Hearings Urged to Lessen Work

Consideration of Proposal Due Tuesday

A new plan for handling public improvements in the City Council, a part of the general attention now being given special assessments, was proposed in the Council yesterday by Councilman Williams and referred jointly to the Public Works and Street Opening and Widening committees for consideration Tuesday.

An effort by Councilman Henning to have Williams's resolution and plan referred to the Special Assessments Committee, recently created, failed, it being pointed out that this committee is principally concerned with abandoning projects of little value and expediting important work.

PLAN HELD LEGAL

The Williams plan has received the approval of City Attorney Werner as to form and legality, it was stated by Assistant City Attorney Neal.

In the main, Williams's procedure ordinance calls for an ironing out of all difficulties connected with the proposed improvement before a committee, instead of before the Council as a whole.

Williams contends that the petition for the improvement, when filed, shall contain the certified names of owners of half the property in the proposed district; a description of the work; an estimate of costs; the boundaries; a map of the district, and the total amount of unpaid bonds and assessments on the district, together with an estimate of cost of improvements pending.

PROCEDURE OUTLINED

After checking by the City Engineer, the Board of Public Works shall file a report on the boundaries, costs, unpaid assessments and the assessed valuation of the land in the district.

Property owners are to be notified of a hearing before a Council committee thirty days prior to such hearing, when they may enter their protests. The committee, after approval of the project, passes it on to the Council, which may allocate funds, deny the petition, or order the work.

Film Man Gives Testimony in Selznick Case

Edward J. Montagne, scenarist for the Famous-Players-Lasky Corporation, was one of the principal witnesses yesterday in the trial of the $350,000 suit of David O. Selznick against the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank before Superior Judge Collier. The action is one brought to recover stock Selznick put up at the bank for collateral for a loan, which, he asserts, the bank refuses to return.

Montagne testified as to the approximate value of sixteen motion pictures the defendant bank is asserted to have taken from the Selznick organization.

Selznick is suing to recover 1000 shares of United Studios stock he values at $150,000. He holds that the dividends from the stock, while in the hands of the bank, have more than paid off the loan.

ASSERTED ROBBERY PARTNER FACES TRIAL

Ray Redcliffe, 23 years of age, asserted bandit partner of Pacifico Garcia, Filipino, now awaiting trial in Tia Juana on a charge of murdering a parking-station attendant, was held for trial on robbery charges under $20,000 bail by Municipal Judge Eagan yesterday. The case was Judge Eagan's first after he was sworn in as a judge of the Municipal Court by Presiding Judge Ambrose early yesterday. Redcliffe and Garcia held up Arthur Halliday, broker of 828 West Fifty-fifth street, at Fourth street and Beaudry avenue, on December 27, 1929, Halliday testified. They forced him to get out of his automobile, which they took, he said.

VALENTINO ESTATE FRAUD CHARGES OUST EXECUTOR

Mismanagement and fraud in the administration of the $1,000,000 estate of Rudolph Valentino, film actor, is asserted in charges against S. George Ullman, executor, made before Superior Judge Crail in probate court yesterday by Alberto Guglielmi and Maria Guglielmi, brother and sister of the deceased actor and chief beneficiaries under his will.

Judge Crail immediately suspended Ullman as executor pending a hearing on the charges, and it was stated that a petition for a special administrator will be filed as soon as possible. The petition for Ullman's removal was filed by the law firm of Scarborough, Bowen & Sumner.

Later a petition asking that the Bank of Italy be appointed special administrator of the estate, was filed by R. F. Stewart, trust officer of the bank. In the petition it was asserted that the Valentino estate had shrunk to $400,000, of which $125,000 is real estate. The petition will be heard in Probate Court at 3 p.m. Monday.

Specific charges against Ullman are that he loaned $50,000 of the estate's funds to an unnamed corporation without security, which loan is unpaid, that he loaned $40,000 more to an unnamed individual without security, this also being unpaid, and that he appropriated to his own use and benefit about $22,000 of estate money, the total loss, it is asserted, aggregating $112,000.

Furthermore, it is asserted that Ullman attempted a fraud by seeking to cancel the liability of his bond as executor in causing to be filed a suit against certain property of the estate. Other assertions are that Ullman has caused the estate to pay for improper experiments and research in a film corporation and to advance the salary of Ullman's personal secretary.

These financial drains have so impoverished the estate, it is asserted, that it is unable to pay off a $15,000 mortgage or to satisfy Federal income tax claims.

Ullman recently filed in probate court a partial accounting of his executorship, and asked the court to award him a cash allowance of $50,000 for work already done and to approve a weekly allowance of $750. This application still is pending.

Ullman said yesterday that the filing of the suit to compel his removal is ill-advised, "especially in view of the fact that there was no estate when Valentino died and all of the value has been created since that time." Mr. Ullman explained that the assets of the late actor consisted only of his pictures, and that the funds now in his care had been received from the showing of these pictures.

Mr. Ullman also said he had not been notified of the action of the court in suspending him as executor, but added that he believed it is the outcome of a dispute between the heirs as to whether the Rudolph Valentino Productions or the estate is the owner of the funds.

"RED" GRANGE ENGAGED AS NIGHT CLUB'S HOST

Harold (Red) Grange never did carry out his promise to return to the University of Illinois to complete his college course and get his diploma after his highly publicized tour as a professional football player, but he has lived to refute the charge that the only thing he learned at college was to carry a football and elude would-be tacklers.

First, it will be remembered, he became a motion-picture actor, and he was far from the worst actor in Hollywood. And next Wednesday night he will further demonstrate his versatility and the value of even an uncompleted college course by acting as master of ceremonies at the new Cotton Club, which opens that evening in Culver City.

Announcement to that effect was made yesterday by Frank Sebastian, impresario of the club, who said he has signed the former all-American pig-skin tote[illegible] establishe[illegible] the host [illegible] leading spirit [illegible] at the new club.

Bert White

PARACHUTE JUMPER TO CARRY FOOD

White Will Make Leap at Five-Mile Height While Over Palmdale Tomorrow

To step out of an airplane five miles above the earth is quite a step, even though there is a parachute strapped on to one, but that is what Bert White, parachute expert of the Irvin Air Chute Company, will do tomorrow in an attempt to set a world record parachute leap.

In a plane piloted by J. B. Alexander, he will take off from Metropolitan Airport at 2 p.m. and he expects to take leave of the plane somewhere over Palmdale when an altitude of approximately 26,000 feet has been reached.

His equipment will consist of the parachute, which will be tripped automatically to prevent the possibility of mishap through extreme cold or fainting in rarefied air, a sealed barograph to record the drop, oxygen equipment and three days' supply of food and water in case he should land in some desolate desert waste. Its total weight is sixty-five pounds. He also will wear a fur-lined flying suit.

The record which White hopes to shatter is for a jump of 24,402 feet, held since 1922 by Capt. A. W. Stevens, United States Air Corps, in a plunge made at McCook Field, Dayton, O.

Navy to Keep Memorial Day on Battleship

For the second time in the history of Los Angeles Harbor, Naval Memorial Day ceremonies will be conducted on board a first-line battleship, with various patriotic organizations participating. These services are to be held at 10 a.m., the 30th inst., under the auspices of Navy Post, No. 278, American Legion of Los Angeles, and Commander E. P. Wood Chapter, No. 2, Dewey Congressional Medal Men's Association of Sawtelle.

The Secretary of the Navy has designated the Idaho for the exercises.

The program will include naval band music, songs and a few short addresses. At noon during the firing of a twenty-one-gun salute floral offerings ot the naval dead will be cast on the waters from the decks of the Idaho and from a squadron of naval planes.

Last year similar services were conducted aboard the Maryland.

JOB STATUS FOR STATE IMPROVING

Admission of Fatal Blow Brought Into Evidence; Self-Defense Asserted

Indications of a definite improvement in the employment situation throughout the State within the next few weeks are reported in the monthly survey of the United States Employment Service of the Department of Labor, which was made public yesterday. While there is still a surplus of all classes of workers, particularly in the building trades, it was said, agricultural prospects are favorable and there soon will be a good demand for farm laborers.

In the Los Angeles district, which includes Long Beach, Santa Monica, Pasadena and Riverside, a slight improvement generally is noted in manufacturing plant operations. The most encouraging fact noted is that a factory identified merely as "a large motor plant at Long Beach" is operating on an overtime basis.

During the month of April employment conditions in the metal trades were reported as slightly better than in March, but a surplus of metal workers continues. While the building trades and the oil industry were listed as being in a dull state, the report calls attention to the fact that the city and county governments have several large construction projects under way, including a $2,500,000 viaduct and street tunnels to cost $690,000.

Attention was called also to the fact that building permits issued recently in this city include several apartment houses, some large stores, a fraternity house and office buildings.

DRIVER OF DEATH CAR CONVICTED

H. W. Steele Found Guilty of Manslaughter and Plea for Probation Allowed

Harry D. Steele was found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the death of Harry Buck in an automobile collision at Fifth street and Wilton Place, December 15, last, after a trial without a jury in Superior Judge Schmidt's court yesterday. He was acquitted of a charge of failing to stop and render aid. Mrs. Buck and a daughter and son in the car were injured.

Steele testified that he was struck behind the ear in the collision and did not remember what happened.

Judge Schmidt permitted him to apply for probation and set his hearing for June 5.

Bean Decision Likely Today

Three police captains are expected today to decide the fate of James Bean, suspended homicide squad captain charged with driving while intoxicated.

The Police Commission turned the matter over to Chief Steckel for a decision and Steckel in turn last night announced that he will consult the opinion of the three captains before making a decision.

Steckel refused to name the captains. They will go to the bottom of the charge, Steckel declared, and will make a full report to him.

Bean's suspension fouowed a traffic crash. The examining physician reported that he showed no indications of intoxication.

Lions Choose New Officers

The Lions' Club of Los Angeles elected officers for 1930-31 at the weekly luncheon in the Biltmore yesterday. Luther L. Mack was chosen president; W. E. Robbins, first vice-president; Dan Healy, second vice-president; Harry G. Stevens, perpetual secretary and treasurer; Charles Hoffman, sergeant-at-arms, and Charles Fricke, Clem Glass and W. M. Dressler, directors.

The speaker at the luncheon was Lee Shippey.

The Lions are making plans for their district convention in Stockton, the 22nd, 23rd and 24th inst. and a large delegation is expected to go from here.

HUSBAND LOSES TO JOHN BULL

Wife Said to Have Left Him Because of Her Love for Native Land

Love for Merry Old England was stronger in the heart of Mrs. Elizabeth Ellen Hannibal than was her love for her husband, Thomas John Sutcliffe Hannibal, although they had been married for thirty-nine years, according to the latter who went before Superior Judge Archbald yesterday and obtained a divorce.

Hannibal and his wife were married at Bradford, Yorkshire, Eng., December 11, 1887, and went to New York. She left him and her Long Island home December 1, 1926, and returned to England. She refuses to return to America, the husband declared.

GIRL NAMES PUGILIST AS ATTACKER

Police of Denver Asked to Arrest Eddie Mack on Complaint Made Here

Warrant for the arrest of Eddie Mack, contender for the lightweight boxing championship from Denver, on a charge of attacking a 16-year-old girl in a Los Angeles hotel was issued yesterday to Captain of Detectives Slaughter, head of the Crime Prevention Bureau.

EDDIE MACK

Mack is believed to be in Denver, and police there have been requested by Capt. Slaughter to take him into custody. Capt. Slaughter declined to disclose the name of the girl or reveal details of the asserted attack. He admitted that a complaint was issued by the District Attorney's office here at the request of the girl's parents. The attack was said to have occurred this year.

Mack, according to sporting records, is well known among the boxing fraternity. His career as a prize-fighter was featured by bouts here with Bud Taylor of San Diego and Joey Sangor.

POLICE SEEK WARRANT TO SERVE ON FIGHTER

DENVER, May 16. (AP)—Denver police today said they had been requested by Los Angeles authorities to arrest Eddie Mack, junior lightweight boxer.

The fighter's home is at Alamosa, Colo. He left his home today for Denver to answer the warrant. He had been in Alamosa since yesterday after a visit to Hot Springs, N. M.

Kerr Announces Dates for Filing in Judge Races

Declarations of intention by candidates for the judgeships in the Superior Court and Supreme Court to be filled this year may be filed with Registrar of Voters Kerr between next Monday and next Friday at 5 p.m., he announced yesterday.

Nomination petitions or sponsors' certificates will be accepted by him between the 28th inst. and June 21, Kerr added. He pointed out that the law forbids their circulation before the 28th inst.

To identify separately the eleven posts on the Superior Court bench, which will be filled this year, they have been numbered consecutively from one to eleven and the numbers assigned in the following order to the judgeships now filled by the following incumbents:

Arthur Keetch, Carlos S. Hardy, John L. Fleming, Harry R. Archbald, Hartley Shaw, Harry R. Archbishop, Frank C. Collier, Hugh J. Crawford, J. Walter Hanby, William Hazlett and Walter Guerin.

Kerr stated yesterday that registration of voters to date totals 723,566, of which 407,662 represents registrations in the city of Los Angeles and the remaining 315,904 voters in county territory outside the city.

BOND ISSUES BEATEN IN CHAFFEY DISTRICT

ONTARIO, May 16. (Exclusive)—Both bond issues for new schools in the Chaffey Junior High School district were defeated here today. The proposed $250,000 junior college issue was defeated by a vote of 2741, yes, and 1681, no, while the $200,000 high school bonds lost by 1941 yes, and 1261, no. A two-thirds majority in favor of the bonds was necessary for their passage.

One precinct had not reported on the high school issue, but these returns could not change the result. The voting district included Fontana, Upland, Cucamonga, Ontario and other surrounding centers.

TUBE EXTENSION PROPOSAL MADE

Subways Would Run from Hill-street Terminus

Scheme Suggested at City Planning Meeting

Would Depend on Lowering of Bunker Hill

The second meeting of the City Planning Commission's hearing on improved mass transportation was conducted yesterday at the City Hall, President Baker presiding. Thirty were present. A number of representatives of associations and organizations advanced statements concerning the need of improved rapid transit.

The only definite suggestion was put forward by A. J. Barnes, former Councilman. He proposed the subway extensions from the present Pacific Electric terminus under Olive street as follows: North under Olive street to Cottage Home street, under North Broadway, thence along the bed of the river to a junction with the Pacific Electric's Glendale line, a branch at the Arroyo Seco to serve Eagle Rock and Pasadena; a connection eastward from Sunset Boulevard to Aliso street to serve eastern communities, and an extension southward under Olive street to come to grade at Venice Boulevard to serve the western and southwestern territory.

Barnes estimated the Cottage Home subway at $1,000,000, the Aliso-Sunset connection at $1,500,000, and the Venice Boulevard extension at $2,000,000. He offered no financing plan.

Barnes said this project is dependent upon consummation of the Bigelow plan for the reduction of Bunker Hill.

EDUCATOR'S WIFE TAKES GAS TO DIE

Mrs. Ethel Draper Kills Self Due to Ill Health, Note to Mother Reveals

Mrs. Ethel Draper, 33 years of age, wife of an Iowa superintendent of schools, according to police, ended her life yesterday by asphyxiating herself with illuminating gas in the home of her mother, Mrs. May Gardner, 6830 Bel Air street, Van Nuys.

In a note addressed to her mother Mrs. Draper said chronic ill-health had made life unbearable. She said: "Please don't try to awaken me this time. I tried twice before and promised I would not try again, but what is the use of keeping a promise when you have to suffer like I have done."

She leaves the widower and two children. The body was removed to the County Morgue.

BUS LINE'S MANAGER TERMED HEAD DRIVER

In an article printed in The Times of the 15th inst., regarding the marriage of Dorothy Keefe and Robert J. Dawson, it was stated that the latter formerly was manager of a bus line in competition with the one operated by Mrs. Dorothy Keefe Dawson and furthermore that Mrs. Dawson's line was opened a few years ago at the request of the Parent-Teachers' Association of the Third-street school. Yesterday, Mrs. C. P. Lieberthal of 168 North Mansfield avenue, who operates the other bus line, declared that Mr. Dawson never was manager of her line, but instead "head driver." Furthermore, she declares it was her bus line that was started at the request of the Parent-Teachers' Association.

To preserve the marcel wave at night, and keep it in place, twist a piece of tulle around the head, fastening it in place with invisible hairpins; this is much better than the boudoir cap which is likely to make the head perspire and thus ruin the wave.

Cooking, with the aid of Guasti Products, is raised to its greatest perfection as I am sure you have discovered since using them. Somehow or other a recipe which calls for Guasti Cooking Sherry calls forth compliments of the highest—but why not! When you stop to consider it you realize that the Italian Vineyard Company couldn't put out a product which was anything but the very best.

Today you will want a recipe which is appropriate for Sunday morning breakfast and which calls for Guasti Cooking Sherry or Guasti Sauce a la Bercy, so suppose you take down this one for Eggs Benedictine:

EGGS BENEDICTINE

For each person take a slice of toast and place a slice of fried ham on toast and top off with a poached egg. Cover all with the following sauce.

Heat 4 tablespoonfuls of butter, add 2 tablespoonfuls flour and mix well. Add 1 cup of milk and cook until smooth. Add 2 tablespoonfuls Guasti Sauce a la Bercy or Guasti Cooking Sherry, a little chopped parsley is a good addition.

Arthur M. Werner, the Custom Shirt maker of 111 S. Spring st. (MUtual 1589) will make your husband's shirts to individual measurements very reasonably. He also does altering and repairing.

Accuracy of measurement is always most essential for success in baking. Though experienced enough to measure with the eye or hand, such experience was probably gained through failures, so accurate measuring is the best policy. Measurements usually given mean "level;" flour should be first sifted before measuring, then sift again after adding the baking powder.

Have you taken in as yet your silver knives to the Peerless Platers of 239½ South Spring street (upstairs) to have stainless blades put in? They do this work as well as replating of silver and brass, exceptionally well and at prices which are astonishingly small. Go up and see them at the first possible chance, won't you?

Apple cream pie—Line a deep pie plate with pastry; slice four peeled and cored cooking apples and combine with a liberal ½ cupful of sugar and a pinch of grated nutmeg. Put the fruit in the pie, pour over it one cupful of thin cream mixed with the beaten yolk of two eggs and a pinch of salt; bake like custard pie. Cover with meringue when nearly set, made from the stiffly beaten egg whites and place in a slow oven for ten minutes. Serve cold.

Good inexpensive shampoo which can be made at home: Dissolve ¼ cake of white floating soap in one quart boiling water and let simmer ½ hour over a slow fire; add to this one tablespoonful washing soda which has been dissolved in another quart of boiling water; stir all together, let it cool and use as a shampoo, rinsing hair well afterward. Adding a few drops of olive oil to the last rinsing water gives the hair a gloss without appearing greasy.

FEARS FOR TATEM VOICED

Fear that B. F. Tatem, Beverly Hills financier, sought under a grand-jury indictment charging theft of $217,000, may have become overwrought over the charges he was to face and taken his own life, was expressed last night by officers seeking him and by Byron C. Hanna, his attorney.

Deputy Sheriffs Fitzgerald and Beth of the Sheriff's fugitive detail stated last night that Tatem is last known to have been seen by a friend or relative Sunday morning when he left his automobile with his half-brother, Charles Pearce, at the latter's automobile lot at Twelfth and Figueroa streets and departed. After visiting the missing man's home at 613 South Mansfield avenue yesterday the officers stated that Mrs. Tatem was verging on collapse and expressed her fear that her husband may have committed suicide. The wife is reported to be in the care of friends.

While Tatem is known not to have taken any extra clothes or other effects the officers said they intend to check his bank account today to determine whether he withdrew any money before his disappearance. He gave no indication to either friends or relatives that he intended to leave, as far as is known, the officers said.

Capt. Fox of the Sheriff's office assigned officers to take Tatem into custody when he failed to surrender Thursday in accordance with tentative arrangements made through Attorney Hanna.

Hanna said he had made the arrangements after Tatem had given him his assurance that he would be available when wanted. Last night he said he was doing all in his power to aid in finding the missing man. He bore out the possibility of suicide, stating that his client was of a high-strung nature.

Tatem was indicted Tuesday following an inquiry into asserted theft of funds from the B. F. Tatem Finance Company and misappropriations in connection with the merger a year ago of the company with the North Hollywood Mortgage Company.

Dr. Paddleford Accuses Wife of Attentions

Attentions of Mrs. Emily C. Paddleford, wife of Dr. George E. Paddleford, wealthy oil operator, to a Hindu passenger on a world tour steamship, justified Paddleford in ordering his wife to leave the ship, Dr. Paddleford asserts in his cross-complaint for divorce on file yesterday.

In her divorce suit, filed two weeks ago, Mrs. Paddleford charged cruelty, asserting her husband without cause ordered her to leave the ship, and also that he was domineering and arrogant to her. He has been ordered to pay his wife $150 a month temporary alimony pending trial.

Salazar-Earle Case Will Have No New Trial

There will be no new trial of the marriage contract suit of Dolores Salazar against Ferdinand Pinney Earle, artist now living in Paris, wherein the young woman was given a verdict for $17,000 by a jury in the court of Superior Judge Archbald.

It was learned yesterday that Judge Archbald has lost jurisdiction in the granting of a new trial as sixty days have elapsed since the judgment was entered. His failure to grant a motion for a new trial is equivalent to a denial of the motion.

SEWER CONTRACT LET

The Board of Public Works yesterday awarded the contract for the construction in the McKinley avenue and Eighty-seventh street sewer district. The bid of $97,138.04 was accepted.

JAIL SCANDAL EXPLODED

Investigation of Inmate's Charge of Irregularities Proves Statements False, Says Peoples

Until sound evidence is presented there will be no investigation of charges of irregularities in the conduct of the County Jail, it was announced yesterday by Jailer Peoples, who for several days has been conducting a quiet inquiry among prisoners to determine whether any disciplinary action among employees is necessary.

Jailer Peoples says he has found the usual number of prisoners in the jail who are glib enough with hearsay reports and rumors, but he declares he has been unable to discover any positive proof of discrimination against any prisoner or any so-called "petty grafting."

The official based his inquiry on reports coming to him from a prisoner who has been found attempting to sell affidavits asserting irregularities and discrimination. Peoples called the prisoner before him and asked for his proof, so that corrections could be made if any wrongs were found to exist, but his "evidence" to the latter, Peoples says, was found to be hearsay.

The prisoner asserted, in attempting to market his "information," that weekly passes can be had to the jail for $1 each; that an inmate can be taken to the hospital by paying $5 a week; that Alexander Pantages has a private nurse whom he pays $4 per day; that trusty jobs may be had by paying "petty graft" to keepers; that alcohol may be had in the jail; that some prisoners get individual cells, while 200 others are compelled nightly to sleep on the floor, and other charges which Peoples says are "absurd."

"Of course passes can be had to this jail by relatives of prisoners, and they don't have to pay a dollar. If a prisoner is ill, he is sent to the hospital, the place for him, but as long as he is healthy he stays in the tanks," Peoples says.

"Pantages has a trusty nurse who has been ordered to that duty by a regular court order, and Pantages has a special diet by the same court order and no money is paid.

"This so-called petty graft is prohibited absolutely in this jail, and any employee apprehended taking anything from a prisoner is instantly dismissed. As to the alcohol, I suppose that report originated when two trusties assigned to painting jobs drained the intoxicant from shellac they were using. They were disciplined.

"Naturally we must have individual cells for murderers, gunmen and other hard characters, or I couldn't keep them. I regret that crowded conditions force some men to sleep on the floor, but they have enough bedding for their comfort.

"The prisoner who made these charges is a mental case. He's trying to pull money from some one for an affidavit. I've had him before me and asked for the charges, so they could be corrected if found to exist. He could not substantiate his assertions.

"This jail is being conducted regular in every department. The records are open to all," Peoples said, "and if there is anything wrong I want to know it. The complaints of prisoners always are welcome."

ROSS BOGGS ESTATE LEFT TO HIS FAMILY

Ross N. Boggs, hotel manager, left his $500,000 estate in equal shares to his widow, Mrs. Anne Boggs, and a daughter, Helen, 17 years of age, according to terms of his will, admitted to probate by Superior Judge Crail yesterday. Boggs died while on a hiking tour to the Yosemite Valley.

Today's Bible Text

For in Jesus Christ neither circumcision availeth any thing, nor uncircumcision; but faith which worketh by love.—Gal. v:6.

OTHER OPTIMISTS
Other optimists are the two youngsters who think they can live as cheaply as one.

MARITAL RECORD?
Headline says, "Widow of 100 Won't Stay Dead." It would be hard to kill that kind of a woman.

NOT AS ORDERED
Husband wins divorce from mail-order wife. She came on approval, so to speak, and is being returned as unsatisfactory.

WHAT A DISGRACE
To have been paralysed by isopropyl was something one could speak of with his head erect, but one must use the soft pedal in admitting himself to be a victim of creosote.

PLANET'S YEAR
The year of the new planet is 330 times as long as ours. It might be wise not to advertise it too much, or some of our taxpayers might move there.

BEAUTY AND BUSINESS
Good business has been forecast in San Francisco because the women are coming back to the beauty parlors. The permanent wave would appear to be the wave of prosperity after all.

CAUSE FOR ANXIETY
"Ham" Lewis's famous "pink" whiskers have turned gray. Who wouldn't worry over the prospect of a Senatorial campaign with a woman who can spend $352,000 out of her own pocket to win just a primary election.

STILL UNSOLVED
Sing Sing warden declares the prison is overcrowded with men who shouldn't be there. If all the men who should be there were apprehended and convicted ten Sing Sings wouldn't hold them.

NEWS VALUE
Parade of 500 Dartmouth students in gaudy shorts as a protest again convential male summer garb is told in a short item buried inside of the newspapers. Now if that had been a march of co-eds, pictures and the front page would have been in order.

SPARK PLUGS
We have had Kind-to-Dumb-Animal Week, Boys' Week, Public Schools Week and Mother's Day. Now we are to have Change-Your-Spark-Plug Week. This sounds like bringing out the fire engine at the end of the parade; but it may be necessary to start things up again.

ROADS
The Oddie road bill, which will give California $750,000 more good roads, was signed by President Hoover the other day. The Golden State will receive $1,423,063 annually for three years from the total appropriation. This will give the forest fire makers and the fire fighters both a better chance!

MORE NOISE
New York is trying to abate noise and local enthusiasts are advocating dehorning some of the cattle driving along our city streets to reduce the tumult. But now comes the announcement from acoustical engineers that women's clothes are to be twice as noisy as ever before.

NEWS
A Chicago speeder tells the truth. Policeman reported that the street was not crowded; but the speeder contradicted him. The officer said the victim was going twenty-six miles an hour; but the prisoner said it was thirty-five. The judge was flabbergasted and said, "The truth shall make you free."

GUNS AND KNIVES
The Chinese invented gunpowder and yet they used painted dummy guns to frighten the enemy from their forts. From lack of powder, they are now resorting to knives. That country may have a real war yet. Their hope lies in the fact that they stop fighting when it rains.

WHEN ADMIRALS DISAGREE
The sharply differing opinions of Admiral Pratt, commander-in-chief of the United States Fleet, and of Rear-Admiral Jones, retired, about the comparative usefulness of eight-inch and six-inch gun cruisers for the American Navy, is a matter concerning which most laymen must acknowledge themselves poorly qualified to judge. Members of the United States Senate, before whom the two admirals testified, will have the advantage of some technical information which is not to be made public in making up their minds about the dispute and will, therefore, be in a better position to weigh the testimony, or rather the conflicting opinions. The man in the street has nothing much to go on.

But in support of Admiral Pratt's side of the argument is his very cogent comment that, in case of war, he is the man who will have to do the fighting and that he is completely satisfied with the armament which the London Naval Treaty allots him. It may be assumed from his record that Admiral Pratt knows what he is talking about; that he is aware of all the arguments that have been made in past years for the larger cruisers, such as the distance apart of American naval bases, and that he considers that the smaller vessels will answer all requirements. Under certain conditions, he says, the vessels with six-inch guns are superior in combat, because of their greater rapidity of fire.

The outcome of naval battles, it is to be remembered, is determined not by the size of the single shells, but by the total weight of metal delivered on the target. When there is perfect visibility, the vessel with the eight-inch guns can in theory stand out of range of a vessel with six-inch guns and pound her to pieces; but perfect visibility is seldom encountered and at closer range a ship with faster fire has the advantage.

All of which seems quite reasonable and it has not been answered, in public at least, by Rear-Admiral Jones, or by any other critics of the treaty, who retire behind a smoke-screen of charges that Admiral Pratt has changed his mind and that American experts and negotiators always get the worst of it. The latter is a strange confession for any man who calls himself a patriotic citizen to make.

It is about time this inferiority complex, which results on the one hand in vain boasting about American superiority in all lines of endeavor and on the other in self-depreciation and abasement, is got rid of. The facts are, as everybody knows, that Americans manage to hold their own in most respects, that they have built up a civilization which, while it has its defects, is on the whole both admirable and admired, and compares favorably in general with any the world has hitherto had, that such accomplishments are as much intellectual as physical and could not have been brought about if the American mentality was defective.

The United States has no monopoly of brains, but neither is it a nation of congenital idiots. If the charge were true that in every international negotiation it gets the worst of the bargain, its present standing as a nation would be about that of Siam.

Light is thrown on this charge by the fact that in England Winston Churchill is solemnly assuring Parliament that the treaty does not give Great Britain parity with the United States, but a position definitely inferior in naval strength; and that in Tokio the treaty is likewise being assailed by Japanese jingoes who assert that if that nation accepts it, Japan may as well fold up and quit.

The London treaty, assailed thus by extremists of all nations, stands forth as a good and fair bargain, by which every signatory gains through the cessation of naval competition, and none gives up anything that is worth having. In a world in which the probability of war has been greatly reduced, questions of armament become largely academic. National pride can, in fact, be more worthily displayed than in a readiness to lick all creation.

There is the additional fact that any war that comes will be decided, not by mere differences of ships and guns, but by differences of resources, and that in this respect the United States has no present reason for alarm. It can hold its own.

MR. HOOVER'S "VACATION"
President Hoover's proposed tour of the national parks in August will be a novelty in the way of Presidential "vacations." One hardly sees him getting much rest while traveling from one of the nation's playgrounds to another, listening to the pleas of their superintendents for this or that improvement and noting down what he himself may consider the things necessary for the betterment of conditions within the widely scattered sections of the public domain.

Of course the Public Lands Commission appointed by him last year has been studying these conditions, but his own first-hand observations will tend to complement those of these officials and will be a checking-up that will be of value to the nation. One thing the President evidently wants to determine to his own satisfaction is the advisability of the proposed transfer from Federal to State control of large areas of park land in various parts of the West. This transfer has been urged on the ground that some of the parks have not been well managed, that concessions were improperly granted, that visitors were discouraged by the exaction of excessive fees and that other abuses were practiced.

Fault finding is easier than fact finding, and to remedy all the defects in park management is going to be a man-sized job. But Mr. Hoover seems determined to know the why and wherefore of each noteworthy complaint and to ascertain definitely whether State control in certain cases is advisable. Many think that national control is better. It proved so in the case of Yosemite, which was re-ceded to the Federal government in 1905 after long and loud complaint that State management was ineffective.

The LEE SIDE O' LA
By Lee Shippey

ADVICE from other people as to how to succeed is all right; but most of us fall down when we try to be anything but ourselves.

An ambitious young man we know went to a man who has risen high in Los Angeles business circles. "I admire the success you have made," he said, "and wish to emulate it. Won't you tell me the secret of your success?"

The big man hesitated, seemed a little nonplused. "Well," he said, after a moment's reflection, "I imagine the basis of it is being interested in people. I remember people and they, in turn, remember me. Ever since I was a boy I have been keenly interested in all the people with whom I formed contacts. When I meet them I don't merely say, 'How are you?' but shake hands as if I meant it. I ask after their wives and children or their favorite hobbies. The result is that they look on me as a friend instead of just an acquaintance. I've worked hard and kept my eyes open, too. But those friendships, built up through twenty-five years, probably have been the outstanding factor in my rather unusual success."

The young man thanked him and hurried to call on a man with whom he hoped to swing an important deal.

"How are you today, Mr. Blank?" he greeted him. "And how is that charming wife of yours? Remarkable as your business success is, it seems to me you are still more to be congratulated on your domestic arrangements."

"Get out of my office and don't come back any more," was the unexpected response. "If you've been reading the papers you know darned well my wife is suing me. And if you haven't you're too much of a fool for me to have any dealings with."

Free Rides

Huh, but that joke was a winner!
And how I did fool that sinner—
With Lix by my side we took a free ride
And got much attention—and dinner.

I said I was looking for land—
And oh, how he did squeeze my hand—
Gave me tickets galore, said "Here, take some more
And bring all your friends to our stand."

No dollar per hour do you pay
In the trip to their tract far away;
No buying for me, this climate's too free,
We'll just take a free ride each day.

Say, he can talk a man dumb,
And hypnotize all who may come;
I thought the price steep, he said it was cheap,
So we bought each a lot and then some.

Let's Hope He Doesn't Get Discouraged
There's a conductor on the Long Beach line who deserves a medal. He has a strong, clear voice and calls every street two or three times, both in the smokers' section and in the other section. "Anaheim!" he calls. "Thirteen hundred block—Anaheim!" or "Broadway is the next stop—Broadway or Second street—Broadway!" Whenever he calls a street which is not numbered, such as Third street or Fourth street, he calls both the name of the street and the hundred in which the house numbers run.

But for all that, several passengers on the train we were riding the other day agitatedly asked him: "What street is this?"

Even conductors sometimes must find life a little trying.

California

I know a land whose star's ascending,
Where nature's bounties seem unending,
Whose faith is like sweet music's blending—
Fair California.

I know a spot of rich adorning,
Where time is like a lovely morning,
Where folks discouragement are scorning—
Blest California.

I know a place like blackbirds singing,
Like happy children's laughter ringing,
Like faithful mothers sweetness bringing—Loved California.

I know a haven—boundless blessing—
Where life is buoyant—effervescing,
Where heart takes hope in struggles pressing—
Dear California.

BRITAIN IN INDIA
The unrest in India continues to disturb, and rightly, the British people, furnishing a problem of extreme difficulty. The perplexity of the government has been added to in the past few days by doubt as to the loyalty of native troops, and so long as this is in question the disinclination of the authorities to take any steps which might precipitate a crisis will be redoubled.

The irony of the situation is that British rule is suffering from the defect of its most humanitarian qualities. Had the British, in accepting Indian overlordship, set up a typical oriental despotism and exploited the country with a single eye to profit, it is likely enough that this would not have been disturbed. It is British education that has been the leaven of revolt, which has introduced western ideas into the country; British tolerance which has permitted native leaders to gain influence. Britain has tried to help India to a higher standard, something never attempted by any other of the country's many foreign conquerors, with the possible exception of Asoka.

The result of this experiment seems to establish the principle that an imposed civilization does not work, and that the only advancement of which any people is capable comes from its own efforts. This is not to say that every British effort in India has been wholly praiseworthy, animated by the highest motives. But in the main British rule has been beneficent and has increased the prosperity of the Indians, if not their happiness.

Swaraj, or self-rule, at which the Gandhi campaign aims, is probably an unattainable ideal for the Indian people in the present stage of their development and the only probable alternative to British government is chaos. It is not a desirable alternative, from a world point of view, but it may come.

TRANSPLANTING CALIFORNIANS
Along comes the New York Times with a quotation from a cultured Filipino lecturer and editorially commends a scheme as "brilliantly constructive" for dealing with the recent sporadic race troubles in California.

It is suggested that the surplus unemployed Filipino laborers of this State be transplanted to Hawaii to serve a double purpose: To furnish sufficient help for the plantations on the islands and at the same time to relieve possible glut of labor here.

Some years ago a similar solution was offered for the Negro population of the South. The great idea at that time was to start a new black republic in Africa to be peopled by Negroes exported from Dixie. It was a beautiful piece of thinking; but it never worked. For some reason the colored people did not take up with it!

Indeed, it was discovered by some mathematical genius shortly afterward that we did not have ship bottoms enough to carry them across as fast as they were being born; much less transport the existing population.

A slight matter overlooked by the wise easterners in solving Pacific problems is to find any Filipinos willing to leave the State. When tourists from the East of our own country are snagged by the lure of California and become fans in a few weeks, how could anyone imagine that any Filipino would be willing to forsake the land of his dreams?

Many nationals from other countries living in other States might also be asked to go back home to make room. Minnesota might be besought to send the Swedes and Norwegians across to Northern Europe. The Slavonians in the mills of Cleveland might be requested to depart whence they came. The folks up at Walnut Hills, Cincinnati, might petition the people down "Across the Rhine" to buy one-way tickets to Germany. Considerable unemployment in Gotham might be relieved by shipping all her policemen back to Erin.

It is easy to find a panacea for somebody else's aches. America has many racial disturbances that may not be denied; but shipping them out of the country is not the solution. Asking the Filipinos to leave California may be a beautiful plan; but the only thing the matter with it is, it won't work!

THE MECCA
The indicated population of Los Angeles county alone will create jealousy in quite a number of States.

A RULE OF CONDUCT
By James J. Montague

If you spend your life in labor,
If success you make your aim,
If you seek to beat your neighbor
At whatever is his game,
If you spend your time in drudging
Long and weary years on end,
With an iron will begrudging
Every cent you have to spend.

If you never cull the flowers
That you see beside the way,
If you toil for fourteen hours
Every single blessed day,
If you only take vacations
When you're weary or run down,
And regard all recreations
With a stern forbidding frown—

If you hoard up every dollar
With a sinewy finger-hold,
If you wear your tie and collar
Till they're worn and frayed and old,
If you conquer all your cravings,
Hold your habits in control
And keep piling up your savings
Till you have a mighty roll—

If, convinced that Fortune's fickle
And all luck must have an end,
You hang on to every nickel
That you do not have to spend,
If you cut out light and laughter
And make life grim, drear and dun,
You may get what you are after—
But you'll miss a lot of fun!

LOS ANGELES UNIVERSITY OF INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS
BY DEAN ROCKWELL D. HUNT, Graduate School

There has been a constant and increasing interest in international relations and world affairs by the University of Southern California since the inauguration of President Von KleinSmid in 1922. The elaborate inaugural ceremonies themselves took on the character of a great Pan-American educational conference. Later the president was appointed as a delegate to the Pan-American Conference in Lima, Peru, and he seized upon the opportunity to visit many educational institutions in the Latin-American republics.

On April 30, 1924, there was created the Los Angeles University of International Relations, with the avowed purpose to "furnish opportunities for the training of statesmen for the consular and diplomatic service, business men for commerce and business administration, of politicians for world service, and of teachers for departments of world affairs in the colleges and universities." Of this projected new-type institution Dr. Von KleinSmid was made chancellor. It was in reality at first not a part of the University of Southern California, although it subsequently became an affiliated institution.

The strategic location of Los Angeles and the cosmopolitan character of its population afford special advantages for a seat for international studies. During a single year the University of Southern California had a foreign student population of some 600, with representatives of five continents and forty-three nations. Preliminary negotiations for a separate campus for the new international institution having been given up, its headquarters continue to be on Southern California campus, with the same interchange of faculty members as exists among the other schools and colleges of the University of Southern California.

The Institute of International Relations held its first annual session, continuing almost a week, at Mr. Frank Miller's Mission Inn, Riverside, in December, 1926. The second session occurred in November-December, 1927; the third, at the University of Washington, Seattle, in the summer of 1928; the fourth and fifth at Riverside, in December of 1928 and 1929, respectively. These meetings, presided over by Chancellor Von KleinSmid, have come to possess genuine international significance and are constantly increasing in influence. The volumes of Proceedings, published at the close of each session, constitute a valuable collection of discussions on world problems.

Considerable progress has been made toward building up a special library covering the history and progress of international relations and related subjects. Judging from the important source materials already assembled, this library will soon become one of the most complete of its kind on the Pacific Coast. In January, 1930, headquarters for the University of International Relations and its library were established in the spacious rooms on the third floor of Hoose Hall.

SCHOOL OF MERCHANDISING
By Director William D. Moriarty

It has become an economic axiom that civilization is impossible without the exchange of products. Under our highly developed system of division of labor and functionalization of processes, even the most skillful among us is clearly unable to produce unaided the common necessities of an American home. We are increasingly dependent on one another's co-operation—the whole nation has become one vast workshop wherein all producers are co-operating in supplying one another's needs.

It should be more generally understood that both the wholesaler and the retailer are truly productive factors in so far as their activities result in additions to human welfare. Yet it is only in recent years that merchandising as a type of service has become an object of serious study in institutions of higher learning. American universities in some instances have, however, at length begun to pay heed to that rapidly expanding body of activities that characterize our modern marketing system. Quite logically this division of study and research is usually associated with departments of economics and colleges of commerce. Such is the case in the University of Southern California, where the new school of merchandising is technically a part of the college of commerce and business administration.

It was only on June 12, 1929, that the trustees of the university authorized the establishment of the school of merchandising to make possible more adequate training over the entire field, including marketing, advertising and retailing. Dr. William D. Moriarty, formerly professor of business administration in the University of Washington, and at the time professor of economics at the University of Southern California, was named director. For three years his major interest had been the promotion of this project.

The decision to create the school of merchandising came only after it became evident that there was a coast-wide interest in having some university on the Pacific Slope give thorough undergraduate training in this field. Such an interest was evidenced by assurance of financial support by the leading merchants of Los Angeles, Long Beach and San Diego, as well as numerous organizations with merchandising problems of their own. The financial basis of the school comprises an annual $20,000 appropriation by the university and a five-year guarantee of $40,000 per year to be provided by business interests of Southern California. The list of guarantors includes the following: Barker Brothers, B. Blackstone Company, Broadway Department Store, Bullock's, Buffum's, Long Beach; Coulter Dry Goods Company, H. G. Chaffee Company, J. J. Haggarty, May Company, MacMarr Stores, Millinery Stores Company, I. Magnin Company, Marston Company, San Diego; Hugh A. Marti Company, Long Beach; Parmelee-Dohrmann Company, J. W. Robinson Company, Myer Siegel Company, Walker's, Wise Company, Long Beach; Whitney Company, San Diego; Pigely Wiggly (Western Stores) Safeway Stores, Owl Drug Company, Van De Kamp's, Los Angeles Advertising Club and Los Angeles Publishers' Association. The general advisory board which has greatly assisted in effecting the organization includes John G. Bullock, T. C. Palmer, Harry Buffum, Paul Armstrong, Edward Dale, Arthur Holliday and W. W. Tritt. In addition there have been constituted the retail advisory board, the advertising advisory board and the marketing advisory board.

Since the four-year collegiate preparation for the field of merchandising is a marked departure from the usual curriculum, a brief statement of the distinctive functions of the school will be of interest. The pre-merchandising curriculum for freshmen and sophomores is intended to enable the more capable types of high school graduates to realize the great opportunities offered by a field which gives employment to one-fifth of the income receivers of the country. By giving the lower division students three-fifths of their work in liberal arts and two-fifths in basic merchandising courses, the fact is emphasized that the future executives in this field must have a well-rounded training. Thirty-six of the sixty hours in the junior and senior years must be in upper division courses in merchandising, including an approved major.

For those majoring in retailing a full-time apprenticeship in the last half of the senior year affords special opportunity for the close correlation of theory and practice. Field investigations give similar opportunities in marketing and advertising. Faculty members are encouraged to give evening courses for those in actual employment—thus maintaining constant contact with concrete problems of the work-a-day world.

The school of merchandising, which opened in September, 1929, bears a relationship to the college of commerce and business administration similar to that borne by the school of social welfare to the department of sociology and the school of philosophy in the college of letters, arts and sciences. With its experienced faculty of specialists and greatly strengthened by the active co-operation and support of the merchandising interests of Los Angeles and vicinity, it is in a position to render a conspicuous service in its particular field not only for the immediate community, but for the entire Pacific Coast.

WHERE CAN I LEARN
Law?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

In his advice to the prospective law student, in The Times of May 9, John W. Davis urged a broad, general education, including history, philosophy, literature and a grasp of English. Such broad, general education is offered free by the evening public schools, and men and women of all ages may enter at any time during the school year, attending as many evenings as their outside duties allow. Much of the teaching is individual, so that a student's special problems can often be solved in a few weeks. The hours are 7 to 9 p.m. English grammar and sentence structure classes are taught in all of the schools, and these classes usually include literature.

An introduction to philosophy will be found in the psychology classes at: Los Angeles, 4600 Country Club Drive, Tuesday, Thursday; Mt. Vernon, 4066 West Seventeenth street, Monday, Wednesday; Sentous, 1205 West Pico, Wednesday, Friday.

Various elementary law courses of practical value to the average citizen are given at: Franklin, 820 North Avenue Fifty-four, Tuesday, Thursday; Hollywood, 1521 North Highland avenue, Monday, Wednesday, Friday; Manual Arts, 4131 South Vermont avenue, Monday, Wednesday; Polytechnic, 400 West Washington, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday; Sentous, 1205 West Pico, Tuesday, Thursday, and real estate law at Los Angeles, 4600 Country Club Drive, Tuesday, Thursday.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will give a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

BEANS AND BRISKET OF BEEF

Two cupfuls of navy beans. Wash them over and cover with water; allow to soak overnight. In the morning drain and wash in fresh cold water. Allow to cook until the skins begin to burst. Take one and one-half pounds of brisket of beef, mix with a tablespoonful of mustard, one teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of molasses, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of baking soda, and pour over the beans, place in a baking dish, surround with the beans, and add enough water to the beans they were cooked in to cover. Cover the dish and bake slowly for three hours.

BROAD BEANS AND TOMATOES

Cook broad beans to taste in salted water, cover them with cold water and cook until almost done. Drain, blanch six tomatoes, remove the skins and cut them in slices, place in a pan three tablespoonfuls of butter, add the tomatoes, and allow to heat through, then season with salt and pepper and one teaspoonful of sugar, allow them to simmer for twenty minutes, around the outside edge of a platter, boiled rice, and pour the vegetables into the center. Sprinkle with chopped parsley and serve.

WIEMAR PUDDING

Four tablespoonfuls of butter, beaten to a cream, then gradually beat into it one at a time the yolks of three eggs, beating well between the addition of each one, then add four level tablespoonfuls of cocoa, one-half a cupful of sugar, and one-fourth of a cupful of bread crumbs, beat all together, then fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the three eggs, lightly oil or butter individual molds, and pour the mixture into them. Set them in a pan of hot water, halfway of their height, and place in a medium oven for thirty minutes. Serve with a chocolate sauce.

CHOCOLATE SAUCE

Place in a saucepan four level tablespoonfuls of grated or ground chocolate, stir into it a little at a time one cupful of milk, and allow it to boil gently for two minutes, place in a double boiler four tablespoonfuls of sugar, to which has been added the well-beaten yolks of two eggs, and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of vanilla, beat this all together, then gradually add the chocolate and milk mixture to it, allow to cook slowly until the mixture has thickened.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to recipes reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

must keep one's head. Choose first an agency functioning under a State board, or a legally authorized organization for placing children. Babies may be left in hospitals or on door-steps and some kind soul may take them in, eager to have them. Later when they have come to love the child as their own the real mother turns up and demands her child. And such are the sentimental vagaries of the average jury and the workings of the law, that the mother can usually get her child, and it is wrested from the adoptive parent's arms.

AGENCIES OFFER PROTECTION

Agencies which operate legally and not sentimentally will protect the adoptive parent from just such a happening by making sure that they have the written consent of both of the child's real parents, if living, so that the adoption is legal. Likewise the child is protected, for these agencies make a personal investigation of the home, make certain of its economic status and see that the adoptive parents submit to a probation period of six months or longer so that both the agency and the parents are satisfied with their decision.

There are further considerations which, in the joy of seeking a child, may be momentarily overlooked. These agencies in their years of experience have discovered that the greatest happiness comes to those parents who choose a child in age relative to theirs. Old parents should not choose a baby to rear, but an older child, more nearly the age their own would be if they had had a child of their own. Likewise the child's religion and race should be in accordance with his adoptive parents. It is no longer considered wise to keep the child's adoption a secret from him. In fact it can't be kept, and the parent paves the way by letting him know almost from the first that he is a "chosen" child.

The agencies protect the parent from legally adopting a baby whose mentality is below normal, for the babies they send into homes have been found to be healthy physically and normal mentally, a consideration which might be forgotten, for a baby might seem normal to the prejudiced eye of a baby lover, yet to the discerning eye of a specialist would be incapable of developing into a normal individual.

How stern and businesslike this all seems. But we must protect babies and we must protect parents, in order to offer both the security that can only come from seeing before adoption that they are fitted to live together happily.

Health and Diet Advice

CHOREA OR ST. VITUS DANCE

Children often show a nervous tendency early in life. These children, if not fed properly, and if subjected to anxiety, fear or worry, may develop chorea or St. Vitus' Dance.

This disease usually makes its appearance in early childhood between the ages of 9 and 12, although it may develop at other ages. Almost twice as many girls are affected as boys. These children usually show fidgeting and restless tendencies. The first symptom is often a dragging of one leg while walking, after which convulsive movements in the muscles of one arm generally appear.

A child affected with this disease can never keep still, but while awake is constantly twisting. The face may be twisted into a series of grimaces. In some cases the tongue may be protruded and jerked back, and the jaws snap. The angle of the mouth may change quickly, or the whole head may flop from side to side. In aggravated form, the violent movements may cause so much exhaustion as to result in death. Most of the mild cases become well in the course of time.

The start of this disease is in the brain and spinal cord, which are irritated by a toxin which seems to be closely related to rheumatism, as chorea often occurs following rheumatic fever, and the heart trouble found in chorea usually resembles the heart trouble found in rheumatism.

Most of the cases occur during the month of January. This is undoubtedly due to the fact that many mild cases are precipitated into a crisis through the toxemia generated from the holiday season feasting. School children who have been made nervous from overwork are easy subjects for chorea and, in fact, for many other disorders when the poisons from injudicious stuffing add their burden to the children's irritated nervous system.

Chorea usually responds in a very short time to the right kind of treatment. The toxins should first be eliminated and for this short fasts are of great value, even with very young children. The diet between the fasts should be well balanced. Sometimes it is good to follow a few days' acid fruit fast with a course of the milk diet, having the patient take from three to four quarts daily, according to the age, for as long as three or four weeks. Cleansing the colon of toxic accumulations by frequent enemas will do much to improve the physical condition. After this, the diet should be so planned as to permanently improve the bowel elimination.

Children with this disease should be allowed to rest and should be kept away from all studies and only allowed to play games which are not too exciting. The quickest results come when you begin the treatment during the early stages of the disorder. Naturally, more time would be required if the nervous system has been affected for a length of time.

Should the disease show an indication of returning after this treatment, it is a good plan to repeat the short fruit fast again for a day or two. Often osteopathic or chiropractic treatments may be used to advantage. I have never seen a case of chorea which did not respond to this regime in a very short time.

NANNY'S TERRIBLE JOURNEY

Take heed and to this truth attend;
The best and worst must have an end.

—Old Mother Nature.

For quite a while after Blarina's visit to the old tin can in which she was living, Nanny Meadow Mouse was uneasy. She would have been even more uneasy had she known who it was that visited her home while she was out. But Blarina didn't come back and after a while Nanny stopped worrying. It is that way with little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows. They may be terribly frightened or terribly worried, but the fright and the worry seldom last long. They are soon forgotten.

Nanny was out getting her breakfast one morning when she heard heavy footsteps. She looked up to see one of those terrible two-legged creatures coming her way. Really, it was Farmer Brown's Boy and, of course, he isn't terrible at all. Nanny didn't recognize him and she took to her heels in fright. She made straight for that old tin can and popped inside. There she crouched down and waited for what would happen next.

What happened Nanny will never forget as long as she lives. Nanny has had many frights, but never one to compare with this. You see, Farmer Brown's Boy saw the old tin can and just for fun, not knowing that Nanny was inside, he pretended that that old can was a football and tried to see how far he could kick it. Of course, when his foot hit that can, it made a tremendous noise inside. It was worse than a clap of thunder. And then before she could start to run that old can rose in the air and turned over two or three times. When finally it landed on the ground with a thump Nanny was so frightened that she couldn't run. Then up came Farmer Brown's Boy. "This old can," said he, "shouldn't be out here on the Green Meadows. I'll take it along with me over to those bushes on the edge of the Green Meadows, where it will be out of sight. If there's anything I dislike to see, it's old cans lying around. Besides, this would be in the way in mowing time."

So Farmer Brown's Boy picked the can up. You see, there was a little handle on the top. When he picked it up this way, there was no chance for Nanny to get out, for the hole was in the top. So there was nothing for poor Nanny to do but to shiver and shake in her bed at the bottom of the can and wonder what would happen next. She began to feel very uncomfortable as well as frightened. You see, Farmer Brown's Boy was swinging that can as he walked and that motion gave Nanny a most uncomfortable feeling in the pit of her stomach. All she could do was to say over and over to herself: "Oh, dear, Oh, dear! Oh, dear!"

Meanwhile, Farmer Brown's Boy was tramping across the Green Meadows without ever once thinking that there might be anyone in that can. He was whistling as he walked. When he reached the bushes he gave the can a toss. It just happened that that can landed right side up. Yes, sir, it landed right side up. Nothing could have been worse for Nanny. You see, that hole in the top, the only hole there was, couldn't be reached by jumping and of course, she couldn't climb the straight sides of that tin can. She was in a fix, was Nanny Meadow Mouse. Fortunately, she didn't realize it at first. She was so badly frightened that all she did was to crouch down in that bed of grass at the bottom of the can and try to make herself as small as possible. Then she listened to the whistling of Farmer Brown's Boy fade away in the distance and wondered what was going to happen next.

She looked up to see one of those terrible two-legged creatures coming her way

BROADCAST EN ROUTE PLANNED

Talks of Amos 'n Andy Not to be Interrupted

Leon Janney Slated for Two Starring Vehicles

Warners Sign Unknown on Long Contract

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

The fans who like Amos n' Andy on the radio are not to be cheated out of their nightly joy in listening to them, even during the trip of the pair across the continent, to take up their film duties with R.-K.-O., it became known yesterday.

The National Broadcasting Company has arranged that the radio stars, at about the time they are used to talking on the ether, shall step off the train, and, with a specially installed radio apparatus, broadcast their material. They will be en route two nights, and plans are being made to have them hop off their train at some convenient station, prearranged, do their broadcasting, and hop back on again. Difference in time between east and west will, of course, be taken into account, so that the broadcast will come a little early in some places and a little later than usual in others.

Likewise, when Amos n' Andy reach Hollywood, they are to be allowed time off from their work to broadcast, with possibly two periods allotted, since there is a good deal of difference between eastern and western time.

Mel Brown has been assigned to direct Amos n' Andy in their first talker, a fact over which the director is much enthused. The name of their first vehicle is not yet ready for announcement. Brown is also to direct Rex Beach's "The Silver Horde," but production of this picture has been postponed until a later date to permit Brown to direct the radio stars' feature.

YOUTHFUL GENIUS WILL BE STARRED

It looks as though we are to have another boy star in the movies. He is Leon Janney, the youth of 13 who played the son's part in "Courage," and in which he did so well that it is said he fairly stole the honors.

LEON JANNEY

First National has signed the young actor on a long-term contract, and his first two vehicles are already picked out.

The first of these is to be "His Father's Son," based on Booth Tarkington's "Mother o' Mine," which William Beaudine will direct. His second starring vehicle will be "Penrod," from the Tarkington tales of boyhood. As everybody remembers, "Penrod" was also a play, and it is on this play that the picture will be based.

Dorothy Matthews Signed

Cinderella tales are scarcer in the movies, since talkers came in, but here seems to be one.

So very well indeed did Dorothy Matthews do with her bit in "Son of the Gods," starring Richard Barthelmess for First National, that the young actress has been signed on a long-term contract with Warner Brothers.

But this isn't all the good news about Miss Matthews. She has likewise been assigned the leading feminine role in "A Handful of Clouds" for Warners. Which assignment, as you may realize, is a fine feather in the young lady's cap, inasmuch as, up to this time, she has appeared only in small roles and in bits. She has played as an extra for some time, however.

Lew Ayres has been chosen for one of the leading male roles. And an odd little phase about his acquisition by Warners for the part involves quite a shuffle and deal of players. To be exact, Warner Brothers had to loan Doug Fairbanks, Jr., to Universal, and in order to get Fairbanks from First National, Warners had to give that organization Ben Lyon.

Radio Singer With Lubitsch

Now you're going to have a chance to see how another air favorite looks.

DONALD NOVIS

Donald Novis, choice of the American people as one of the country's finest tenors, has just received the second great opportunity of his career. Novis has been signed for an important singing part in Ernst Lubitsch's new Paramount production, "Monte Carlo."

The young man received national attention a year and a half ago when he was named the winner of the Second National Radio Audition conducted by the Atwater Kent Foundation, a competition open to and participated in by thousands of singers in every part of the land. His part in the new Lubitsch picture, offered him because of his voice, is believed by his friends to be the most important turn in his professional career since his radio feat.

Nella Walker is Busy

Nella Walker, former vaudeville star, is meeting up with a lot of luck in the talkers.

Although arriving in Hollywood but a month ago, Miss Walker has already completed two roles. Yesterday she was assigned to her third, that of a society vamp in Columbia's "Rain or Shine," starring Buster Collier.

LYTELL DOES PROTEAN FEAT

"Brothers" Star Plays Quick-Change Double Role

Melodramatic Thrills Lend Zest to Plot

Grace Menken in Support; Audience Enthusiastic

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Exactly seven seconds, I should say (maybe less,) after he has left the stage as Robert Naughton, fashionable lawyer and drug addict, Bert Lytell reappears as Eddie Connelly, water-front piano player. He enacts a dual role in "Brothers," melodrama of heredity and environment at El Capitan Theater, and whew, but he is a lightning change artist in his double portrayal.

"Brothers" opened last evening with the welcome-home banner unfurled by a large, interested and dress-up audience. There was applause in abundance for Lytell. His return was a signal for those festive greetings which increase the smartness of opening performance, and give it also a glow.

However, even with all the extra to-do, I believe that "Brothers" would have proved a capturing affair. While it hasn't the most convincing plot in the world, it is a capital stunt play. The author hasn't even been satisfied with a single dual impersonation. There are, in fact, two of them, but it would be giving too much away to describe the second one, and it is much less important than the feat performed by Lytell.

In addition to its star, the play brought the appearance of Grace Menken, who has recently become Lytell's wife. This furnished an augmented personal interest for the first audience.

In a sense, the play "Brothers" is a paraphrase of "The Masquerader" in which Guy Bates Post achieved wide success some seasons ago, and which was revived here a year or so past. Perhaps that revival is one reason why impressions of "The Masquerader" are fresh enough in one's mind to cause it to be recalled by this new piece dealing with one man taking another's place.

"Brothers" was written by Herbert Ashton, Jr., and in part its action eventuates against a racketeering background. The second act reaches a spirited climax with a shooting, some stormy and exciting sessions among speakeasy habitues before and after, and plenty of colorful bits of incidental action supplied by denizens of the slums.

Back and forth, from the portrayal of one character to the other, Lytell goes through this act. He disappears into a telephone booth as the lawyer clad in evening clothes, and is on the stage again in a trice from another entrance as the piano player, garbed in more ordinary wearing apparel.

Several exceedingly quick changes follow. Frankly I didn't actually time the speed with which they were made, because I was too interested in following up the situations, but several seconds or less is probably as good a guess as any. I stand to be corrected one way or the other, if anybody wants to essay a more careful check.

It is remarkable, anyway, what Lytell does sartorially. I suspect that at times he uses an overcoat to cover the presence of nonevening clothes and if so he does it very skillfully.

Even more brilliant is what he accomplishes in the differentation of the two characters. The transition from one very heavy emotional scene as the dope-crazed attorney to the easy-going good-natured piano player is a triumphantly competent bit, and is enough in itself to invoke applause.

I should note that the play attempts to explode theories regarding heredity and environment, and there is a prologue to help set this theme forth. In this prologue the destiny of twin infants is administered by a group of professional men, who consign one baby to a rearing amid sordid surroundings, and the other to a home of wealth. There is also a trial for murder, (though no courtroom,) that figures in the plot, but a visit to the theater is really the best way to discover the purport of all this. A mystery element necessarily adds to the suspense of the play.

"Brothers" is good entertainment, and very satisfactorily presented with at least three or four members of the original New York cast on the scene here, besides Lytell and Miss Menken.

One can distinctly praise the cultivated manners and talent of Miss Menken. At moments she personally reminds of her sister, Helen Menken, seen here in "Seventh Heaven," and later in a Charles Kenyon play. She looks decidedly interesting in her role.

There is much to be said also for such a clever comedy bit as the dizzy one of Rita Carlyle, as the inebriate slattern in the second act, for Clara Palmer, Matt Briggs, J. Morris Foster, Lloyd B. Carleton, Frank Sylvester, Barlowe Borland, Jessie Arnold and others. Various of these, like Miss Palmer, Briggs, Carleton and Miss Carlyle, were in the New York company.

MYSTERY ROMANCE SCREENED

Grant Withers, Loretta Young Enact Chief Roles in Warner Film

BY M. B.

A Vitaphone piece, by name "The Second Floor Mystery," modeled after a fashion, and such a fashion, from Earl Derr Biggers's pleasant mystery romance, "The Agony Column," came to Warners' Downtown Theater yesterday.

Mr. Biggers's story was delightful light reading. It related the difficulties into which a romantic youth precipitated himself when he sought to become acquainted with a young lady via the "agony" or personal column of the London Times. The youth first saw the young lady when eating strawberries for breakfast. She was eating grapefruit. It may sound a trifle silly but it really wasn't, he called her "The Grapefruit Lady" and she called him "The Strawberry Man."

He eventually progressed to the point, where, although he hadn't met her, he wrote her letters. Into these missives he packed an imaginary murder mystery in which he involved himself. She took them seriously. Then he took her seriously. And, oh, well, it is far too complicated to explain further, and I guess it must have been too complicated to translate to the screen, for the resulting picture is pretty much muddled up.

never make head or tail of what's going on. It seems like thrilling mystery, and yet it isn't. Sometimes it seems like good comedy, and yet—it isn't.

Grant Withers and Loretta Young, who in real life, are Mr. and Mrs. Grant Withers, have the romantic leads. The big, husky, good-natured Grant is cast in a role which calls for a dash of whimsy plus romantic idealism. He doesn't quite fit. Loretta is better cast.

The supporting players include H. B. Warner, Claire McDowell, Sidney Bracy, Craufurd Kent, John Loder, Claude King and Judith Vossell. Joseph Jackson wrote the dialogue and screen play from which Roy Del Ruth directed.

Folks who don't take their mysteries too seriously will probably have a good time. In addition, they may view several news reels, and some short features, "System," a satire on big business; Georges Carpentier in "The French Boudoir," and "Her Relatives," described as a slapstick comedy.

EARLY JANNINGS PICTURE SCREENED

Filmarte Offers "Tartuffe, the Hypocrite," Directed by F. W. Murnau

BY ELENA BOLAND

Reflecting intimately upon all those present at the Filmarte, Moliere's "Tartuffe, the Hypocrite" preaches didactically of deceit.

F. W. Murnau directed Emil Jannings in this before either had become imbued with the spirit of Hollywood. Neither was as artistically fine then as now.

Because of the brevity of Moliere's play, a weighty prologue has been introduced, followed by a speedier epilogue. These also hover around hypocrisy, telling a story separate from the principal theme. The general trend is somewhat reminiscent of the players' scene in "Hamlet;" that is, the usage of a play within a play to reproduce to an audience the identical problem it faces itself. Shakespeare, however, handled it a bit more cleverly.

There is little in this picture to promise the present greatness of either Murnau or Jannings. One should recall, though, that for the period in which it was made it possesses outstanding qualities. The photography is splendid, as are also a number of characteristic touches. But the treatment of the subject, which is the disclosure of a hypocritical saint's actual evil, is almost banal in its obviousness.

Small opportunity is given Jannings, who portrays a poseur of religious fanaticism in order to obtain money for his own needs. His acting span is limited and during most of that time he keeps his face stuck in a hymn book.

Werner Kraus, the noble who is fooled by his friend's sanctity, is rather convincing in his mistaken ideality. Lil Dagover, one of the most beautiful of the foreign actresses, plays Kraus's wife, who by her feminine intuition and subtlety so entices the pseudo saint that she forces him to a showdown and thus regains her husband's love.

What happens in the prologue and epilogue matters little, save that both serve to porportion the main theme to a program length. In both are displayed the creditable talents of Herman Picha, Andre Mattoni and Rose Valetti.

The week's revival is one of the most humorous which the Filmarte has been able to procure. It presents William S. Hart in "Jim Cameron's Wife," into which he pours his soul with feeling and gestures, the gusto of which is one of the screen's lost arts. Never has the absence of sound been so acutely missed as it was in beholding this olden epic.

MARCIN SCREEN AUTHOR

Max Marcin, playwright and novelist, wrote the screen play for Paramount's "Shadow of the Law," which stars William Powell.

'Cuckoos' Due on Orpheum Screen Today

BERT WHEELER

"The Cuckoos," costarring Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, starts today at the Orpheum Theater. Based on the New York stage play, "The Ramblers," "Cuckoos" includes a colorful ensemble of girls, nine songs and a love story. The clowning of Wheeler and Woolsey is called the main feature, however.

Supporting Wheeler and Woolsey, who are featured in the cast, are several popular players, among these being Dorothy Lee, Mitchell Lewis, Jobyna Howland, Ivan Lebedeff, Marguerita Padula, Hugh Trevor and June Clyde.

French Star to Play at Mayan

Maurice Chevalier, French star of the stage and screen, will appear at the Mayan Theater for a limited engagement of eight days, starting tomorrow night. The actor is best remembered here for his notable performance in "The Love Parade," Paramount picture directed by Ernst Lubitsch.

With Chevalier will also appear Ben Bernie and orchestra. Bernie is well known both in this country and Europe for his music. In fact, he has just returned from a successful tour of the continent. The "Maestro," as Bernie is called, has written some new songs for Chevalier.

VICTORIA CROSS MAN

Fred Coppins, who won the Victoria Cross for cleaning out three enemy machine gun nests single-handed, has the role of a machine-gunner in Gary Cooper's current Paramount starring picture.

'Student Prince' Close Tonight

Lillian Albertson's stage production of "The Student Prince," in which Allan Prior has played the leading role, will be withdrawn after the performance at the Majestic Theater tonight.

The operetta has received widespread praise from press and public, with its beautiful melodies and its splendid male chorus.

Whispers in the Wings

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

NOW it's "June Moon" and now it isn't. At 12 noon yesterday everything seemed set for the presentation of that comedy "with surprises" at the Music Box a week from tomorrow. At 5 o'clock came a telephone call that all was off again.

VERNON STEELE

At any rate, it appears that the next production by the Civic Repertory group—whatever comes to the theater in between time—will be "Wound Stripe," the new play by Roland Edwards and Nell Blackwell. Edwards will stage and direct it. Paul Irving told me yesterday, with considerable enthusiasm, of the preliminary plans.

Vernon Steele, he said, will have the lead. Steele is that excellent actor seen here last year in Galsworthy's "Escape." George Bonn and Elsie Janssen, two German performers, will have parts. And Boyd Irwin will be in the cast.

"Wound Stripe" is a post-war play, although Irving was careful to explain, there isn't any actual war in it—no guns going off. A good part of its action is laid in England and the remainder at a watering place along the Riviera.

"Molly Magdalene" Under Way

Rehearsals for Crane Wilbur's new play, "Molly Magdalene," will start the 26th inst., Al Rosen, who is producing, admitted yesterday. A cast is now being assembled.

CRANE WILBUR

Regis Toomey, who has been appearing in pictures pretty regularly of late and whose one local performance was confined to "Twinkle, Twinkle," with Joe Brown some years ago, may have a part. Toomey is under film contract, but Rosen hopes to borrow him.

Georges Renevant, who staged "Goin' Home" at the Music Box, Ruth Hill, Jack Egan, George Hayes, John See, Margaret McWade, Theodore Adams and Ethan Allan will be in the cast. There are other actors yet to be named.

Wilbur, writer and director for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, is taking two months from his picture work, to get the play in shape and started. He will stage and direct. Louis Epstein, Al Jolson's manager, will manage the production.

The show may open in Fresno. It will eventually arrive at the Mayan here.

Bulletins From New York

"A Permanent Repertory and Experimental Theater," it is announced, will be started next month in the Maverick colony at Woodstock, N. Y. Beginning on June 19 and continuing until September 7, twelve plays will be presented in the Maverick Theater, which seats 800.

Earl Carroll's new "Vanities" will go in rehearsal Monday.

ELABORATE RECITAL PLANNED FOR TODAY

An elaborate program consisting of a group of dramatic readings from Gilbert's mythological fantasy, "Pygmalion and Galatea;" selections from Browning, Shakespeare and Lytton; and musical numbers from Cadman's "Pompadour's Fan," and Schubert's "Fantasia" will be presented by Mme. Bailey-Fredericks in her recital in The May Company's Exposition Hall today.

Mme. Bailey-Fredericks, formerly of the New England Conservatory of Music, and founder of the Hollywood Studios of Music and Dramatic Art, is a former pupil of the late Charles Tinney, soloist of St. Paul's Cathedral, London. She will be assisted in her recital by Gertrude Peterson, prominent harpist, and soloist in the Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra, Mrs. Frederick Warner and Miss Florence Goodale.

THREE KILLED IN CAR MISHAPS

Oxnard Widow on Her Way to Church Run Down

Angeleno Fatally Hurt by Spill at Alhambra

Ex-Police Officer at Beach Perishes in Crash

OXNARD, May 16.—While on her way to attend Rosary at the Guadalupe Church, Mrs. Gunichinda Ochoa, 52 years of age, Mexican widow, was fatally injured when struck by an automobile on Oxnard Boulevard at 7:30 o'clock last night.

Grasping her 6-year-old granddaughter by the hand, she had run past one approaching car into the way of a second driven by Jack Hyde, local miniature golf-course proprietor. Hyde swerved his car but was unable to avoid striking the woman, who sustained a fractured skull and internal injuries and died at the hospital within the hour.

The child sustained minor bruises and cuts. Chief of Police Kerrick and the Sheriff's office investigated the accident.

MOTORIST PINNED UNDER CAR DIES OF INJURIES

ALHAMBRA, May 16. — Pinned beneath his overturned car in a traffic crash on Huntington Drive last night, Harrison Feidler, 34 years of age, of 1406 McDuff street, Los Angeles, received injuries which caused his death a few hours later in the Alhambra Hospital.

Feidler's sudden left-hand turn directly into the path of an automobile driven by James S. Carr of 1312 West Pine street, this city, was said by Alhambra police to have caused the fatal accident. Both machines were going north on Huntington Drive.

Feidler died without regaining consciousness. His skull was fractured and his chest crushed. Carr was not held.

FORMER HERMOSA BEACH OFFICER KILLED IN CRASH

HERMOSA BEACH, May 16.—B. F. Booth, 45 years of age, a former local policeman, was killed almost instantly here late this afternoon when the light car which he was driving turned over on the street-car tracks at Sixth street and Hermosa avenue. Booth was thrown from the car and his head and chest were crushed. His wife, riding with him, was less seriously injured. She is at the Hermosa-Redondo Hospital, and will recover.

Booth's body is at the Glade L. White funeral chapel, where funeral arrangements will be made. Cause of the accident had not been determined by the investigating officers tonight.

Lamb Will Be Lions' President

INGLEWOOD, May 16.—Ralph Lamb was unanimously nominated as president of the Lions Club here today. Election will take place June 4, when it is anticipated the slate chosen today will be officially voted into office. Other nominations were Louis B. Hardin, Jr., first vice-president; Dr. Horace S. Cushing, second vice-president, and Roy L. Hill, third vice-president. Kenneth Blackie and N. J. Salyards were renominated as secretary and treasurer, respectively.

President Ernest W. Gould, in commenting on the nomination of Lamb as his successor, lauded the latter's activities both in the club and in the community, and congratulated the club members upon their nomination. Lamb is cashier of the Bank of Inglewood and a prominent figure in local business circles. He is director in the local Chamber of Commerce.

J. O. MILLER RITES TODAY

HUNTINGTON PARK, May 16.—While J. O. Miller, 73-year-old pioneer real estate dealer of this city, was in the rear of the yard at his home here yesterday feeding the chickens, he suffered a fatal stroke of apoplexy, dying within a few minutes. Deceased was a native of Missouri and came to California thirty years ago, locating in Hollywood, where he resided four years, after which he came here. Deceased leaves a widow, one daughter, Mrs. Hultquist, wife of Chief of Police Will Hultquist of this city; and two sons, Clayton and Clarence Miller of north of Glendale. The funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon at the funeral parlors of Roy D. Klinker.

INCA FROM ANDES IN MISSIONARY ROLE

Luciana Chambi

SAN BERNARDINO, May 16.—From the Lake Titicaca region high in the Andes, Luciana Chambi, an Inca Indian and superintendent of the Broken Stone Adventists Mission, arrived at Loma Linda today en route to the Adventists' quadrennial conference in San Francisco, late this month.

Chambi, his eyes wide in wonderment, made an automobile tour of the valley today. He frankly admitted his amazement at the way in which Americans live, but confessed a longing to return to the Andes, where he preaches to a congregation of 1500 Incas.

Chambi was one of the earliest converts to the Christian faith among his race. More than twenty years ago, Pastor Stahl, an Adventist missionary, went into the Andes. There he met an old Indian chief, who asked Stahl to send him a teacher for his tribe. Stahl picked up a stone, broke it in two, and handed the Inca chief one of the pieces.

"The man I send will have the other half of the stone," he said.

Three years later, Chambi, a mere youth and of another tribe of Incas, appeared. He had half of the stone, given him after his conversion by Stahl. Chambi was welcomed and began preaching the Adventists faith. Today in the district are 8000 Incas who believe in God, Chambi said.

The trip to the Adventists' conference is Chambi's first venture away from his native land.

Trees Set Out by Legion Auxiliary for Past Chiefs

ONTARIO, May 16.—Honoring the achievements of four past presidents of Ontario American Legion Auxiliary, members of the organization today planted four cedar trees in Fourth-street Park. The trees were planted in honor of Mrs. Florence Martin, president in 1926; Mrs. Grace Pond, 1927; Mrs. Tracy Bushey, 1928, and Mrs. Ethel Peterson, 1929. Mrs. Peterson died June 16, 1929. As a further tribute to her a bronze marker will in the near future be placed at the foot of her tree during a public ceremony.

Mrs. Florence Lister, president of Camp Kearny will be placed at a impressive services.

WILLIAMS RITES TODAY

VENTURA, May 16.—Mrs. Clara Williams, 62 years of age, wife of L. Milton Williams, died yesterday at her home here of heart trouble. She had been a resident here two years. Funeral services are to be conducted tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. Besides her husband, Mrs. Williams leaves three daughters, Mrs. Leroy Byers and Mrs. O. E. Owen of this city, and Mrs. M. B. Carey of Los Angeles, and four sons, H. H. Williams of here, R. M. Williams of Chicago, and L. M. and M. C. of March Field, Riverside.

BIDS SOUGHT ON PLANS FOR WEIR

They Will be Opened 28th Inst. at Riverside

Huge Project to be Built in Santa Ana Canyon

Three Counties Interested in Water-Spreading

REDLANDS, May 16.—Plans and specifications for the weir, headworks and conduit to be erected at the mouth of Santa Ana Canyon were placed on file in the offices of City Engineer George S. Hinckley today. The plans are for the benefit of the contractors who will enter bids which are to be opened in the office of the Water Conservation Association in Riverside at 10 a.m. the 28th inst.

The diversion weir is to be constructed of rubble masonry and will extend across the mouth of the canyon at the powerhouse, a distance of 475 feet. At the west end the headworks of reinforced concrete will be erected, with iron gratings and all necessary equipment. From the headworks there will be a conduit 1200 feet long to the spreading grounds of the conservation association, 500 feet covered and 700 feet open canal.

The project is the work of Paul Bailey, engineer, and Consulting Engineers George S. Hinckley, Robert Skelley and W. W. Hoy. Construction work will start in June and the project, which will cost about $80,000 will be completed by the rainy season, it is planned.

The project is the most ambitious undertaken in the conservation of water in this section. San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties are providing the funds necessary for the work. Plans and specifications have been placed on file in Redlands, Riverside, Los Angeles and San Francisco and it is expected there will be a number of bidders.

The headworks and the conduit will take care of 50,000 inches steady flow of water, carry it to the gravel and sand beds of the Santa Ana River, spread it there so that most of it will go into the ground and fill the underground basins.

Court Restrains Milk Men in Delivery Suit

SANTA BARBARA, May 16.—Judge S. E. Crow in Superior Court today issued a temporary injunction to restrain Ray Jones and Forrest Fisher from soliciting or serving customers to whom they delivered milk when in the employ of the Golden State Milk Products Company. The two former employees recently began delivering milk for another concern and secured, according to the complaint brought by the Golden State, a number of their old customers.

The milk products company declares the lists of customers were trade secrets and are not to be used by former employees to solicit business for another firm. Jones worked for the Golden State about eight months, while Fisher worked for it about four years. Damages once sought by the Golden State are to be waived and if Jones and Fisher do not violate the court order the action will be dropped, according to Attorney Harrison Ryon of the law firm of Schauer, Ryon & Goux, representing the plaintiff.

The plaintiff's victory conforms to other rulings made in regard to customer lists of grocery firms and dry-cleaning businesses.

Early Pasadena Postmaster Dies

PASADENA, May 16.—Funeral services for Arthur S. Hollingsworth, second postmaster of Pasadena, who died last night at his home, 1294 East Colorado street, will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow in the Turner and Stevens Company chapel. Burial will follow in Grand View Cemetery, Glendale. Hollingsworth was 79 years of age and had been a local resident for forty-five years. At one time he owned ten acres of land in what is now the heart of the business district.

In 1883 Hollingsworth moved to Santa Ana for a year, during which time he organized the first telephone service in that city. He also had interests in Glendale, being a director of the Grand View Cemetery Association. After serving a term as local postmaster, he was appointed postmaster in Glendale, where he was among the first holders of the office in the neighboring municipality.

Hollingsworth leaves a daughter, Mrs. W. H. Nuss of San Bernardino; two sons, L. L. Hollingsworth of Pomona and Frank D. Hollingsworth of Santa Ana; a brother, Henry T. Hollingsworth of this city, and two sisters, Mrs M. N. Vore and Mrs. J. R. Giddings, also of Pasadena.

BARGE FISHING OPENS NEAR ROCKY POINT

REDONDO BEACH, May 16.—Barge fishing at Rocky Point opened this week with the removal of the Monstad barge Emigh to the regular summer anchorage there. Barracuda, halibut and rock cod are reported in strong runs from all boats and barges.

WOMAN'S PURSE SNATCHED

HUNTINGTON PARK, May 16.—Mrs. C. L. Dalton of Fifty-eighth street was walking toward her home in the early evening, having just left a street car on Pacific Boulevard, when two young men in a roadster drove along the curbing. One jumped from the machine, snatched her purse, containing $38, after which he made his escape.

AUDIENCE SEES HEART BEATING

Other Essential Organs of Humanity Seen at Work in Caltech Hall

PASADENA, May 16.—Those who attended the weekly public demonstration lecture at the California Institute of Technology tonight were given an opportunity to see the human heart beating and other internal organs functioning as revealed by X-rays.

Prof. E. C. Watson, the speaker, demonstrated the application of X-rays in medical science and in industry. He performed experiments which prove X-rays are merely light of very short wave length, and discussed the theory that X-rays are material corpuscles.

The lecture was given in the lecture hall of the Norman Bridge Laboratory of Physics.

SALESMAN OF LACES 'HI-JACKED'

Syrian Reports Theft of Goods Valued at $14,000 from His Car in Santa Ana

SANTA ANA, May 16.—Santa Ana police today investigated the mysterious disappearance of imported laces and linens valued at $14,000 from the automobile of Said S. Bardwil, Los Angeles salesman, as it was parked in front of the home of K. Zlaket, 2409 North Broadway here, between 8 and 10:15 p.m. yesterday. Representatives of importing firms expressed the belief that Bardwill had been "hi-jacked."

Because of the fact that similar goods valued at $18,000 were taken from a car owned by Bardwill two years ago under almost the same circumstances, Assistant Chief of Police Sid Smithwick questioned Bardwil closely concerning the circumstances of the Santa Ana theft.

Bardwil insisted today that he had no knowledge of how the goods had been taken from the car except that some one who realized the high value of the goods might have been shadowing him and taken them while he visited the Zlakets.

Police said they found the door of the Bardwil car had been forced open with an iron instrument. Bardwil is a Syrian, they said, and well known in Southern California imported-good circles.

Creditors of the Syrian said he owed $12,000 on the goods, which he asserts were taken from his car.

The goods were described as filet, Venice and Normandie laces, cutwork and De Ruta fancy goods, imported from Italy, Belgium, China and France.

Ramona Play in Golden Jubilee This Week-end

HEMET, May 16.—Eleventh-hour preparations are being completed to entertain a vast throng here tomorrow and Sunday at the final performance of the spectacular Ramona Pageant in the picturesque Ramona Bowl at the outskirts of this city. The concluding 1930 presentations each will start at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

As tomorrow's performance is the fiftieth showing since the open-air spectacle was launched as a community enterprise eight years ago, it is to be celebrated as a golden jubilee with souvenirs to be distributed. Advance reservations indicate a record-breaking crowd will attend.

To celebrate the close of the eighth successful season of the play, Director Phil Whiting has arranged to elaborate the glamorous fiesta scenes and musical features of the spectacular drama, which tells the romantic life story of Ramona, California's favored Indian heroine.

Parking space has been arranged for 5000 automobiles at the rim of the bowl and the seating capacity has been increased to more than 6000 for the final performances.

THREE CHILDREN BURNED IN FIRE

Disastrous Blaze at Campo Injures Mother Also

She Drags Small Son from Holocaust, Collapses

Latter Dies in Her Arms on Way to Hospital

SAN DIEGO, May 16.—An investigation was launched by Coroner Schuyler C. Kelly today into a disastrous fire near Campo last night in which three children were burned to death and their mother critically injured.

Mrs. Francisco Ybarra, mother of the three children, collapsed from burns and other injuries after she had dragged her 4-year-old son Antonio from the blazing house. Victoria, 2 years of age, and Sidel, 16 days old, were asleep in the bedroom of the home when the fire broke out. They were burned to death when licking flames cut off all avenues of rescue.

Antonio died in his mother's arms while both were being rushed to a hospital here. The mother is in the County Hospital where she is reported showing slight improvement today.

Enrique Ybarra, the father, had left the house shortly after 6:30 p.m., and had gone about 150 feet distant to a well where he was drawing a bucket of water, reports said. He told investigators that when he drew the water he turned to go back to the house but saw it completely enveloped in flames. He rushed back in time to see his wife dragging the small boy from the burning structure.

Hurry calls were sent for doctors and while first aid was being given the mother and boy, the father and witnesses who gathered were forced to see the flames devour the two children who were in the house.

The house is situated several hundred yards from the Campo railway station which is about one-half mile from Campo. Ybarra is a workman for the San Diego and Arizona Railway Company.

Timoteo Ybarra, a brother of the father of the ill-fated family, occupied a two-room house next to the burning structure. His house caught fire and was destroyed. The brother said he heard an explosion in the other building and when he rushed outside he saw it enveloped in flames.

Dietetic Group Elects Board

SANTA BARBARA, May 16.—Officers for the coming year were elected by the California Dietetic Association at the business session of the sixth annual convention in El Encanto Hotel last night. Miss Elizabeth Hayward, dietitian in the Methodist Hospital, Los Angeles, was elected last year for a two-year term and serves another year in office.

Miss Emily Edson, dietitian of O'Connor Sanitarium, San Jose, was named first vice-president; Miss Ilma Lucas of the California State Department of Institutions in Sacramento, was elected second vice-president; Miss Elizabeth Fogg of the Los Angeles City Health Department was re-elected secretary, and Miss Leona Hilgenfeld, dietitian in Samarkand, Santa Barbara, was elected treasurer.

The convention closed this afternoon with a luncheon in El Encanto Hotel.

University Head Goes to Phoenix

REDLANDS, May 15.—Dr. V. L. Duke, president of the University of Redlands, entrains tonight for Phoenix where he is to deliver an address at the Arizona State Baptist Convention. He will appear on the program Friday afternoon, having as his general subject, "The University of Redlands."

The conference opened Wednesday and will continue through Sunday, but Dr. Duke will leave for Redlands immediately following the Friday afternoon session, for duties at the university on Saturday. While at the convention he will greet Dr. Frances Starring, editor of the Arizona Baptist, who has recently been made a member of the board of trustees of the University of Redlands.

FISH TAKEN AT BALBOA SETS MARK

Giant Black Bass Hooked There Tips Scales at 452 Pounds

NEWPORT BEACH, May 16.—The largest fish of any kind ever hooked and landed from the Balboa pier was caught yesterday by Carl Sandino, one of the proprietors of a live-bait stand on the pier.

Sandino's catch was a giant black sea bass, commonly called Jew fish, which tipped the scales at 452 pounds. The head alone weighed seventy pounds. Sandino sold the fish to a local dealer for $17. He was using a three-pound mackerel for bait at the time of his catch.

Ventura School Teachers Given Salary Increase

VENTURA, May 16.—Thirty-seven local elementary school-teachers have been voted salary rises for next year. Decision to give the pay boosts was made yesterday at an elementary school board session. Some of the teachers already are getting the scale maximum, it is said.

Approximately twelve new instructors will be employed to replace those who have been let out because of the Tenure Act or who are resigning, it is planned. Elementary schools will start the 1930 fall term on September 2, it was decided by the board.

Residents Want Street Paved

MONTEBELLO, May 16.—A petition recommended by the City Council is being circulated among the owners of property facing on Whittier Boulevard for its widening, paving and lighting within the city limits.

Previous to this a petition carrying a number of signatures was submitted to the Council asking for the widening of the west end of the boulevard to 100 feet. This petition is being held over in favor of the one that is being signed at this time. If the new petition, now being circulated, is signed by the required number, it will immediately establish a ten-foot set-back the entire length of the boulevard and the improvement will call for the grade of a 100-foot street with the conduits of the light standards being so set that when the boulevard is widened in the future it can be done with very little expense.

The boulevard is in need of a heavy-duty pavement and the merchants are demanding lights. Whittier Boulevard is one of the heaviest traveled boulevards of the East Side, being part of Federal Highway No. 101.

SANTA ANA, May 16.—Five hundred Santa Ana Junior College students yesterday participated in activities of their third annual fiesta day. Mary McHenry and Abbott Mason, chosen by their fellow-students to reign during the day, were crowned don and donna by Rev. Father John O'Sullivan of the San Juan Capistrano Mission.

Mrs. Virginia Stivers Bartlett, co-author of "Adios," and Jeoffrey Morgan, humorist, spoke during the morning entertainment. Graduating seniors of all Orange county were invited to attend the presentation of "The Show Shop," which climaxed the day of festivity.

SOUTH PASADENA JUNIOR HIGH PRESENTS CARNIVAL

SOUTH PASADENA, May 16.—South Pasadena Junior High School students today participated in its first annual carnival, in which a circus was one of the main features. The usual circus animals were on exhibition and many of them performed amazing stunts under the "big top" erected on the athletic field. The animals were animated by students under their skins.

In addition to the circus and the thrilling events in the tanbark ring there were sideshows in every classroom in the school and vaudeville in the auditorium, as well as a concert of varied musical numbers.

The carnival began at 1 p.m. and concluded late this evening. Derwood Baker, principal of the school, declared that every teacher and student of the institution had some part in the presentation, for which more than 3000 tickets were sold. The proceeds will be used to defray the cost of student body activities, he said.

CARNIVAL IN PROGRESS

WALNUT PARK, May 16.—The community is celebrating the opening of Broadway during the last three nights of this week with a carnival holding forth along the thoroughfare. This street was recently improved with paving, curbs and an ornamental lighting system.

BALLOON STUDENT PUNCTUAL

When Herbert Moore's Hour of Instruction Concluded He Came Down, No Matter if Another Fifty Yards Would Make Airport; Barley Field Suffers

GLENDALE, May 16.—Herbert Moore, student of the Goodyear balloon school, is the ideal pupil.

When he receives an order from his instructors he obeys it implicitly, regardless of the consequences. Moore recently drifted over Glendale in his balloon, with the understanding that he was to remain in the air an hour in order to complete his day's lesson. When the hour ended Moore looked around for a place to alight and espied a barley patch at Glenoaks and San Fernando boulevards.

It mattered nothing that he could have landed in the Grand Central Air Terminal if he had just drifted another fifty yards. The hour was up and Moore was coming down.

The wind seized the balloon and dragged it through the barley field to the detriment of the growing grain. Passing motorists, seeing his predicament, halted their cars and leaped out to run to Moore's assistance, if he needed any help. Their progress through the waving crop didn't do it any good, either, and when the Goodyear attendants who had followed Moore with a truck joined in the chase, another problem was created that should call for the immediate attention of the Federal Farm Board as a major project for the relief of the farmer.

At this juncture another student, Wells Hall, and an instructor dashed up in an automobile. Moore quit the balloon and Hall climbed into the cage and the instructor issued orders that caused the volunteers to turn the gas bag loose.

It floated away gently with the cage swinging through the barley and sweeping a wide swath through the golden grain until Hall, in answer to frantic shouts from his preceptors, hurled over a few hundred pounds of sand that lightened the load.

The balloon drifted off, missing a tangle of telephone and power wires, and then vanished over the hills on its course toward the ocean.

CORNER MUDDLE CLEARING

New Lease Proposal May be Solution of Knotty Street-Widening Project at Redlands

REDLANDS, May 16.—The Orange-street widening muddle, especially as it concerns the northwest corner of State and Orange streets, may have reached an unexpected solution through the intention of Councilman Theodore Krumm to lease the property from the Pacific Leasehold Corporation, which holds the property now under a ninety-nine-year contract with Arthur Gregory.

H. L. Livingston, attorney for the Pacific Leasehold Corporation, argued for more than an hour before the City Council yesterday in an effort to prove that the city's allowance of $16,000 damages for the proposed setback of ten feet on Orange street is unfair. He held out for $50,000.

When Councilman Krumm declared that he would seek a release from the corporation on the corner, now occupied by the Happly Drug Store, Martha's Grill, the Postal and several offices, Attorney Livingston immediately snapped up the suggestion and made a date with Krumm in San Francisco for next Monday, when the matter will be taken up in earnest. Meanwhile the Council decided to await the outcome of this private conference between Krumm and the corporation. It is believed a more advantageous deal can be made with Krumm than with the present holders, as he has insistently argued condemnation of the present building and the city's plan for setback.

As to the east side of the street, already rebuilt to conform with the city's new line, a compromise was made with the Bank of America, which had demanded $2670 awarded for the old wall which was torn down in erecting the new bank building. The price finally agreed upon was $1325 in damages for the setback of 4.25 feet. Attorney U. F. Lewis presented the bank's claim, and the final allowance of $1325 was made upon motion of Councilman Fowler.

WAGE DISPUTE SETTLED

Local Labor Will be Used on Veterans' Hospital and Open Shop Will Prevail

VENTURA, May 16.—Local labor, almost [illegible] starting tomorrow, on the construction of the new Buenaventura, and the local wage scale will prevail with the result that thirty form carpenters Employment will be on open-shop basis.

Bavin & Burch, contractors, will get $1000 more for the work to care for the extra expense. This sum, of which $700 has been raised already, is expected to be given by public-spirited citizens.

These five developments were the result of a conference this morning at the Chamber of Commerce between groups interested in the building of the new hospital. The settlement brought to a peaceful close an issue which had caused agitation among local workmen and worry to the hospital board.

TOURIST INFLUX TO SURPRISE US

So Says President Gray of Union Pacific System

Business Conditions Found to Be Basically Sound

Better Situation Forecast to Exist by Autumn

Tourist business to Southern California is going to be "surprisingly good" this summer, despite the fact that there are not nearly as many conventions on the Coast this year as last, in the opinion of Carl R. Gray, president of the Union Pacific System, who is in the city on his annual spring inspection trip.

In discussing business conditions over the country as he has found them, Mr. Gray said that fundamentally things are all right, there is more liquid money right now than ever before, but that people probably are intuitively a bit more cautious than they have been.

FEELING TO WEAR OFF

This feeling is going to wear off gradually, he thinks, and by next fall the situation generally will be relatively better.

As to whether people have money, Mr. Gray remarked on a situation that was disclosed a few days ago when he was at a table in Chicago with agroup of bankers. One of the bankers was saying that while the history of his bank for many years has been that the savings accounts taper off right after the first of the year, due to people drawing out and investing immediately after the interest payments, and due also to the payment of holiday bills, this year showed that savings on February 1 were greater than they had been before. The other bankers around the table said the same situation obtained in their banks.

"It isn't taht the people haven't the money," said Mr. Gray. "They are merely intuitively a bit cautious. The average man feels that something has happened and he is rather feeling his way along. It is a psychological condition that will wear off."

GOOD CROPS IN SIGHT

In Nebraska and Kansas the wheat crop is larger than before, and the corn conditions are very good. There has been a good winter with good spring rains. Farmers in one large area, for instance, are paying off their obligations faster than they are making them.

Up in Washington and Oregon territory there probably will be a shortage in the wheat acreage, due to the winter kill and a dry fall. This probably will be made up in substitute crops. The fruit situation up there this spring is much better than it was last year. In California fruit districts north, where they had the freeze last year, conditions are very good.

Mr. Gray will be in the city until Monday night, when he will travel north to resume his inspection tour.

Ex-Convict and Author Talks on Crime Problems

Not more laws, more jails, more penitentiaries for the criminals, but more of science and work of crime prevention among the poor, Jack Black, ex-convict and author of a book titled "You Can't Win," told members of the Municipal League last night at the City Club.

Criminals come from the slums, the homes of the poor, and homes that have been broken up by death or divorce, the speaker said. These form 85 per cent of the men and women who fill the penitentiaries. It is because the boy has grown up in a bad environment, undernourished and uneducated, that he drifts into the paths of crime.

The following officers of the league were elected: Dr. John R. Haynes, president; R. E. Chadwick, first vice-president; F. D. Noel, second vice-president.

FINANCIER FINED AND GIVEN JAIL SENTENCE

Kenyon T. Fay, 27-year-old financier of 4848 Los Feliz Boulevard, was fined $250 and sent to jail for ninety days, the limit under the law, by Municipal Judge Bush, when he pleaded guilty yesterday in Traffic Court to reckless driving. Judge Bush later suspended eighty days of the jail sentence on condition that Fay will not seek probation. Police reported they pursued Fay for several miles along Western avenue and Wilshire Boulevard at 4:45 a.m. on the 6th inst., and were unable to get near him until he slowed down to make several sharp turns. Betty, Boyd, 4619 Price street, an occupant of Fay's car, told them his speedometer showed 120 miles an hour on Wilshire Boulevard, they said.

JURY TOLD CONFESSION BY HARVEY

Federal Survey Reveals Better Situation for Labor in Los Angeles District

Eleven women and one man, sitting as a jury in the murder trial of William E. Harvey and Lillian B. Harvey, his wife, yesterday heard read a purported confession from Harvey that he struck the blow that caused the death of Roy F. Gottschall.

The confession, asserted to have been made by Harvey to police shortly after his arrest on March 5 following the death of Gottschall, also admitted that Harvey's wife formerly lived with the murdered man but declared that he fought for his life after Gotschall had fired at him, and used the gas-pipe weapon in self-defense.

Seven witnesses described the scene of the struggle between the two men, which is asserted to have taken place when Harvey and his wife went to the Gottschall apartment and were removing furniture, and told the jury of the fractured skull of Gottschall; the breaking of locks to enter the room and details of the arrest and subsequent confession.

A special session of the court will be held today.

Shapiro Ready to Testify in 'Attic Murder'

Voluntary appearance of Herman S. Shapiro, attorney, at the District Attorney's office yesterday for service of a subpoena as a witness in the approaching hearing of Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich and Otto Sanhuber, "attic man," halted a two-day search.

Shapiro, following receipt of information that orders for his apprehension had been issued by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Costello, called on Costello and accepted his court summons. His visit was brief, but he indicated, according to Costello, that he will be in attendance when the joint murder trial starts June 2.

Club Officers to be Installed

The newly elected officers of the Women's Traffic Club of Los Angeles will be installed at the annual banquet of the club on the 28th inst., at the Mayfair Hotel. The elections were conducted Wednesday evening.

Gertrude Mason of Western Air Express is the new president, and the other officers for the ensuing year are Ruth Van Eaton, H. C. Bernsten Company, first vice-president; Irene Donahue, Santa Fe Railway, second vice-president; Maybelle Butterfield, Leeds & Northrup Company, recording secretary; Julia Turecheck, Panama-Mail Steamship Company, corresponding secretary; Elizabeth Connelly, Sierra Talc Company, treasurer, and Evelyn Ripley, Calco Tile Manufacturing Company, sergeant-at-arms.

COURT HEARS LOVE LETTERS

Missives Read at McIntyre's $50,000 Suit for Alienation of Wife's Affections

Numerous love letters written by a man to another man's wife while the husband was in the Dutch East Indies were introduced in the trial of the $50,000 alienation of affections suit of Lem L. McIntyre against his former friend, Ray H. Kemp, which began yesterday before a jury of eight women and four men in the court of Superior Judge Archbald.

The story being unfolded is the age-old one of two men, both oil workers, in love with the same woman.

Mrs. Lillian O. McIntyre, the woman whose love Kemp is asserted to have stolen, was not in court when the trial began yesterday.

McIntyre is a former baseball pitcher. Kemp is a driller. The latter, called out of turn as the first witness, admitted that he and Mrs. McIntyre lived together at Compton for two months last year while the husband was in the Dutch Indies. He also admitted writing the letters which were introduced as evidence. His defense is that Mrs. McIntyre had lost the love of her husband long before he, Kemp, met her.

According to the records, Mrs. McIntyre sued McIntyre for a divorce shortly after he left for the Indies and was granted a decree by default. Later McIntyre appealed the case to the Supreme Court where it is still pending. It was also shown that the wife endeavored, at one time, to get a divorce in Nevada.

One of the letters introduced by Attorney Edward A. Penprase, counsel for McIntyre, reads:

"I bet the little green house in Crane street is lonesome, don't you?"

In another letter he called McIntyre a pest and mentioned taking Mrs. McIntyre on a trip around the world.

STOCK OWNERS HEAR TAX PLEA

Hopkins Urges Listing of All Intangibles

First Monday in July Set as Final Filing Date

Penalty Four Times Greater Than Usual Rate

Owners of stocks, bonds and other intangible property, yesterday were urged by County Assessor Hopkins to list their holdings with his office before June 1, next. Failure on the part of those who own this style of property to file the required statement subjects them to a penalty of four times the amount of the regular tax.

While the first Monday in July is set as the final time for filing the statements, filing before June 1 is urged as there is no provision by law for time to prepare the tax roll which is required to be completed by the first Monday in July, it was explained by Chief Appraiser McDevitt of the stocks, bonds and estates department. After this latter date all securities and credits not previously reported will be assessed and the penalty added in addition to the tax, he said.

LESS THAN FORMERLY

Intangible property such as stocks, bonds, notes and mortgages are subject to a tax of two-tenths of 1 per cent and solvent credits, consisting of bank deposits, accounts receivable and items of this nature, to a tax of one-tenth of 1 per cent.

This tax rate is uniform throughout the State and is highly superior to the old system of general property taxation, subjecting intangibles to the same rate of taxation as other property. McDevitt pointed out. The tax is about one-tenth of what it was formerly and is the lowest of its kind in the United States, he said.

LEVIES MADE IN MARCH

Under the old method intangibles were assessed at 50 per cent of their value often even then amounting to practical confiscation of a large portion of the incomes they brought, the tax official stated. The same property now is assessed at full value and under the new tax rate numerous persons who heretofore maintained residences in other States to avoid taxation here have discontinued the practice, he said. Considerable of the tax collections now are being made through brokers and bond houses which file statements and pay for their customers.

Assessments are made on property owned as of the first Monday in March and the taxes are due on demand. However, when real property is involved as well the personal property taxes may be included with the real property taxes and payment of both made later in the year. Failure of anyone to pay taxes unsecured by real property authorizes the assessor to seize and sell without court procedure any portion of the property taxed to satisfy the taxes due.

R.-K.-O. Party to Be Greeted

More than 150 film players and other Hollywood celebrities, including a band, will gather at the Santa Fe station tomorrow morning to welcome a party of more than fifty representatives of the R.-K.-O. organization who now are on their way to Los Angeles to attend a national sales convention of Radio Pictures. The party, headed by Joseph I. Schnitzner, president of the R.-K.-O. Producers, Inc., of New York, left Chicago last night and will arrive here Sunday at 9:15 a.m. on a special Santa Fe train.

It is estimated that about 100 representatives of the organization will attend the convention which is to be held at the R.-K.-O. studios in Hollywood, from Monday to Friday, inclusive, terminating with a banquet at the Hotel Roosevelt, where most of the delegates will make their headquarters.

Former Fireman Seeks Back Pay

Salary at the rate of $300 a month since April 23, 1928, is sought by Millard D. Mason, former fireman, now a patient in the State Mental Hospital at Patton, through his guardian, Martha H. Mason, in an action launched yesterday in the District Court of Appeal.

It is contended in the opening brief that when Mason was removed to the hospital his name was not taken from the pay roll in accordance with the provisions of the city charter or in any other manner except through a purported resignation to which objection is made on the ground that it was unauthorized.

The trial court, with Superior Judge Weyand presiding, found against the plaintiff.

WAR VETERANS PLAN CIRCUS AND FIESTA

Spanish-American War Veterans, under the auspices of their drum, fife and bugle corps, will have a circus and fiesta at Lincoln Park avenue and Mission Road the 27th inst. to June 1, inclusive. In addition to the fiesta, merchants' and manufacturers' exhibit will be opened. Proceeds from the fiesta will be used in sending the drum corps to the annual national convention at Philadelphia in August. A special Memorial Day matinee will be held when Boy Scouts and two local orphan homes will be the guests of the management and share in the proceeds. The committee has opened offices at 1330 South Olive street.

TENNIS CLASS ORGANIZED

The first class in a new course of instruction in tennis will be conducted Monday evening at the Y.W.C.A. by Ella Stevers, head of the health department. Preliminary instruction will be given indoors in the gymnasium and the students will not be advanced to the regular outdoor courts until they have mastered the rudiments of correct form and stroking.

YACHT SERVICE VENTURE AFOOT

Company Formed to Operate Station at Harbor

Accommodations for Ninety Craft Proposed

BY WAYNE B. CAVE

A service to relieve absent owners of the care, fueling, supplying and manning of yachts is the objective of a new Watchorn Yacht Basin Company backed by Joseph B. Folkedale and T. F. Kilkenny, local yatchsman and yacht broker, respectively.

They have sub-leased 1400 feet of frontage on Watchorn Basin from the Outer Harbor Dock and Wharf Company, and begun construction to accommodate ninety yachts within a few weeks.

SERVICE OFFERED

For a flat sum monthly the company will moor craft, clean them, and at the phone call of the owner contemplating a cruise, they will fuel the yacht, store it with provisions, switch on the iceless refrigerator, and even provide cabin boys or full crews if desired.

Floats guarded by piling are being constructed by the dozen reaching into Watchhorn Basin at right angles to land, the longer floats having a series of finger floats or either side to accommodate more craft. Flood lights, water lines and foamite and blanket insurance and watchmen will protect the craft from pilferage or fire.

OTHER FEATURES

Adjacent also will be a floating oil service station to supply Diesel, gasoline, lubricants and such. There will be ways at the head of the basin to haul up craft for painting and minor repairs; sheltered parking near-by for owners' automobiles, and probably a headquarters for a speedboat sales fleet.

Sails loft and lockers also will be afforded.

Folkedale said he already has signed to service thirty yachts, some of which are more than 100 feet in length. The basin has a depth of twenty-six feet, sufficient for any-sized craft; is free of oil, and is a five-minute run distant from the open sea.

Craft also will be held available for special cruises and carrying several score of excursionists. A smaller, similar service is getting under way in the inner harbor.

KELP STOCK FOOD TONNAGE GROWING

Developing into a material item of seaborne cargo is Manamar, a stock food manufactured from kelp, produced by the Philip R. Park, Inc., in the outer harbor. During April, Mr. Park declared fifteen carloads of his product went to the Atlantic seaboard by water, while an additional twenty-five carloads went by rail to the Middle West.

Four hundred per cent increase in output is reported within a year, the plant having risen slightly more than two years ago. An additional kelp harvester, self-propelled, which would be capable of going to near-by islands is being planned.

The plant's laboratories also have evolved a kelp product for human consumption which apparently has corrected varied disorders, but still is in such experimental state, Mr. Park said, he is not ready to exploit it.

A half-million dollars spent in rebuilding the French Line training ship Jacques Cartier into the liner Winnipeg, in port yesterday, has produced the roomiest and largest passenger carrier on the Pacific-European run. She has accommodations for ninety-seven travelers, all first cabin, and has that many booked when she returns here, June 14, next, from the Northwest to sail for Havre. She carries a crew of ninety-one, almost twice that of the average carrier. On her maiden voyage here she disembarked nineteen travelers, including Miss Suzanne Dallons, secretary to Mary Pickford, and Mrs. Andre Luguet, wife of an actor with Maurice Chevalier, and the two Luguet children. Benjamin Blum, Central American banker, also made the voyage. The liner has been converted from a coal to an oil-burner and maintains a schedule of fourteen knots. She is commanded by Capt. Honore Cocheril, formerly on La Marseillaise, who celebrated his birthday yesterday.

The globe-girdling Japanese motor liner Montevideo Maru of the Osaka Shosen Kaisha disembarked twelve of her seventy-five passengers yesterday and today will embark seventy and sail for Kobe and west. The Rio de Janiero Maru, nearing completion in Japan, will leave Kobe July 7, on her maiden voyage around the world, arriving here four months later.

W. G. Pitch, general passenger agent at San Francisco for the United States Lines, was among the 225 passengers disembarking yesterday from the Admiral Line flagship H. F. Alexander, on her second weekly trip from Seattle and San Francisco. The ship sailed north last night with 500 travelers.

Merritt, Chapman & Scott's wrecking tug Homer, Capt. Thomas P. Hansen commanding, sailed yesterday for Seattle where the company is establishing a salvage station. She will stop at Monterey en route, to adjust moorings for the Associated Oil Company.

The Panama Pacific liner Virginia, arriving with 500 passengers from New York and the Lassco liner City of Honolulu sailing for Hawaii with 130 are among the larger passenger movements scheduled for today.

PRES

NEW FIGHT FOR BADGES CARRIED ON

Health Board Appeals to Mayor for His Backing of Inspectors' Demand

Turned down by the Police Commission following its request for regular police badges for the inspectors of the health department, the Board of Health Commissioners yesterday took up the matter with Mayor Porter, holding that under the charter health inspectors are required to make arrests for health violations and, therefore, should have police badges bearing the inscription "health inspector."

President Harvey and Commissioners Kleinberger, Boos and Stevens informed the Mayor that regular police badges are needed by the inspectors because insufficient attention is paid to special police badges, such as are used by private patrol officers and others outside the police department.

The Mayor said he will take up the matter with the Police Commission.

The new badge ordinance, limiting regular badges to police officers, the Mayor, his secretary, members of the City Council and the Police Commission and press, still is awaiting passage in the City Council.

Manufacture of the new badges, supposed to be ready by June 1, is said to be waiting the passage of the ordinance.

COUNCIL VOTES BEES LIBERTY

Honey-Makers May Roam at Will in District of Hollywood Hills

The bees had their day in the City Council yesterday.

Councilman Webster introduced, and the Council adopted, an ordinance calling for the freedom of the bees in the district bounded by Jupiter Lane, Poinsettia Lane and Strawberry Lane, in the Hollywood Hills, which according to Webster is a very productive honey area.

DRIVER WILL BE TRIED FOR MANSLAUGHTER

Held responsible for a double collision on East Slauson avenue on the 5th inst., which resulted in the death of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Marsh, 1749 1-2 West Santa Barbara street, Frank L. Clover, 34 years of age, of 9009 South Raymond avenue, was held for Superior Court trial on two counts of manslaughter by Municipal Judge Russell yesterday. His bail was set at $15,000. Witnesses called by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Broker said Clover attempted to pass the Marsh automobile at high speed and collided with a truck which was coming in the opposite direction. The truck then hit Marsh's car, demolishing it.

SUIT AGAINST ACTRESS GOES OVER TO MONDAY

Hearing of the law suit brought by Leland Zeman against Lola Lane, motion-picture actress, for asserted breach of contract, which went to trial before Superior Judge Blake Thursday will continue Monday. The entire day yesterday was taken up with testimony and the reading of depositions from New York where the agreement was made in 1928. Zeman, who is assignee for Arthur Lyons, New York theatrical booking agent, asserts that Miss Lane owes him $1830, part of which is due for commissions on her salary for finding her employment.

TIT FOR TAT

SEE AMERICA FOIST

Black: So you had had a chance to see the king's palace in England, eh? What did you think of it?

White: Well, after seeing our own movie houses, filling stations, and hot-dog stands, it isn't very impressive.—[Cincinnati Enquirer.

KENTUCKY RACE WILL BE ON AIR

Derby Broadcast Scheduled by KHJ and KFI

Word Pictures Will Carry Thrill Into Homes

Variety in Programs Listed for This Evening

The Times Forum, KHJ, at 1:30 p.m. Peggy Hamilton, fashion expert, and Salvador Bagues, baritone.

World-wide news at 12:30, 4:45 and 10 p.m.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

"They're off."

Whirl your radio dial to KHJ or KFI at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon and join the vast throng at Churchill Downs witnessing the annual turf classic of America—the Kentucky Derby.

The sport of kings is to be brought to listeners-in replete with colorful features. Lord Derby, fifth Earl of Derby and descendant of the man for whom the race is named, will be a spectator. The thrill of jockey and steed bending every effort to out-maneuver and outrun the field should keep those in the broadcast audience on the edge of their chairs.

Sports writers and announcers of national note will describe the splendid mounts at the barrier, at the getaway and—best of all—the fight at the finish. Read the sports pages, select a winner, twirl your dial at 2:30—and don't fall off your chair.

A novel sidelight of this "horse race in the home" is the fact that in States prohibiting such racing, no radio wall can be erected to prevent Gallant Fox, Gallant Knight, Tannery and the others from sweeping down the stretch through the dial.

ON TODAY'S DIAL

KHJ at 2:30 this afternoon will bring Ted Husing, Columbia's ace of announcers, opposite the finish line at Churchill Downs, giving an account of the derby. He is to be stationed in a specially constructed glass booth opposite the finish line. An observer for Columbia will be opposite the starting line at Husing's left. Another observer will be at the extreme right turn beside the chute. The running, thrilling description of this far-famed and exciting turf classic should not be missed.

At 5 tonight Hank Simmon's "Showboat" is to warp into the radio dock with "The Danites," a five-act mslodrama of the Far West. This play is really a classic, a play done by the late McKee Rankin. Ree-vengeful ruffians 'n everything. Paramount hour at 6 p.m. is to feature the Navy in a stage show by Paul Ash. Marcia Freer, mezzo-soprano; Paul Small, tenor, and a Foursome Quartet also will be heard. For symphony lovers, at 7 tonight Raymond Paige and his orchestra, with Mildred Ware as soloist, will offer a half-hour of excellent repertoire. Those who have the blues should dial "Chasin' the Blues" at 9 tonight.

RACE OFFERING

KFI at 2:30 p.m. also brings the derby to the dial as described by Graham McNamee and Clem McCarthy. McNamee will tell about the crowds and start of the race, while McCarthy will describe the race and its finish. At 7 tonight Paul Taylor's octet, with Arthur Lang, soloist, and the Pryor Moore orchestra, will hold the dial with sea songs, chanties and ditties. At 9:30 p.m. Variety hour will bring the Three Sisters, Anna Kristina in a character skit, and Micky Conti with his accordion. At 9 p.m. a brilliant array of film stars will make up the cast in the radio production of "Show Girl in Hollywood."

KECA at 5 tonight is to offer a series of musical portraits of Elgar's friends in his famed "Enigma Variations." Besides musical numbers there will be a talk by Floyd Gibbons on "Adventures in Science." At 9 tonight Maurine Dyer, contralto, soloist with Will Rounds Ensemble, will offer an hour of worthwhile music and song.

KHJ at 3:45 Monday afternoon will present Ernest McCrafty of the Automobile Club of Southern California in a fifteen-minute discussion of the approaching water bond election.

"Girl Shows" on Main Street Feel Law's Grip

Harry G. Seber of Long Beach was fined $250 and sentenced to serve ninety days in jail by Municipal Judge Bogue yesterday, following his conviction by a jury for producing and participating in an indecent show. Judge Bogue granted Seber a new trial on the producing charge. Gean Lathrop, found guilty of participating in the show and of criminal contempt of court, was find $100 and sent to jail for thirty days on the first charge and $50 and five days in jail on the second. Both appealed, the bail being set at $1500 for Seber and $1000 for Lathrop.

Both men were connected with the Girlesque show at 541 South Main street, raided by police last November. The contempt charge against Lathrop was filed when girl performers testified that he would not allow them to appear in court at the time set for their trial.

After receiving an ultimatum from City Prosecutor Nix yesterday, the operators of the World Museum, 506 South Main street, agreed to close its doors and go out of business within twenty-four hours, it was announced last night by Nix. The ultimatum by Nix was to the effect that everyone concerned with the performances which were staged at the Main-street place would be arrested today if the place was not closed at once.

ILLINOISANS MEET TOMORROW

Nacio H. Brown Named in Suit

Rufus Lemaire, publisher's agent of New York, yesterday sued Nacio Herb Brown and the N. H. Brown Publishing Company for $10,000, which he asserts is due him as a 10 per cent commission for negotiating a contract between Brown and the Radio Corporation of America, whereby the radio concern was to publish and broadcast Brown's work for two years at $1000 a week.

The suit was filed by Attorney Roger Marchetti.

HARBOR WORKMAN KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Caught in the unloading machinery of the steamship Lena Luckenbach, which he was helping unload yesterday afternoon, John Norlin, a longshoreman, 49 years of age, of 774 West Sixteenth street, San Pedro, received internal injuries which caused his death a short time later at the Seaside Hospital in Long Beach. His body was taken to the Goodrich-Halverson mortuary in San Pedro.

Friends Watch Youngest Judge Ascend Bench

Ellis A. Ragan, 31 years of age, yesterday became Los Angeles' newest and youngest judge when he was sworn in as a member of the Municipal Court by Presiding Judge Ambrose. Judge Ragan was recently appointed by Gov. Young to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Judge Wilson.

At the time of his appointment Judge Ragan was serving as legal adviser to the Mayor. He was formerly a deputy District Attorney.

When he appeared in Judge Ambrose's courtroom yesterday he found many friends waiting to witness the ceremony and to wish him good luck as well as a group of four "defendants" waiting to be tried. They were Sheriff Traeger and Judges Baird, Lahey and Frederickson of the Municipal Court, each of whom was found guilty of having a sense of humor and being a "regular fellow." Mayor Porter spoke briefly of Ragan's services in his office during recent months and predicted a successful judicial career for him.
